Ends Big Day In Capital

U.S. Steel Plant Visited By Titov

Tourist Titov, after a day of sightseeing, speechmaking and receptions in Washington with U.S. astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., plans to plunge into more of the same red-carpet whirl with little change of pace but some change in scenery.

He travels by car to Baltimore to inspect the country's biggest steel mill—Bethlehem steel's giant Sparrows Point Works which has the capacity to turn out more steel and more tin than any other plant in the United States.

And the cool young Soviet who orbited the earth 17 times in a space ship will also have a chance at Sparrows Point to see the making of ocean ships.

Titov had been offered the opportunity to tour space installations — including Cape Canaveral, Fla. — where the United States launches its craft into the new ocean but the Soviet Embassy declined for him. U.S. officias said they thought the Soviets were worried that the United States might ask the Soviet Union to return the favor by letting Americans visit their space sites.

After the steel plant tour, Titov attends a luncheon at a Baltimore hotel, then hurries back to Washington where he will be guest of honor at a diplomatic reception at the Soviet Embassy.

Thursday the two trail blazers in space seemed to hit it off despite the language barrier while Glenn guided Titov through swarms of tourists on a whirlwind tour of the capital and introduced him to President Kennedy. Kennedy told Titov, "I'm very happy to welcome you, as are the American people."

Glenn and Titov even found time to put their heads together to solve—to their satisfaction—the mystery of the space fireflies.

After their chat, Titov reported to an international space meeting that "I believe, and I think Col. Glenn is of the same opinion, that they result from fuel being ejected. This will have to be checked out by the next astronaut."

At a news conference at the end of the day at the National Academy of Sciences, newsmen pressed Titov to explain why the Soviets don't make public more information about their space exploits. They noted that a paper Glenn read at the space conference contained charts and pictures and asked why Titov's didn't.

The Soviet cosmonaut said that in the present world state the Soviet Union must keep secrets until there is disarmament. He also made a pitch for a disarmament plan of a type urged by Premier Khrushchev.

"The sooner we agree to abolish arms," Titov said, "the sooner we will visit each other and I will fly with pleasure with Col. Glenn into space."

Glenn broke in saying it was not necessary to disarm to share information.

Hays Attacks Spending By U.S. In Congo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, pulled no punches when he lashed out recently at American spending in the Congo.

The Flushing Democrat described Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula as "a lemon" and a "character" interested in "self-glorification." Hays then characterized Adoula's associates as a "cheap bunch of thieves" and added that American taxpayers are footing the bill for Congo officials to pay themselves $3,000 a month.

The attack was leveled at Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland in recent critical questionings of administration policies before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Hays added:

"This is ridiculous, two-thirds of them (Congo officials) can't read or write, but they know how to get their hands on American dollars and you people (referring to Cleveland) know how to shovel it out."

Hays bitterly opposed both American direct aid to the Congo and United Nations operations there saying it would have been better "to let that place go up in smoke."

Kennedy Due In South For Trade Speech

President's Major Talk Scheduled For New Orleans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flew south today to press for his foreign trade program in a major speech in New Orleans and watch the Air Force display its might at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

After that he will spend the weekend in Palm Beach.

The entire Louisiana delegation in the House and Senate made the flight to New Orleans.

The setting for the trade speech was particularly appropriate—on the waterfront where the state and city were dedicating a new $10-million wharf. Furthermore, New Orleans is America's third city in dollar volume of import-export trade.

Once the speaking was over, Kennedy had on tap a stop at City Hall, acceptance of the key to the city from Mayor Victor Schiro and a few informal remarks.

The afternoon was given over to the Air Force and Eglin Field, an hour's flying time from New Orleans. From there, it was on to Palm Beach for a restful weekend before Kennedy's return to Washington Monday morning.

Grass Fire Quelled

Salineville and Highlandtown fire departments were summoned to quell a grass and brush fire along Pennsylvania Railroad tracks south of Route 39 between the two communities Thursday afternoon about 3:30.

'Wonder Boy Of Texas'

Estes' Financial Empire Topples As Suits Mount

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Billie Sol Estes said last year he was worth $50 million. Today his financial empire has collapsed and criminal and civil charges mount.

National finance companies, the federal government and plain dirt farmers in Texas are trying to recover from a series of jolts handed them by the 37-year-old man who gained the title of "boy wonder of West Texas agriculture."

Investigations continue along four general lines—his dealings as the world's greatest distributor of anhydrous ammonia fertilizer and tanks for the substance, cotton allotments on lands he controlled, his relationship with Department of Agriculture and other federal officials, and his vast grain storage operations.

A congressional investigation is under way. A federal grand jury already has indicted him for fraud. Eight criminal indictments for felonious theft have been returned against him by a grand jury in his hometown of Pecos, Tex. Another grand jury at Amarillo, Tex., is expected to receive new evidence soon. Scores have filed suits totaling millions, some trying to obtain money from Estes, others trying to void contracts with him.

His entire financial affairs are in the hands of a receiver who is being required to post bond of $10 million.

The Estes empire began wobbling when a group of lending companies called him to a super-secret meeting in Dallas. His empire crashed three days later when he was jailed under federal fraud charges. Lending companies claimed he bilked them of $24 million. Estes himself said he owed $32 million and had assets of $20 million.

Board Draws Criticism

'Not Enough, Too High' Cried In Rail Hike Plan

Unions Ask More Than 10.2 Cents

Firms Claim They Can't Pay Million Increase Annually

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nonoperating rail unions and railroad executives today criticized a public board's recommendation to President Kennedy that 450,000 union members get a $100-million annual pay increase.

The union spokesmen, describing as deplorable the board's recommendation Thursday of a 10.2 cent hourly average increase, thought it was too low. The rail leaders said it was too high.

G. E. Leighty, chairman of the committee representing 11 unions of nonoperating rail employes—those engaged in service and maintenance as contrasted with engineers and other operating personnel—said the proposed pay increase "departs from all recognized standards of justice in wage determination."

He repeated his charge that the railroads had tried to prejudice the board in advance by declaring last month that a wage increase meant a rate hike.

The unions, whose workers average $2.42 an hour, had sought a 25 cent increase.

The estimated $100-million cost of the 10.2 cent increase compares with a net income of $382 million reported by all U.S. railroads in 1961.

Said Wayne Johnston, Illinois Central president: "Where are we going to get it? "It's worse than the steel settlement."

Ben Heineman, chairman of Northwestern Railway, called the three-man public board's recommendations "a very severe blow to the industry. It is difficult to see where we'll get the money."

In an apparent allusion to President Kennedy's stated desire that wage settlements generally conform to productivity increases, Leighty said in his statement:

"To conform to that policy would have required a wage increase for these railway workers much greater than that which the emergency board recommends. Railroad labor's productivity has risen much faster than the general national average."

'Open House' Set Sunday At Two Schools

To better acquaint residents with the condition of the facilities, the Student Council of East Liverpool High School will sponsor an "open house" Sunday at the high school and Central buildings.

Sam Hays, council president, said representatives of the group will be on hand for conducted tours of the two buildings between 2 and 5 p.m. It is planned to take visitors through in small groups.

On behalf of the council, Hays urged that all parents who have children in high school and parents of children who will be enrolling next term visit the schools Sunday.

The project, one of the council's major programs during the present school year, was explained during assemblies at East Junior High School Thursday and at Westgate Junior High today. Representing the council were Jack Alpern, Barbara Dallis, Dave Thorne, Meredith Applegate, John Rohrer, Robert Gilmore and Hays.

The school administration, which has been seeking public opinion relative to the school's physical program, is cooperating in the open house, Hays pointed out.

New Charges End Freedom Of Teen-Ager

Judge In Hancock Lifts Probation Of Weirton Resident

A Weirton teen-ager was sentenced to 1-10 years in Moundsville State Penitentiary for violating probation terms, and another Weirton man was placed on probation Thursday in Hancock County Circuit Court in New Cumberland.

Judge Ralph E. Pryor revoked the probation of Curtis Lee Young, 19, and sentenced him to the penitentiary.

Young had been indicted by the January Grand Jury in 1961 on two indictments charging breaking and entering and was placed on strict probation for five years.

However, Young was arrested April 14 by Weirton police and charged with breaking and entering. He is being held in County Jail pending transportation to the state penitentiary.

James A. Young, 27, of Weirton was granted two years probation. He had been sentenced to a year in County Jail last Friday on a misdemeanor charge of breaking and entering and had asked probation.

Judge Pryor also nolled two indictments of grand larceny and felonious assault returned against Heywood Lyles, 54, of Weirton by the January Grand Jury.

The jurist explained that Lyles underwent a lie detector test and the results "were positive, in favor of the defendant."

Arguments on a demurrer filed on behalf of Michael A. Pochiro, 26, of Youngstown were heard by Judge Pryor. He was indicted in April on a charge of attempted armed robbery.

County Prosecutor Floyd R. Tarr and Atty. William Moore, counsel for the defendant, were granted additional time to investigate the case and May 25 was set for additional arguments on the demurrer.

103 Get Early Ballots For Primary Tuesday

The Columbiana County Election Board issued a total of 103 civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots for the primary elections Tuesday before the deadline Thursday at 5 p. m.

All except six of the "early" ballots had been returned to the board's office by mid-morning. To be counted at the polls Tuesday, the six were required to be returned by noon today.

163 Killed, 380 Hurt

Japan Arrests 4 In Train Disaster

TOKYO (AP)—An engineer and three other trainmen involved in the three-train wreck that killed 163 persons were arrested today on suspicion of criminal negligence.

More than 380 other persons were injured—100 seriously—in the chain reaction smashup.

The engineer, Norifumi Minakami, 38, was grief stricken before his arrest as he told newsmen he might have misread a railroad signal as giving the green go-ahead minutes before the crash.

"I don't know how I can apologize," Minakami said.

Announcing the arrests later, Shoichi Kimura, chief police investigator, declared: "We have determined that a green signal light was an impossibility."

Minakami's freight train jumped the tracks minutes after it passed a signal point on Tokyo's north side and sideswiped a commuter train.

Injured, stunned survivors poured out of the passenger train's windows and doors and huddled in the darkness on a nearby track. Then another commuter train roared into the wreckage, sliced through knots of survivors, jumped the tracks and plunged down an embankment into a row of houses.

It was Japan's second worst train disaster since World War II.

No Americans or other Westerners were reported among the victims.

Minakami said he was sure he got the green go-ahead signal "but it might have been my misunderstanding because the accident took place—which could never have occurred if the light was green."

President Shinji Sogo of the Japan National Railway wept as he told newsmen the accident was caused by "the carelessness of our officials." One of his assistants said the freight train passed through a red light.

"It rained people," said one man who lived near the wreck.

"While I watched, I saw the second train come rushing into the scene," he said. "I saw a coach go tumbling down the embankment and smash right into my house. The roof flew off and the whole house crumpled like dust."

Identification of the dead was slow. Many of the mangled bodies were trapped in the twisted steel and splintered wood of the three trains or hurled far from the tracks.

The railway said it would follow the Japanese custom of paying consolence money—$167 to relatives of those killed and up to $42 to the injured.

Fought To Clear Her Husband

Widow Of Confederate General Is Dead At 99

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Helen Dortch Longstreet, widow of Confederate Gen. James Longstreet, fighter for things in which she believed, Southern beauty and World War II airplane factory worker, is dead at 99.

She had hoped to reach 100 but the end came quietly Thursday in Milledgeville State Hospital.

Mrs. Longstreet never liked to talk about her age, but her niece and only survivor, Mrs. R. H. Rumph of Atlanta, said she was born in Carnesville, Ga., April 20, 1863.

In failing health for 10 years, she entered the state mental hospital in 1957. Doctors described her case as mild and said she seemed perfectly happy.

Mrs. Longstreet attended Brenau College at Gainesville, Ga., and there met Longstreet's daughter by his first wife, Marie Louise Garland who died in 1889.

On Sept. 8, 1897, she married Longstreet at the old governor's mansion in Atlanta. He was 76 and she 34.

Her greatest fight was a battle to clear her husband "of any accusation wrongfully made against him that he failed to carry out Lee's orders at Gettysburg." She contended he had been cautious; nothing more.

Gubernatorial Rivals Battle Over Industry

DiSalle, McElroy Differ On Facilities Moving From Ohio

By The Associated Press

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, using different sets of figures, battled before 600 Democrats in Painesville Thursday night over the question of industry leaving Ohio.

Here's the way the two rivals for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination backed up their contentions:

McElroy: "In the last 10 years, 137 industrial plants have left Ohio or have gone out of business." He described the state's condition as "economically retarded."

DiSalle: "In 1951 there were 93,868 employers listed by the State Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. Last month there were 101,153." The governor added there were 184,000 fewer persons unemployed in the state now than there were at this time last year.

Industrial and economic development of Ohio is its most urgent need, the attorney general asserted, saying it is the only solution to the state's financial problems.

"Vacant storerooms stand as gravestones marking the unhealthy business conditions in Ohio," McElroy declared.

"Where are the facts that industry is leaving Ohio?" DiSalle asked. "Maybe some employers have left, but the net is good."

McElroy also criticized DiSalle about water pressure at the state's $1.75-million Sagamore Hills Children's State Hospital on the Summit - Cuyahoga County line. He called it a "fiasco and shameful waste of taxpayers' money."

DiSalle said the site for the hospital was chosen in 1957, two years before he became governor.

DiSalle, McElroy Differ On Facilities Moving From Ohio

By The Associated Press

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, using different sets of figures, battled before 600 Democrats in Painesville Thursday night over the question of industry leaving Ohio.

Here's the way the two rivals for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination backed up their contentions:

McElroy: "In the last 10 years, 137 industrial plants have left Ohio or have gone out of business." He described the state's condition as "economically retarded."

DiSalle: "In 1951 there were 93,868 employers listed by the State Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. Last month there were 101,153." The governor added there were 184,000 fewer persons unemployed in the state now than there were at this time last year.

Industrial and economic development of Ohio is its most urgent need, the attorney general asserted, saying it is the only solution to the state's financial problems.

"Vacant storerooms stand as gravestones marking the unhealthy business conditions in Ohio," McElroy declared.

"Where are the facts that industry is leaving Ohio?" DiSalle asked. "Maybe some employers have left, but the net is good."

McElroy also criticized DiSalle about water pressure at the state's $1.75-million Sagamore Hills Children's State Hospital on the Summit - Cuyahoga County line. He called it a "fiasco and shameful waste of taxpayers' money."

DiSalle said the site for the hospital was chosen in 1957, two years before he became governor.

Citadel Lists '61 Activities

W. Edward Adkins, general chairman of the Salvation Army Building Fund campaign now in progress, has announced the appointment of Richard Martin as chairman of the Commercial Division. The goal is $115,410.

The citadel's annual report distributed by the Advisory Board at the kickoff meeting Tuesday night, listed 1961 activities and service provided by the local corps to the needy in Chester, Newell, Wellsville, Irondale, Salineville, East Liverpool and intermediate localities.

Under youth activities, there were 653 meetings and a total attendance of 14,683.

Adult activities included 637 meetings and attendance of 14,299.

Family service showed 498 families assisted with food, clothing, fuel and furniture and 917 family visits and consultations.

Transient and local homeless numbering 538 were assisted with meals, lodging, clothing and travel.

Christmas program showed 220 families assisted with a total of 1,096 individuals, 977 garments distributed and 300 Sunshine Baskets distributed to hospital and nursing homes.

The League of Mercy made 76 visits to institutions, cheering 1,720 persons.

City Teachers' Officers Inducted

They include Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Ruth Bebout, corresponding secretary, and Harold Bricker and Mrs. Mildred Hawkins on the Board of Directors.

The returning officers are Mrs. Hazel Neiser, president; Mrs. Gyla Nicely, first vice president; Milton Watson, second vice president, and Miss Delores Hughes, recording secretary. Holdover directors are Mrs. Grace Brown, Paul Burrows and William Kelly.

Arrest Faces Motorists On 1961 Tickets

"Meter Maids" warned today they will begin to issue affidavits soon against motorists who ignored parking tickets they received in 1961, requiring them to appear before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

About 100 individuals are affected — those holding tickets issued throughout last year and up until April 1, 1962, when new Ohio auto license tags were required. But the total number of tickets is considerably higher, as most of the dilatory drivers hold more than one unpaid citation. A few of the old tickets date back to 1960.

The "Meter Maids" indicated there still is time for the motorists to avoid a trip before the judge, provided they settle for the tickets before the affidavits have been issued.

In the past, the court's practice has been to assess a driver a $5 fine and $7.50 costs for one ticket and permit him to settle the balance for $2 each. If the penalties are paid before the affidavits are issued, the charges can be settled for $2 apiece.

Summonses previously were mailed to all the dilatory motorists, warning them that affidavits would be issued if they failed to pay. The list to be named in affidavits represents those who ignored the summonses.

Under the city parking meter ordinance, a ticket may be settled for $1 within 24 hours after it is issued. Then the penalty goes to $2 unless the driver is taken before the court, when a fine and costs may be imposed.

Fined Motorist Penalized Again

A Chester man, fined Monday on a traffic charge in County Court at East Palestine, was penalized anew for driving while intoxicated at a hearing before Judge Herbert Arfman Thursday at the same court.

John F. Ward, 316 Adolphus St., was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to four days in jail for drunken driving. He was fined $10 and costs Monday for crossing a yellow line.

Vernon MacBenn of Columbiana R.D. 2 was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days for driving while intoxicated.

Others fined were John Riggle of the Y. & O. Rd. and John Irwin Hays of Homestead, Fla., former Negley area man, $10 and costs each for failure to stop at an intersection; Joseph Kampher of New Waterford R.D., $5 and costs for crossing a yellow line, and Herman Farance of Lisbon R.D. 2, $5 and costs for speeding.

Industry Due Street Lights

Councilman Matt Bertovic advised Industry Council Wednesday night the Duquesne Light Co. plans to install lights in the near future.

Council accepted the recommendations of the power firm after a survey of lighting needs made last year. Bertovic is chairman of the utilities committee.

Council authorized Allen Campbell, borough engineer and representative of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., Rochester consulting engineers, to prepare bidding, contract documents and specifications for paving Center Ave. and a portion of Hice Ave.

Bertovic said a baseball field for the borough's Hot Stove League is being constructed on property donated by George Cindrich of Midland and Mrs. Joseph Caffro.

Council adopted a resolution opposing adoption of Act 442, a state law on compulsory wages.

The new pumper fire truck was delivered late last week, Councilman Louis Phillips, member of the fire and police committee, reported.

Council awarded a contract for the truck Jan. 17 to the American LaFrance Fire Equipment Co. on a low bid of $15,797. Five bids had been received at the meeting Jan. 3.

James Muns, president, who presided, is acting as mayor while Mayor W. B. MacBride is on vacation. A special meeting will be called later.

Innocent Plea Filed In Burglary Charge

Gale P. Freeman, 25, of 257 Center St. pleaded innocent to burglary of a Wellsville television store in January 1961 at a hearing Thursday before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon.

Freeman, indicted by the County Grand Jury in September for burglary of John's TV Service, was recently released from the West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville.

Freeman was returned to the County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

City Men Forfeit In Midland Fight

One East Liverpool man remains in Midland jail and three other city men forfeited $20 bonds Thursday night in connection with a free-for-all battle Tuesday night in Midland.

Ernest Junior Kelly, 20, of 803 High St. remains in jail pending the hospital release of John Gordon, 24, of 512 Beaver Ave., Midland, who suffered a neck laceration in the fight on 5th St. between Penn and Beaver Aves.

Kelly, who has already been held for Beaver County Court on an assault and battery charge, faces a hearing on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Richard Austin, Clifton Christian and William Christian, all of East End, forfeited the bonds when they failed to appear before Justice of the Peace George Griffin on disorderly conduct charges.

The fight broke out late Tuesday night after arguments between the East Liverpool and Midland men, including four fined Wednesday night for disorderly conduct.

Fatal Salineville Fire Blamed On Cook Unit

SALINEVILLE — Fire Chief Tony Brandonisio said today the fire which claimed the life of Walter Fisher, 43, of Hayti at his home Wednesday morning was apparently ignited from a kerosene cooking stove in the kitchen.

Brandonisio said George Boston of Washingtonville, deputy state fire marshal, investigated the blaze yesterday and indicated the stove was to blame.

Harry Duncan, who resided in the downstairs area of the two-story structure, said he was reading when he smelled smoke upstairs. Duncan said when he went to investigate, found the upstairs in flames, and was unable to reach Fisher.

He ran outside and summoned help and neighbors called firemen. Brandonisio estimated damage to the structure at over $2,500.

Fair Board's Fees Raised

LISBON — Increased fees in tractor pulls as well as prize money were made in final changes of the fair premium book when the Columbiana County Agricultural Society met Tuesday night.

The book material will be taken to the Lyle Printing Co. of Salem for makeup.

Principal change raises entry fees from $1 to $2 in the tractor pulls, which will be held Aug. 24 of the fair the week of Aug. 21. Prize increases were $15 to $25, first; $10 to $20, second; $7.50 to $15, third; $5 to $10 fourth, and $2.50 to $5, fifth.

Classes A and C will be run off in the forenoon and Classes B and D in the afternoon. Weighing in will be held from 8:30 to 10 a. m. and 12:30 to 1:30 p. m.

Three Junior Fair Board officers — Fred Hippely and Wayne Walton of Salem R. D. 2 and Judy McCracken of Beloit R. D. 2, were given permission to hold four dances in the Floral Hall, June 15, 22, 19 and July 6 to raise money to help improve the fairgrounds with benches and trash disposal containers.

For The State Senate

Columbiana County voters will help nominate two state senators from the four-county 20th-22nd District when they go to the polls in Tuesday's primary.

The district also includes Jefferson, Harrison and Belmont counties.

The Democratic candidates — Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry R. D. 1 and Edmund A. Sargus of St. Clairsville — both are incumbents.

Bidding for the Republican nomination are Allen J. Dalrymple of Wellsville, Atty. Donald W. Elliott of Rogers and Boyd Wallace of near Cadiz, in Harrison County.

Because the number of seats in the next term will be cut to one as the result of periodic reapportionment, each party will select a lone nominee on Tuesday.

Mr. Blake has experience on his side in seeking his seventh term in the Senate.

However, while Mr. Sargus, an attorney, has served only one term, during his time in the Senate he has demonstrated an ability which promises an even better record in the future if permitted to continue in office. In the last session of the legislature, the 104th General Assembly, he served on the judiciary and the commerce and labor committees. He was named one of two outstanding freshmen senators of the year by his colleagues in the Senate and the press.

On the Republican ticket, both Mr. Elliott and Mr. Dalrymple appear to possess the qualifications which go with the post.

Mr. Elliott has practiced law for 26 years, being a graduate of the Law School of Western Reserve University. He also is a former president of the Columbiana County Board of Education.

Mr. Dalrymple, a newcomer to politics, also is a member of the county bar association. He is a past president of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club and the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce. He attended Mt. Union College and the Ohio State University Law School. He is engaged in the automobile business.

Vote For Retarded School Levy

A two-tenths of a mill levy for the operation of the Retarded Children's School at Elkton will be among three countywide fund issues facing voters at Tuesday's priary.

The levy not only would provide for continuation of the school now in operation, but also for an expansion of the program.

There now are three classes in operation at Elkton serving 36 children from all parts of Columbiana County. Officials of the Retarded Children Council point out that an additional class is needed now and that a fifth class probably will be necessary within the next year to meet increased enrollment.

The classes basically take care of the trainable child with an I.Q. under 50. Such a child is excluded by law from the regular public schools. A few children with a slightly higher I.Q. who, because of age, are not adaptable to classes in public schools also can profit from these classes.

Classes for the county's retarded have been made possible since 1955 by the County Council through charity means, with some financial aid from the state and local school boards.

In the past, the program has been directed jointly by the Council for Retarded and the county welfare director, following the recommendations and requirements set forth by the Ohio State Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

Ohio law, recently enacted, now charges the County Welfare Department with administration of the program, with the assistance and counsel of an advisory board. Members of this board, who will serve without compensation, are people experienced in the problems of mental retardation.

To continue the program that has helped the retarded children of our county for seven years and to expand it so that none will be turned away, The Review recommends strongly that you vote for the levy Tuesday.

Nothing's What It Used To Be

Former President Eisenhower sounded in a morbid mood at the dedication of the new $3 million Eisenhower Library in Abilene. The general tone of his remarks was gloomy.

Modern art and the acrobatic dance people currently are doing things to depress him. Spiritual and patriotic development are lagging behind scientific, industrial and material accomplishment, he declared. He also assailed vulgarity sensuality and "downright" filth in movies and books

The theme is familiar, and there are 100 speakers who can ring the changes on it more gloomily than our former president. Jeremiads are greatly in demand right now. Optimism is out of style. Even Secretary of State Rusk joined the anvil chorus when he arrived in Athens, saying he saw no hope for relaxation of international tension.

A FEW NIGHTS ago in a television presentation of college boys and girls who go to Daytona Beach for Easter vacation the point was made repeatedly that these young people believe they are under unusual tension; that things aren't what they used to be for them either.

They certainly aren't.

College kids didn't used to go to Daytona Beach for the Easter holiday. They bummed a ride home if it wasn't too far. Otherwise, they holed up and ate canned beans until school was in session again.

We didn't used to build multi-million-dollar libraries to save the papers of presidents, nor did we used to give former presidents pensions so they could live first-class and not be forced to sell their memorabilia for walking-around money.

As for all the other things that people who yearn for the past point to as being wrong with the present—and some are enough to gag a goat—they are not peculiar to the present by any stretch of misrepresentation. Every evil thing going on today was invented soon after Adam and Eve learned to like apples.

It is only man's towering ego that makes him think he goes on continuously year in and year out devising something worse than his ancestors. Except for nuclear bombs, modern man has thought of no proof of his deteriation that hadn't been worn threadbare before the beginning of the Christian era.

THIS IS NOT to say we shouldn't be concerned or utter another jeremiad now and then to keep the Pollyanas from walking tippy-toe into the great abyss of fallen peoples and nations.

It is only to say that any remarks implying that things now are worse than they used to be are suspect.

The truth is, things never were as good as they "used to be." Nostalgia never has been a dependable mood for comparing the generation on the sunset slope with the one struggling up the sunrise slope. The sunset slopers only tell how much they enjoyed the challenge when they were young and how little they enjoy it now that they have grown old.

If you have no safety belts on a car made after mid-June 1964 you can be arrested under a law just signed by Gov. Rockefeller of New York. But law doesn't apply to older cars, which far exceed new ones in any year.

Theory must be that it is unimportant what happens to most folks driving autos in America. (Isn't a driver pitched from a model two years old as important as fellow in new car? Or do lawmakers think that under current traffic situations not many autoists live long enough to be considered party of highway picture?

Gov. Rockefeller also signed law which, when signed by any five other states, will become national fix car safety standards under Congressional Vehicle Equipment Safety Compact, putting entire country behind tight safety controls.

Okay, but we will give odds that highways still continue to be death traps until there is a national compact applying safety standards to human beings.

All safety belts on earth, together with such additional safety devices as may be developed, won't get to first base if overbearing, arrogant, chance-taking drivers continue to operate, freely busting the elemental safety rules wide open.

Let's have Congress decree a safety compact with these provisions:

1. Every car operator to prove he is equipped with commonsense far surpassing that of an idiot, a member of Murder Incorporated or an escaped circus animal.

2. No driver to be licensed unless he is equipped with a sense of courtesy and a desire to live and let live.

3. All drivers' mental equipment to include proof they are driving on streets and not in outer space.

4. Every court to see that safety belts are put in auto laws and not pitched through courtroom window by light penalties, suspended fines and routine of setting potential killer free in care of a probation officer (who may also be menace at the wheel).

Quite An Assignment

New Pay Demands Asked In West

By Victor Riesel

DENVER

Ever since I was a kid I thought the Great Divide was a range of mountains out here. But I have news for President Kennedy. The great divide is a network of Western construction union chiefs who apparently never heard of inflation and are intent on dividing up the income of their employers in a mighty strange way.

Victor Riesel

Obviously the news of the big steel drama is heading West by pony express. For, word from the West Coast has it that construction union chiefs there — from San Diego to the Canadian border — are asking for wage increases ranging from $20 to almost $80-a-week. That means from 50 cents to virtually $2-an-hour more during the life of the new contract.

I'm not talking here of a handful of men building split-level log houses. Involved are some 350,000 construction workers. They are hired by firms doing some $8½ billion dollars worth of construction annually.

Many of these firms build homes. But they also construct defense plants, missile bases and dams.

IF THE UNIONS, such as the laborers, the iron workers, the operating engineers, etc., win all or a heavy part of their demands, the increased cost to the government itself soon will run into scores of millions of dollars.

There is, for example, the Lower Monumental Dam planned for the Snake River upstream from Pasco, Wash. It is an Army Corps of Engineers project. The contracts are going to construction companies whose iron workers are asking for the $2-an-hour increase.

Included in this package is a demand for 65 cents-an-hour extra for reading blue prints.

The iron workers deal with a contractors association centered in Spokane, Wash. From there the word is that the construction unions are asking for such niceties as the final say on how many men will work aboard a crane or a stiff-legged derrick.

In that region the operating engineers are asking for a total of 95 cents-an-hour increase during the life of the next new contract.

Virtually all the construction unions ask for a clause which would prevent the contractor from using his old skilled crews when he accepts a project in other communities. This means that every time he goes into a different city he must take on and train a different crew. That costs money.

OVER IN CALIFORNIA the industry has been hit by selective strikes. They're bargaining with the construction unions all the way from San Diego to the Oregon border. This covers some 300,000 men who usually work on some $6 billion worth of construction.

This bargaining has been going on for months. In California the laborers are asking for such an increase in holidays, wages ($12 a-week more), travel time, subsistence pay hikes, shorter work days and guaranteed days if there is no work — that the costs would run from $1.75 to $1.93 an hour if the unions won all their demands.

There are, of course, demands from all the other construction crafts. This has been in the arguing stage for months.

On April 1, the San Francisco contractors telegraphed President Kennedy saying, in effect, help us hold the line. Something must have gone askew in the White House communications system.

The San Francisco contractors got a reply recently, signed "Arthur Goldberg," saying the administration sympathizes with their problem in the maritime industry. No more telegrams were sent. They reckoned everybody must be busy in Washington.

IT ISN'T only the West Coast. When I left the East, the same type of construction unions, for example, had come into the Wilmington, Del., contractors' offices with 83 new demands for a contract. This would come to an additional $1.18 cents-an-hour, or a pay and fringe package raise of $47.20-a-week over two years.

Up in New England, Connecticut teamsters won a $14-a-week increase in their new contract. Further north, Vermont and New Hampshire truck drivers won a five-year contract at the end of which they will get a total of about $45-a-week more for a 40-hour week.

All this will have as much impact on the economy as "steel" would have had.

The President had better start holding the line, even if it is a long one from the Atlantic Coast to the Pacific Palisades. Inflation by any other name is the same.

Illegal Taxation

By David Lawrence

Withholding Proposal Termed Unfair

If there's one issue that the American people can understand, it is that nobody — not even the government — is entitled to take away from the citizen money that belongs to him alone and is not due for taxes.

David Lawrence

It now is estimated by the Internal Revenue Service that approximately $200 million will be taken from the citizens for different periods of time each year and then returned later to the lawful owners. Many people in retirement will be affected by the proposed law that would require corporations, banks and other institutions to withhold a certain proportion of dividends and interest and pay it directly to the government every month or every three months.

Will the citizen get any interest for the time his money is in the government's hands? Nobody has come forward yet with a practical plan even to compute such interest. This "over-withheld" money certainly will not be earning compound interest for the citizen at the bank during the period he has been deprived of it.

The administration's argument is that too much dividend and interest money is escaping taxation altogether and, in effect, that "the end justifies the means." This may make things easier for the tax collector but can it make things easier for the consciences of members of Congress who know they will be authorizing a confiscation of private property?

The fact that this confiscation is for short intervals each year doesn't lessen its injustice. One of the Ten Commandments says something to this effect: "Thou shalt not take what doesn't belong to you."

There has never been any amendment to this which exonerates the government itself, including the Congress, for participation in such a wrongful act.

It has been contended that all these problems will be taken care of by the device of exemption certificates which the citizen who owes no tax will file in advance with his bank or savings institution. But this is not all of the problem. It doesn't cover the case of the citizen who must pay a small tax and who finds a larger percentage of dividend or interest income has been automatically withheld than he really owed.

Does a "refund," therefore, completely meet the question of morality when the citizen doesn't owe all of the tax that is to be imposed on him? Is it right for the government to collect a single dollar in taxes that doesn't belong to it and which the citizen has not had an opportunity to receive or calculate in his regular income tax return?

MORTIMER CAPLIN, commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service, who is a very able man with long experience in the field of tax law, has just made a speech in which he estimates that nearly 7 per cent of the total collected by the "withholding" plan on dividends and interest will have to be refunded by the government.

He says that maybe as many as two million taxpayers have various deductions for medical expenses and old-age allowances obligation below the amounts withheld by the government.

He says:

"For taxable individuals in the lower-income brackets there may be some over-withholding, perhaps $200 million of over-withholding out of an estimated $3 billion of total withholding."

The commission suggested that these taxpayers could get this money back annually or, if they prefer, "they can, under certain clear circumstances, get quarterly refunds of over-withheld tax."

While the government expects this procedure to be "rapid and simple," it will take time. Especially, it will necessitate careful examination of the individual income tax returns and applications for refunds.

It imposes a hardship. It will mean extra expense to the various institutions which have withheld the money, as well as expense to the citizen when he seeks to get his money back.

An educational campaign carried on by the government through the banks and corporations could recover, with little expense, a great deal of those taxes which, largely through ignorance, are probably being omitted by small taxpayers, some of whom leave their money in the banks to earn compound interest and do not have the means of calculating concurrently what they owe in tax.

THE WHOLE controversy seem likely to become an issue in the congressional elections. Mail to members of Congress is larger on this question than it has been on any issue in many years.

Nobody should object to paying what he owes the government for taxes, but plenty of objections are being voiced against paying money the citizen does not owe and against denial of the use of this money while government, with its red tape, is taking maybe months to figure out how much was never owed and must be returned to its rightful owner.

Also, by the time a refund is made, another "withholding" operation has taken away a sum equal to the one just refunded. The citizen will have to apply continuously for refunds and may always have in a "withheld" status $100 or more that he never owed in taxes in the first place.

Dear Nephew: Thank you for your reminder that we are back to Be Kind to Animals Week in the calendar again. Let me remind you of something.

We do not celebrate the spirit of this occasion one week a year. We are at it 52 weeks a year and have been working at it the year 'round since long before you were born.

For this, neither your aunt nor I can claim special credit. It is the way we are. We were born to be kind to animals.

Some people are born the other way, though, so I concede that a little special exhortation is in order at least once a year. Their natures won't be changed any by this, but their behavior will be.

And of course there will be a net gain in the lot of the animals that otherwise would endure needless suffering. Have you ever wondered why some people object to this needless suffering and others are undisturbed by it? I have thought about it many times.

I believe a person's attitude toward animals is a key to his fundamental character. Many people are kind and considerate to other people because they have to be. If they didn't have to be they'd be meaner than weasels—and frequently are when no one's looking.

These same people often reveal their true nature in cruelty to animals, some of it thoughtless, some of it deliberate. Your aunt and I have made a lifelong study of them. The mean ones can be cute.

They can make a fuss over a lap-dog of their own and throw stones at a stray. They can win blue ribbons for their prize horses and beat the ears off some poor nag that didn't pan out as a ribbon winner.

To hear them talk out of one side of their mouth, they wouldn't hurt a fly. But when no one's looking out for the fly they pull off its wings.

It all depends on the compassion they have inside them. It all depends on whether the compassion is spread on like frosting on a cake, or whether it wells up from the inside out, like water flowing from a spring.

We are aware this has nothing to do with their state of grace. It does not bar them from life hereafter if they think it's fun to kill animals for the sport of seeing them die. It has no bearing on their state of grace. It does not interfere with the great American success story.

It's just a tipoff on what you could expect if all the chips were down and nothing was left but one last lingering hope of compassion. You would know where to expect a turndown.

That's when you would want to know who was considerate of the least of these, your fellow creatures here on earth. That's when you'd want to know who had real compassion.

Your aunt and I will be observing Be Kind to Animals Week, and it's a matter of satisfaction to us we have been observing it 52 weeks a year since memory runneth not to the contrary.

Regards to the folks.

Okay, but we will give odds that highways still continue to be death traps until there is a national compact applying safety standards to human beings.

All safety belts on earth, together with such additional safety devices as may be developed, won't get to first base if overbearing, arrogant, chance-taking drivers continue to operate, freely busting the elemental safety rules wide open.

Let's have Congress decree a safety compact with these provisions:

1. Every car operator to prove he is equipped with commonsense far surpassing that of an idiot, a member of Murder Incorporated or an escaped circus animal.

2. No driver to be licensed unless he is equipped with a sense of courtesy and a desire to live and let live.

3. All drivers' mental equipment to include proof they are driving on streets and not in outer space.

4. Every court to see that safety belts are put in auto laws and not pitched through courtroom window by light penalties, suspended fines and routine of setting potential killer free in care of a probation officer (who may also be menace at the wheel).

Behold the Soviets

You do the same.

"The trusting world

TIP TO THE STOCK MARKET, "Your slip is showing. In fact it's almost down to the ankles."

New York is tightening license exams for doctors. Probably feels the old fashioned idea a physician should have his stupidity discovered before, not after, he begins to take patients is till good.

Old grad returning to Yale commencement may wind up in the lost columns and missing persons bulletins as result of bewildering remodeling of New Haven. It has effaced many streets, removed hundreds of buildings and blasted away scores of landmarks.

"How do I get to Yale?" will be general question. Even natives are so confused they will reply, "I'm not sure it is still standing."

Quite An Assignment

New Pay Demands Asked In West

By Victor Riesel

DENVER

Ever since I was a kid I thought the Great Divide was a range of mountains out here. But I have news for President Kennedy. The great divide is a network of Western construction union chiefs who apparently never heard of inflation and are intent on dividing up the income of their employers in a mighty strange way.

Victor Riesel

Obviously the news of the big steel drama is heading West by pony express. For, word from the West Coast has it that construction union chiefs there — from San Diego to the Canadian border — are asking for wage increases ranging from $20 to almost $80-a-week. That means from 50 cents to virtually $2-an-hour more during the life of the new contract.

I'm not talking here of a handful of men building split-level log houses. Involved are some 350,000 construction workers. They are hired by firms doing some $8½ billion dollars worth of construction annually.

Many of these firms build homes. But they also construct defense plants, missile bases and dams.

IF THE UNIONS, such as the laborers, the iron workers, the operating engineers, etc., win all or a heavy part of their demands, the increased cost to the government itself soon will run into scores of millions of dollars.

There is, for example, the Lower Monumental Dam planned for the Snake River upstream from Pasco, Wash. It is an Army Corps of Engineers project. The contracts are going to construction companies whose iron workers are asking for the $2-an-hour increase.

Included in this package is a demand for 65 cents-an-hour extra for reading blue prints.

The iron workers deal with a contractors association centered in Spokane, Wash. From there the word is that the construction unions are asking for such niceties as the final say on how many men will work aboard a crane or a stiff-legged derrick.

In that region the operating engineers are asking for a total of 95 cents-an-hour increase during the life of the next new contract.

Virtually all the construction unions ask for a clause which would prevent the contractor from using his old skilled crews when he accepts a project in other communities. This means that every time he goes into a different city he must take on and train a different crew. That costs money.

OVER IN CALIFORNIA the industry has been hit by selective strikes. They're bargaining with the construction unions all the way from San Diego to the Oregon border. This covers some 300,000 men who usually work on some $6 billion worth of construction.

This bargaining has been going on for months. In California the laborers are asking for such an increase in holidays, wages ($12 a-week more), travel time, subsistence pay hikes, shorter work days and guaranteed days if there is no work — that the costs would run from $1.75 to $1.93 an hour if the unions won all their demands.

There are, of course, demands from all the other construction crafts. This has been in the arguing stage for months.

On April 1, the San Francisco contractors telegraphed President Kennedy saying, in effect, help us hold the line. Something must have gone askew in the White House communications system.

The San Francisco contractors got a reply recently, signed "Arthur Goldberg," saying the administration sympathizes with their problem in the maritime industry. No more telegrams were sent. They reckoned everybody must be busy in Washington.

IT ISN'T only the West Coast. When I left the East, the same type of construction unions, for example, had come into the Wilmington, Del., contractors' offices with 83 new demands for a contract. This would come to an additional $1.18 cents-an-hour, or a pay and fringe package raise of $47.20-a-week over two years.

Up in New England, Connecticut teamsters won a $14-a-week increase in their new contract. Further north, Vermont and New Hampshire truck drivers won a five-year contract at the end of which they will get a total of about $45-a-week more for a 40-hour week.

All this will have as much impact on the economy as "steel" would have had.

The President had better start holding the line, even if it is a long one from the Atlantic Coast to the Pacific Palisades. Inflation by any other name is the same.

William "Buffalo Bill" Cody, famed U. S. western pioneer, is credited with having originated the term "Wild West" — applying this to his traveling show of Indian braves, crack marksmen and untamed horses. He also coined the term "dude rach" and called himself a "rough rider", the name later given to Theodore Roosevelt and his cavalry in the Spanish-American War.

There are more than a quarter of a million species of beetles, which comprise the largest order of insects, "Coleoptera". While even at present this represents 40 per cent of all known insects, the number is expected to double as many new forms are discovered each year.

Illegal Taxation

By David Lawrence

Withholding Proposal Termed Unfair

If there's one issue that the American people can understand, it is that nobody — not even the government — is entitled to take away from the citizen money that belongs to him alone and is not due for taxes.

David Lawrence

It now is estimated by the Internal Revenue Service that approximately $200 million will be taken from the citizens for different periods of time each year and then returned later to the lawful owners. Many people in retirement will be affected by the proposed law that would require corporations, banks and other institutions to withhold a certain proportion of dividends and interest and pay it directly to the government every month or every three months.

Will the citizen get any interest for the time his money is in the government's hands? Nobody has come forward yet with a practical plan even to compute such interest. This "over-withheld" money certainly will not be earning compound interest for the citizen at the bank during the period he has been deprived of it.

The administration's argument is that too much dividend and interest money is escaping taxation altogether and, in effect, that "the end justifies the means." This may make things easier for the tax collector but can it make things easier for the consciences of members of Congress who know they will be authorizing a confiscation of private property?

The fact that this confiscation is for short intervals each year doesn't lessen its injustice. One of the Ten Commandments says something to this effect: "Thou shalt not take what doesn't belong to you."

There has never been any amendment to this which exonerates the government itself, including the Congress, for participation in such a wrongful act.

It has been contended that all these problems will be taken care of by the device of exemption certificates which the citizen who owes no tax will file in advance with his bank or savings institution. But this is not all of the problem. It doesn't cover the case of the citizen who must pay a small tax and who finds a larger percentage of dividend or interest income has been automatically withheld than he really owed.

Does a "refund," therefore, completely meet the question of morality when the citizen doesn't owe all of the tax that is to be imposed on him? Is it right for the government to collect a single dollar in taxes that doesn't belong to it and which the citizen has not had an opportunity to receive or calculate in his regular income tax return?

MORTIMER CAPLIN, commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service, who is a very able man with long experience in the field of tax law, has just made a speech in which he estimates that nearly 7 per cent of the total collected by the "withholding" plan on dividends and interest will have to be refunded by the government.

He says that maybe as many as two million taxpayers have various deductions for medical expenses and old-age allowances obligation below the amounts withheld by the government.

He says:

"For taxable individuals in the lower-income brackets there may be some over-withholding, perhaps $200 million of over-withholding out of an estimated $3 billion of total withholding."

The commission suggested that these taxpayers could get this money back annually or, if they prefer, "they can, under certain clear circumstances, get quarterly refunds of over-withheld tax."

While the government expects this procedure to be "rapid and simple," it will take time. Especially, it will necessitate careful examination of the individual income tax returns and applications for refunds.

It imposes a hardship. It will mean extra expense to the various institutions which have withheld the money, as well as expense to the citizen when he seeks to get his money back.

An educational campaign carried on by the government through the banks and corporations could recover, with little expense, a great deal of those taxes which, largely through ignorance, are probably being omitted by small taxpayers, some of whom leave their money in the banks to earn compound interest and do not have the means of calculating concurrently what they owe in tax.

THE WHOLE controversy seem likely to become an issue in the congressional elections. Mail to members of Congress is larger on this question than it has been on any issue in many years.

Nobody should object to paying what he owes the government for taxes, but plenty of objections are being voiced against paying money the citizen does not owe and against denial of the use of this money while government, with its red tape, is taking maybe months to figure out how much was never owed and must be returned to its rightful owner.

Also, by the time a refund is made, another "withholding" operation has taken away a sum equal to the one just refunded. The citizen will have to apply continuously for refunds and may always have in a "withheld" status $100 or more that he never owed in taxes in the first place.

Dear Nephew: Thank you for your reminder that we are back to Be Kind to Animals Week in the calendar again. Let me remind you of something.

We do not celebrate the spirit of this occasion one week a year. We are at it 52 weeks a year and have been working at it the year 'round since long before you were born.

For this, neither your aunt nor I can claim special credit. It is the way we are. We were born to be kind to animals.

Some people are born the other way, though, so I concede that a little special exhortation is in order at least once a year. Their natures won't be changed any by this, but their behavior will be.

And of course there will be a net gain in the lot of the animals that otherwise would endure needless suffering. Have you ever wondered why some people object to this needless suffering and others are undisturbed by it? I have thought about it many times.

I believe a person's attitude toward animals is a key to his fundamental character. Many people are kind and considerate to other people because they have to be. If they didn't have to be they'd be meaner than weasels—and frequently are when no one's looking.

These same people often reveal their true nature in cruelty to animals, some of it thoughtless, some of it deliberate. Your aunt and I have made a lifelong study of them. The mean ones can be cute.

They can make a fuss over a lap-dog of their own and throw stones at a stray. They can win blue ribbons for their prize horses and beat the ears off some poor nag that didn't pan out as a ribbon winner.

To hear them talk out of one side of their mouth, they wouldn't hurt a fly. But when no one's looking out for the fly they pull off its wings.

It all depends on the compassion they have inside them. It all depends on whether the compassion is spread on like frosting on a cake, or whether it wells up from the inside out, like water flowing from a spring.

We are aware this has nothing to do with their state of grace. It does not bar them from life hereafter if they think it's fun to kill animals for the sport of seeing them die. It has no bearing on their state of grace. It does not interfere with the great American success story.

It's just a tipoff on what you could expect if all the chips were down and nothing was left but one last lingering hope of compassion. You would know where to expect a turndown.

That's when you would want to know who was considerate of the least of these, your fellow creatures here on earth. That's when you'd want to know who had real compassion.

Your aunt and I will be observing Be Kind to Animals Week, and it's a matter of satisfaction to us we have been observing it 52 weeks a year since memory runneth not to the contrary.

Regards to the folks.

SPRING AND YOUR SEPTIC TANK

Surprising though it may seem, Spring, with its sunshine and showers, is just about the most critical time of year for owners of septic tanks.

To correctly understand the aforementioned statement it is first necessary to analyze the workings of septic tanks, and the effect of seasonal changes.

Your septic tank is a chamber wherein exists a complex of micro-organisms, each type equipped to handle and dispose of different types of waste material. Working as a team, these infinitesimal forms of life break down and liquefy the solids, leaving only a liquid which is free to run out for final disposal in your drainfield or drywell. Regularly activated, these living "garbage disposals" will normally keep up with the flow of waste, and your system will function properly. However, surveys show that, during the spring season, more systems "back-up" and overflow than at any other time of year, creating expensive and highly unsanitary conditions.

WHY???

The answer to that question is simply "temperature". Bacterial life dislikes temperature changes, and, since your septic tank has no heating system to keep things cozy so that they can go about their work in comfort, they die off in the millions and billions when winter arrives, leaving only a "skeleton crew" of weakend bacteria to handle the heavy loads. Consequently, as winter months pass slowly by, a build-up of undigested grease and solids occurs, clogging the tank and passing through to the disposal fields. Grease congeals and deposits in the pores of the soil, almost to the point of being beyond repair. Melting ice, snow, and spring showers add to the problem by increasing the amount of water entering the system.

HOW SEA-CAL ENZYMES HELP

The powerful digestive powers of the enzymes contained in SEA-CAL rapidly liquefy the hard grease packs in the septic tanks and drainfields, changing such grease and other solids into available food for the bacteria. SEA-CAL also contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria per gram (28 grams in each ounce), and with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day, the micro-organism population is rapidly built up to adequate numbers, with the ultimate return of full operating efficiency.

IMPORTANT! ! ! ! !

FOR THE BEST PROTECTION DURING WINTER AND SPRING, DOUBLE YOUR SEA-CAL TREATMENTS, PARTICULARLY WHERE TANKS ARE UNDERSIZE OR ARE SUBJECT OVERLOADS AND/OR AMOUNTS OF DETERGENTS AND BLEACHES.

SPRING AND YOUR SEPTIC TANK
Surprising though it may seem, Spring, with its sunshine and showers, is just about the most critical time of year for owners of septic tanks.
To correctly understand the aforementioned statement it is first necessary to analyze the workings of septic tanks, and the effect of seasonal changes.
Your septic tank is a chamber wherein exists a complex of micro-organisms, each type equipped to handle and dispose of different types of waste material. Working as a team, these infinitesimal forms of life break down and liquefy the solids, leaving only a liquid which is free to run out for final disposal in your drainfield or drywell. Regularly activated, these living "garbage disposals" will normally keep up with the flow of waste, and your system will function properly. However, surveys show that, during the spring season, more systems "back-up" and overflow than at any other time of year, creating expensive and highly unsanitary conditions.
WHY???
The answer to that question is simply "temperature". Bacterial life dislikes temperature changes, and, since your septic tank has no heating system to keep things cozy so that they can go about their work in comfort, they die off in the millions and billions when winter arrives, leaving only a "skeleton crew" of weakend bacteria to handle the heavy loads. Consequently, as winter months pass slowly by, a build-up of undigested grease and solids occurs, clogging the tank and passing through to the disposal fields. Grease congeals and deposits in the pores of the soil, almost to the point of being beyond repair. Melting ice, snow, and spring showers add to the problem by increasing the amount of water entering the system.
HOW SEA-CAL ENZYMES HELP
The powerful digestive powers of the enzymes contained in SEA-CAL rapidly liquefy the hard grease packs in the septic tanks and drainfields, changing such grease and other solids into available food for the bacteria. SEA-CAL also contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria per gram (28 grams in each ounce), and with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day, the micro-organism population is rapidly built up to adequate numbers, with the ultimate return of full operating efficiency.
IMPORTANT! ! ! ! !
FOR THE BEST PROTECTION DURING WINTER AND SPRING, DOUBLE YOUR SEA-CAL TREATMENTS, PARTICULARLY WHERE TANKS ARE UNDERSIZE OR ARE SUBJECT OVERLOADS AND/OR AMOUNTS OF DETERGENTS AND BLEACHES.

Walk Owners Get Notices

R. E. Steebner, Midland borough engineer, said he completed mailing letters Wednesday to 44 owners of property on Midland Ave., requesting they install walks, and to repair those in dangerous condition.

Three of the property owners, who reside in Pittsburgh, Beaver and Aliquippa, will receive registered letters. Steebner said the letters sent were for Midland Ave. alone and others will be sent to property owners on other streets of the borough.

Council at its meeting last week instructed Steebner to notify residents to install and repair walks.

Steebner said a meeting with Council's service, streets, sewers and lights committee, headed by Councilman Joseph D'Alesio, was scheduled yesterday afternoon at the Steelworkers Hall to discuss a request of the Duquesne Light Co. to change two stele poles to wooden ones in order to install a transformer on each.

The transformers are needed to handle the voltage for the new 105 mercury-type 20,000-lumen lights being installed on Midland Ave. Duquesne so far has erected the new lights to 9th St. Council at its meeting last week turned the request over to the committee for study and action.

Residents of the borough have been asked not to set out garbage and rubbish several days before collection.

WEIRTON — Hancock County Coroner John D. Herron plans to visit the State Police Laboratory in Charleston over the weekend in an attempt to clear up the mysterious deaths of Julia Varney and Robert Koper of Weirton.

The bodies of the 51-year-old mother and her 14-year-old son were discovered in their dwelling Monday night and the cause of their deaths has baffled local and county authorities.

Vital organs were sent to the laboratory, operated by the criminal identification bureau.

Herron, a justice of the peace in New Cumberland, will be in Charleston during the weekend for a meeting of the West Virginia Minor Judiciary Association, which he heads.

Herron will preside at an executive meeting Saturday and a general meeting on Sunday.

Auto Injures Man Ejected From Tavern

A 42-year-old man ejected from a Dresden Ave. tavern late Wednesday night kept right on going across the sidewalk and into the street, where he bumped the side of a passing auto, police said.

Harry McBane of Shadyside Ave. escaped with minor injuries in the incident, in which he was struck by a 1956 four-door sedan operated by Gene H. McCoy, 31, of 255 Moore St., officers said. McBane was released after treatment at City Hospital for abrasions of the right elbow and bruises of the face.

McCoy reported the mishap to Patrolman Charles E. (Bill) Tice, who was standing on the Diamond, officers said. The officer found McBane walking south on Dresden Ave. He took both men to the police station and then continued to the hospital with McBane. The mishap was timed at 11:30.

Two other mishaps were reported Wednesday, one in which a trucker was fined and another involving a city street department truck.

Vernon A. Kimble, 42, of Columbiana was fined $25 and costs in Municipal Court as an aftermath of a collision at 10:06 a.m. Wednesday on outer Dresden Ave.

Kimble's 1961 model flatbed tractor - trailer struck the rear of a halted 1954 sedan operated by Kenneth G. McPeek, 47, of Glenmoor, officers said. McPeek said he stopped his southbound car at a flagman's signal and it was struck from the rear by the rig.

Kimble was fined by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. The collision damaged the rear of the auto and the front of the truck, officers said.

A minor mishap at 12:38 p. m. Wednesday on Shadyside Ave. involved a halted 1958 model 2½-ton truck owned by the city and a 1960 sedan operated by Mrs. Marcella Daugherty, 60, of Shadyside Ave., officers said.

The city truck was operated by Daniel Bowers, 57, of 1602 Globe St., who said it was halted while patches were applied to the blacktop pavement of the street.

Mrs. Daugherty, in pulling around the truck, cut in too closely and scratched the right rear of her auto against a clearance light on the city vehicle, police said.

Director Awaits Data In Ramp Auto Count

Safety-Service Director Robert Owen said today he expects a breakdown of figures will be presented to him this afternoon or Saturday on a 24-hour traffic count completed at 6 this morning on the ramp connecting Lisbon and W. 9th Sts.

George Fone and Harold Cartwright, the city employes who made the tally, are scheduled to present an hourly breakdown of the number of motor vehicles and pedestrians, Owen explained.

The city made the traffic count as part of its move to persuade the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads to construct an underpass or an overhead ramp to eliminate a deadend on W. 9th St. The figures are expected to buttress an argument for better access to the Sunnyside area.

Mayor Selected To Head Multiple Sclerosis Drive

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet today was named city chairman for the Multiple Sclerosis Hope Chest fund drive set May 13-June 17 throughout Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull Counties.

It's the first fund appeal the tri-county organization has conducted in East Liverpool, although others have been held previously in most Columbiana County communities, according to George Garland of Youngstown, general chairman.

Drives also will be held in Salem, Columbiana, East Palestine, Leetonia, Hanoverton and Lisbon.

Columbiana County has been given a $5,000 quota. The overall goal is $35,000, with $20,000 sought in Mahoning and $10,000 in Trumbull.

A door-to-door canvass will be held throughout the three counties on June 1-2. In East Liverpool, it will be conducted by the Women's Civil Defense Council, with Mrs. Ruth Curtis and Mrs. Evelyn Balser in charge, Garland said.

A tri-county kick-off dinner is scheduled Tuesday night at the Hotel Pick-Ohio in Youngstown. Two hundred are expected. Speaker will be Abert Marks of Chicago, an attorney and a volunteer worker in the MS chapter there. Mrs. Edith McCullough of Poland is in charge.

The sponsoring organization is the Tru-Mah-Col Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. Its headquarters is in Youngstown.

Garland explained this year's area goal has been boosted by $10,000 chiefly because of a physical therapy program for MS patients which began in January. The tri-county chapter has 225 patients, of whom 18 are receiving treatment at the Cerebral Palsy Center in Youngstown.

The chapter was founded in 1957. It has provided wheel chairs, walkers, beds and miscellaneous equipment for its patients and arranges monthly meetings and social gatherings for them, Garland explained.

Of the campaign funds, 60 per cent will remain in the tri-county area and 40 per cent will go to the national organization for research, Garland said.

Lila Masson of Detroit, Mrs. America of 1962, will appear at a benefit Multiple Sclerosis dance Saturday night at the Salem Country Club.

Garland explained that multiple sclerosis generally attacks people between 20 and 40. The national society estimates 500,000 Americans suffer from MS or closely related diseases. The cause is unknown. The characteristics of the disease include shaking or tremor, extreme weakness and progressive paralysis.

The Chamber's part in the drive is in charge of a committee headed by Donald Baxter and Christ Pallis.

Bumper strips also will be distributed for use on city vehicles and merchants' delivery trucks.

The East Liverpool Merchants Association voted in April to cooperate with the campaign. iCty incinerator trucks will haul away trash from every street.

The Chamber committee will send letters to schools, churches, scout organizations, service clubs and parent - teacher groups asking their co-operation. The letter will suggest clearing of refuse and waste paper from empty lots, adding:

"A touch of paint can make a remarkable improvement. Let's all pitch in and make East Liverpool a more attractive place in which to live."

The group headed by Baxter and Pallis is a sub-committee of the Chamber's civic and community affairs committee.

The city already has announced details of its trash collection service in the spring cleanup, which will extend through May 18. The drive will begin Monday in the North Side - Maplewood - Beechwood area and continue daily on the regular trash schedules.

Board Named For Protests On Tax Rules

A three-member Board of Review has been appointed to act as the ultimate local authority on complaints against administration of the new city income tax ordinance.

It is comprised of Mrs. Helen Quigley, 1174 Oakland Ave., J. W. Barrett, 925 Ohio Ave. and Mrs. Iris Applegate, 1119 St. George St.

Authority for appointment of the board is contained in the tax ordinance Council enacted in March. It provides that Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate each will name one member. The first two members then choose a third, the legislation provides.

Mayor Goodballet named Mrs. Applegate, the auditor chose Mrs. Quigley and the two women then named Barrett. Members of the board serve without pay. Previous city tax ordinances also called for a Board of Review, but none ever functioned.

The ordinance provides the board will hold private hearings for "any person dissatisfied with any ruling or decision of the city treasurer. . ." Appeals from the treasurer's rulings must be made within 30 days, it provides.

The legislation gives the board the authority to "affirm, reverse or modify any such ruling or decision or any part thereof."

Persons dissatisfied with a ruling of the Board of Review have 30 days in which to appeal to a court. Members of the board will continue to serve as long as the tax ordinance is in effect, the legislation provides.

Mayor Selected To Head Multiple Sclerosis Drive

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet today was named city chairman for the Multiple Sclerosis Hope Chest fund drive set May 13-June 17 throughout Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull Counties.

It's the first fund appeal the tri-county organization has conducted in East Liverpool, although others have been held previously in most Columbiana County communities, according to George Garland of Youngstown, general chairman.

Drives also will be held in Salem, Columbiana, East Palestine, Leetonia, Hanoverton and Lisbon.

Columbiana County has been given a $5,000 quota. The overall goal is $35,000, with $20,000 sought in Mahoning and $10,000 in Trumbull.

A door-to-door canvass will be held throughout the three counties on June 1-2. In East Liverpool, it will be conducted by the Women's Civil Defense Council, with Mrs. Ruth Curtis and Mrs. Evelyn Balser in charge, Garland said.

A tri-county kick-off dinner is scheduled Tuesday night at the Hotel Pick-Ohio in Youngstown. Two hundred are expected. Speaker will be Abert Marks of Chicago, an attorney and a volunteer worker in the MS chapter there. Mrs. Edith McCullough of Poland is in charge.

The sponsoring organization is the Tru-Mah-Col Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. Its headquarters is in Youngstown.

Garland explained this year's area goal has been boosted by $10,000 chiefly because of a physical therapy program for MS patients which began in January. The tri-county chapter has 225 patients, of whom 18 are receiving treatment at the Cerebral Palsy Center in Youngstown.

The chapter was founded in 1957. It has provided wheel chairs, walkers, beds and miscellaneous equipment for its patients and arranges monthly meetings and social gatherings for them, Garland explained.

Of the campaign funds, 60 per cent will remain in the tri-county area and 40 per cent will go to the national organization for research, Garland said.

Lila Masson of Detroit, Mrs. America of 1962, will appear at a benefit Multiple Sclerosis dance Saturday night at the Salem Country Club.

Garland explained that multiple sclerosis generally attacks people between 20 and 40. The national society estimates 500,000 Americans suffer from MS or closely related diseases. The cause is unknown. The characteristics of the disease include shaking or tremor, extreme weakness and progressive paralysis.

Plastic Plant Workers Name IBOP As Agent

Employes of the Sunbeam Plastic Corp. at Evansville, Ind., have voted to designate as their bargaining agent the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters in an election supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, the union announced today.

The IBOP won in the employe voting over the International Teamsters Union, which also sought to be designated as bargaining agent.

Chamber Aid Set In Spring Cleanup Days

The Chamber of Commerce moved ahead today with plans to co-operate in the annual two-week citywide spring cleanup campaign, which will open Monday.

The Chamber's part in the drive is in charge of a committee headed by Donald Baxter and Christ Pallis.

Posters are ready for distribution to business houses, calling attention to the drive and asking businessmen and private homeowners to "cleanup, paintup, fixup" during May. The window cards and banners will be distributed to stores by members of the High School Key Club.

Bumper strips also will be distributed for use on city vehicles and merchants' delivery trucks.

The East Liverpool Merchants Association voted in April to cooperate with the campaign. iCty incinerator trucks will haul away trash from every street.

The Chamber committee will send letters to schools, churches, scout organizations, service clubs and parent - teacher groups asking their co-operation. The letter will suggest clearing of refuse and waste paper from empty lots, adding:

"A touch of paint can make a remarkable improvement. Let's all pitch in and make East Liverpool a more attractive place in which to live."

The group headed by Baxter and Pallis is a sub-committee of the Chamber's civic and community affairs committee.

The city already has announced details of its trash collection service in the spring cleanup, which will extend through May 18. The drive will begin Monday in the North Side - Maplewood - Beechwood area and continue daily on the regular trash schedules.

Board Named For Protests On Tax Rules

A three-member Board of Review has been appointed to act as the ultimate local authority on complaints against administration of the new city income tax ordinance.

It is comprised of Mrs. Helen Quigley, 1174 Oakland Ave., J. W. Barrett, 925 Ohio Ave. and Mrs. Iris Applegate, 1119 St. George St.

Authority for appointment of the board is contained in the tax ordinance Council enacted in March. It provides that Mayor Bert H. Goodballet and Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate each will name one member. The first two members then choose a third, the legislation provides.

Mayor Goodballet named Mrs. Applegate, the auditor chose Mrs. Quigley and the two women then named Barrett. Members of the board serve without pay. Previous city tax ordinances also called for a Board of Review, but none ever functioned.

The ordinance provides the board will hold private hearings for "any person dissatisfied with any ruling or decision of the city treasurer. . ." Appeals from the treasurer's rulings must be made within 30 days, it provides.

The legislation gives the board the authority to "affirm, reverse or modify any such ruling or decision or any part thereof."

Persons dissatisfied with a ruling of the Board of Review have 30 days in which to appeal to a court. Members of the board will continue to serve as long as the tax ordinance is in effect, the legislation provides.

COUNTY LEVIES AT THE PRIMARIES

General Situation in Columbiana County

Like all other business, labor supplies and other costs of government have risen in recent years and will probably continue to rise. Furthermore, the legislature continually adds more expense to county government — usually with no provisions for added income to meet the increased expenses. Examples are the county courts, second common pleas court, and retarded children's school.

As a result, the balance in the General Fund has steadily decreased from $329,000 in 1958 to $59,000 in 1961.

The budget requests for 1962 were $298,000 in excess of estimated income. The County Commissioners cut most departments 15% to balance the budget. Certain expenditures are mandatory and cannot be reduced by the County Commissioners. Among these are the board of elections, soldiers and sailors relief, and the courts.

A study of some other counties with populations similar to that of Columbiana shows that most of the county offices in Columbiana County are being operated on expenditures average or below that of similar counties.

Of the total tax rate, 2.20 mills go into the General Fund from which expenses of county offices are paid. This rate has not been increased for more than twenty years.

County Home Levy

The Columbiana County Home is being operated at expenditures much below that of most similar counties. Certain repairs and improvements must be made. An addition must be built to the hospital to care for patients.

Of the inmates in the County Home, about 45% are hospital cases. The .7 mill levy is for operation, maintenance, and new construction. The principal items are an expansion of hospital facilities and a new sewage disposal system as required by the State Board of Health.

Retarded Children School Levy

The last legislature enacted legislation providing that County Government must maintain schools for retarded children. The proposed levy of .2 mill is to meet this additional cost. Three classes are now being conducted at Elkton; the need is for at least twice as many. This program is under the Welfare Department and does not receive funds from the usual sources for public schools.

County Levy

The .8 mill levy is to provide additional funds for county expenses. The situation is particularly serious in some departments. For example, the 1962 cut in sheriff's budget necessitated a reduction of two employees.

With the rapid growth in population outside of municipalities in which police protection is provided, it would seem that in the interests of safety, additional rather than less personnel, should be provided in the sheriff's office.

COUNTY LEVIES AT THE PRIMARIES

General Situation in Columbiana County

Like all other business, labor supplies and other costs of government have risen in recent years and will probably continue to rise. Furthermore, the legislature continually adds more expense to county government — usually with no provisions for added income to meet the increased expenses. Examples are the county courts, second common pleas court, and retarded children's school.

As a result, the balance in the General Fund has steadily decreased from $329,000 in 1958 to $59,000 in 1961.

The budget requests for 1962 were $298,000 in excess of estimated income. The County Commissioners cut most departments 15% to balance the budget. Certain expenditures are mandatory and cannot be reduced by the County Commissioners. Among these are the board of elections, soldiers and sailors relief, and the courts.

A study of some other counties with populations similar to that of Columbiana shows that most of the county offices in Columbiana County are being operated on expenditures average or below that of similar counties.

Of the total tax rate, 2.20 mills go into the General Fund from which expenses of county offices are paid. This rate has not been increased for more than twenty years.

County Home Levy

The Columbiana County Home is being operated at expenditures much below that of most similar counties. Certain repairs and improvements must be made. An addition must be built to the hospital to care for patients.

Of the inmates in the County Home, about 45% are hospital cases. The .7 mill levy is for operation, maintenance, and new construction. The principal items are an expansion of hospital facilities and a new sewage disposal system as required by the State Board of Health.

Retarded Children School Levy

The last legislature enacted legislation providing that County Government must maintain schools for retarded children. The proposed levy of .2 mill is to meet this additional cost. Three classes are now being conducted at Elkton; the need is for at least twice as many. This program is under the Welfare Department and does not receive funds from the usual sources for public schools.

County Levy

The .8 mill levy is to provide additional funds for county expenses. The situation is particularly serious in some departments. For example, the 1962 cut in sheriff's budget necessitated a reduction of two employees.

With the rapid growth in population outside of municipalities in which police protection is provided, it would seem that in the interests of safety, additional rather than less personnel, should be provided in the sheriff's office.

Heights Area Water Cutoff Due Tuesday

A water turnoff that will last at least 24 hours is scheduled tentatively for Tuesday for about 400 homes on Pleasant Heights and adjoining residential districts.

Water Supt. Donald T. Duke issued an advance warning of the impending shutoff today to allow housewives to draw advance supplies of water and plan their cleaning schedules. Both Pleasant Heights and LaCroft Schools will be affected, he pointed out.

The cutoff is necessary in order to hook into the existing lines the two ends of a new 500-foot stretch of 10-inch main which has been laid underneath the new freeway right-of-way in California Hollow, Duke explained.

The 10-inch main flows from the standpipes on Henry Ave., near Maplewood. It runs downgrade into California Hollow, then ascends the bluff on the other side to serve Pleasant Heights.

Relocation of the line was required by the freeway project. It has been laid at a greater depth and enclosed in a four-foot concrete conduit underneath the new highway. Inside the conduit, the water line rests on elevated "stirrups." At either end of the conduit are "manways" so that water crews can enter to service the line without the necessity for digging holes in the new highway.

The hookup work will go ahead on schedule on Tuesday unless a heavy downpour of rain intervenes, Duke said. While the water is turned off, the new line will be tied in with the existing main at either end. A new valve also will be installed on Trentvale St., just off Dresden Ave.

The turnoff will affect all the hilltop residential area — Pleasant Heights, LaCroft, Sherwood and Fisher Park. Lisbon St. will be affected as far downgrade as the sharp curve near Spring Grove Cemetery, Duke said.

Truck Fire Victim Identified At Weirton

WEIRTON — A Koppers Co. truck driver killed in a fiery wreck on Kings Creek hill Thursday has been identified as Merle MacNaughton, 28, of Hornell, N. Y., father of three youngsters.

His tractor - trailer tanker loaded with 15,000 to 20,000 gallons of cresote crashed into an embankment on Route 2, broke apart and burned, at 6:15 a.m.

Police said Mr. MacNaughton apparently lost control descending the long grade after leaving the Koppers' Follansbee plant and heading north toward New Cumberland.

The Schwerha Funeral Home said the body was shipped to Hornell for services and burial.

$1,840 Collected In Cancer Fund

A total of $1,840.52 was collected in the house-to-house canvass for the Cancer Fund Wednesday night.

Cancer Society officials said the total is not complete as many of the outlying areas have not yet reported. A complete figure is expected by Saturday or Monday.

Mrs. Milton Gotlieb was chairman of the residential drive with Mrs. Richard Crawford co-chairman.

Donations were counted at City Hall. Members of the Women's Civil Defense Council and the Hi-Y boys aided in the counting.

Dinner Will Be Held At Millport Church

MILLPORT — Plans for a public dinner Wednesday at the Bethesa Presbyterian Church were completed at a meeting of the committee, headed by Vernon Brown, Thursday.

The fried chicken, ham and noodle supper will be served from 5 to 8 in the church basement. Proceeds will be used for the new manse.

WILLIAM H.
WEIR
for

A MAN TO CONSIDER

After acquiring his education which included advanced courses in economics, political science, sociology and history William H. Weir became a journalist serving eight years with the Hearst newspapers. He gave up his newspaper career to travel as a lecturer speaking on a variety of subjects including child guidance, good government and mental health. As a staunch Republican, he never refused his party's call to speak in support of its principles and candidates, reaching a peak in 1940 when he campaigned in 17 states. Being a member of the family well known in the tri-state area as wallpaper and paint retailers he opened their Salem store in 1948 and still operates it. He has served on the board of trustees of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association ever since it was organized and helped draft its original constitution and by-laws.

HE SAYS EXACTLY WHAT HE THINKS

Those who have heard Mr. Weir speak in behalf of his own candidacy during this campaign have been amazed at his audacious frankness. His out-spoken manner, his refusal to temporize or evade and his fearless denunciation of those he believes to be in the wrong convinces his listeners that something new is happening in Columbiana County politics. He has steadfastly ignored the advice of those who urge him to be more diplomatic claiming that he wouldn't want to be elected county commissioner under false pretense.

THIS IS HIS PLATFORM

The long-suffering taxpayer has had just about all he can stand. Public officials (and those aspiring to public office) had better decide to make the appropriations they are now receiving do the job even if it means effecting stringent economies.

We cannot afford a new county home. We can put the present home in condition to meet State requirements for about one fifth cost of a new one.

Until the property owners have been told exactly how much higher their taxes have already become as a result of the recent county-wide reappraisal of real estate values we should not be asked to further increase our taxes an unknown amount by supporting either the .8 mill operating levy or the .7 mill county home levy. Mr. Weir suspects a conspiracy of silence designed to hold back the bad news on the reappraisal to enhance the chances of passage of these two levies.

The .2 mill levy for retarded children deserves support because it will be a more efficient way of handling a problem we now deal with in a hit and miss manner.

We can be justly proud of our sheriff and his department. The need to economize should not apply to this office which is already dangerously under-staffed.

Whenever an industry leaves our county we lose tax revenue. Instead of trying to squeeze more from the already flattened pockets of our home owners we should concentrate on creating a climate friendly to new industries. We should increase our sources of taxation instead of our rates of taxation.

The only legitimate reason for any government to exist is to serve the people. We must never permit it to become our master.

You can strike a solid blow for good, efficient, economical county government by helping nominate and elect . . .

Hearing Slated Again In Area Man's Slaying

A hearing is expected to be held later this month in Washington, Pa., for Chester Hoffman, 53, who is accused of the slaying of his business partner, a Newell area resident, on July 14.

The McDonald (Pa.) defendant is expected to enter a plea at the hearing before Judge Roy I. Carson.

The Washington County district attorney's office said Hoffman's trial has been postponed several times due to the impaired health of the defendant. He has a heart condition.

Hoffman is accused of killing Leonard O. Bywaters, 51, of New Cumberland. They were partners in the Arroyo Sand & Gravel Co. before the victim was shot six times with an automatic pistol at Hoffman's home.

Cold, Moisture Damage Streets

By GLENN WAIGHT

The culprits are cold and moisture.

They combine to split and loosen blacktop and concrete, causing thousands of dollars in street

Third In A Series

damage annually in East Liverpool, speeding depreciation of cars and trucks and straining the patience of driver and street worker alike.

Surface water or condensed moisture seeps into pores or tiny cracks in the road surface or between blacktop or cement and the hard ground or brick beneath. As the mercury dips, freezing expands the moisture and the material buckles and crumbles.

OR WATER softens the soil under streets without a drainage base, heavy traffic presses the blacktop down or pressures heave the surface up, and the damage is done.

Either way, the result is a hump or a tire-twisting, axle - bashing "chuck hole," another demand for street labor, another cause of complaint.

The long endured plague of holes and heaved bricks on St. Clair Ave. is to be eased with the planned improvement north of Princeton Ave., slated to begin early this fall. Installation of a drainage system and resurfacing should be a significant improvement in the city's street system.

The average motorist considers the chuck hole an affront to his wheeled civilization and inevitably berates the city administration, street supervisor and each street worker for not having repaired the hole in the street on which he travels.

Of the city's 181 employes, 25 are in the street department, headed by W. M. (Wib) Laughlin, 63, a slender, ruddy-faced veteran of 28 years in street and road work.

THE STREET department's problems are seasonal, ranging from the ever-needed repairs and maintenance to cleaning and snow and ice removal.

Laughlin, superintendent for five years, says blacktop causes the most trouble in repair work, having more chuck holes than cement or brick. The superintendent began to work for the city in 1934, was employed for two years with the county highway staff, then returned to the street department in 1940.

Center of operations is the deteriorating former West Side fire station on Lisbon St. hill at W. 9th St., built in 1907. Repairs of trucks and other equipment are conducted on the main floor where various tools and items are also stored.

Ashes are stored in a section of the old bus barn in the East End, where a truck is also kept, along with other equipment. Blacktop material and the city oil distributor are stored at the pumping station in the East End.

The department's heavier equipment includes a patch roller, two graders, a mechanical sweeper—bought new in 1954 and showing its age — a tractor loader (or "high - lift"), four pickup trucks —two used exclusively by the supervisor and his aide — and five dump trucks.

ONE OF THE dump trucks is converted in winter to a hopper ash spreader truck, and is not used again as a regular truck until spring, because conversion requires two days' work, Laughlin said.

The street crew shares an air compressor with the water department.

Two new trucks are to be ordered for the department, replacing two older trucks. But the department head says a third truck is really needed.

Laughlin is also interested in obtaining two new ash spreaders and says the city needs a snow plow — the present plow, obtained a number of years ago, has not been used becuase it is too heavy for use with the present trucks—a five-ton truck would be needed for it. A new street sweeper is also on the "wanted" list.

THE PRESENT sweeper is in operation six days a week, dependent on weather conditions, and a schedule is followed. The machine operates in the business section two nights a week, Laughlin said, and elsewhere in the city during the other days.

The staff of regular street employes is supplemented with relief workers, averaging eight a day, working out their relief checks with street jobs.

In past years, the street department has ranged from 18 to 40 men, depending upon the funds available and the political attitudes at City Hall.

Present wage scales are $1.68 hourly for laborers, $1.74 for truck drivers, $1.87 for maintenance men, $1.89 for assistant supervisor Ed Bowersock and $440 a month for Laughlin.

Over 80 per cent of the calls to City Hall from residents are concerned with streets, Laughlin says. Some of them are petty, he said, such as a report of a blocked sewer drain to which two men and a truck were dispatched only to find a little dirt which they kicked away to restore flow. Other complaints help the department locate real trouble sites.

Being summoned to work in cold rain in winter is the most distasteful part of the worker's job. But some of the staff are required to ash and salt streets in the wee hours of the icy season.

POLICE KEEP tabs on street conditions and alert Laughlin or his staff when surfaces get slick. Conditions vary in different parts of the city — two men were called out between 7 and 10 one night earlier this year when the upper third of Lisbon St. and St. Clair Ave. began to get slippery from snow and rain while lower portions were only wet.

Working daily under the eyes of a tax - conscious public brings occasional criticism that the department's employes fail to earn a full day's wages.

The workers, of course, typify any labor force in private business or government — there are men who are conscientious and hard workers and there are those who are more casual.

But often those looking upon the efforts of the street crews do not grasp the full character of the job involved.

LAUGHLIN POINTS out in many cases the nature of a task may require all the crew to be at work at one time, while at other times there is a temporary "surplus."

In brick street repairs, for example, those taking up bricks may be told to stop that work at the tag end of the afternoon so that there won't be any exposed areas which may be washed out in an overnight rain.

The street chief says criticism is often received from onlookers watching work while they are neglecting their own jobs. He admits some relief workers are reluctant to press their work, and there are some regular staffers who don't exert themselves.

BUT LAUGHLIN declares many men who have worked in area industry, such as Crucible Steel, and who have served on the street crews tell him quite sincerely they would rather have mill jobs which entail less labor.

What's on the summer work agenda? Besides the regular street maintenance and repair work, Laughlin hopes to use brick stored from 3rd St. for repairs at some intersections damaged by washouts.

Maintenance of dirt streets will take a large proportion of the summer program. "More work is done on dirt roads and streets than paved," Laughlin has said.

Residents of earth streets make more requests for repairs, and some political candidates promise more care for these trouble spots. The result is special hot weather attention to dust, ruts, washouts and mudholes — all of which could be eliminated by a paving program backed by property owners.

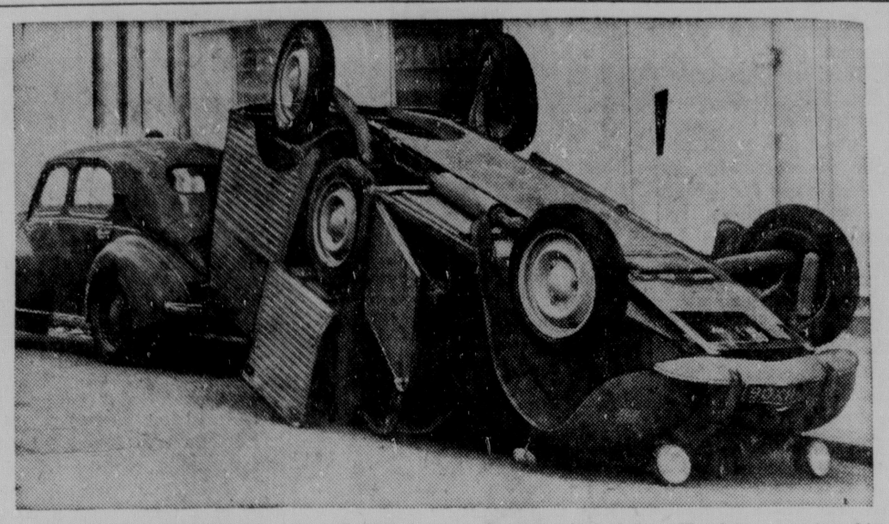
LARGE SCALE future projects Laughlin would like to tackle some day include covering the East End run which has been a problem with flooding, collecting debris and causing odors and health hazards. Laughlin says the run should be sewered with large pipe like Carpenters Run has been under the freeway project. But he declares the cost would be considerable.

Resurfacing of a number of streets with heavy blacktop asphalt is another project the street superintendent would like to see undertaken. Also, smoothing and resurfacing of 2nd St., Avondale, Minerva and some other brick streets.

Motorists, other city officials, businessmen and most residents with an interest in community development join with Laughlin in looking ahead to better streets.

But they know as well as he that the problem can be expressed very simply—in dollar signs.



HE REALLY FLIPPED. It may look like a crazy way to park, and it is The driver was in a big hurry and didn't have time to parallel park. The freak accident happened in Nice, France. Neither the driver nor the passenger was injured.

Fallout—What it means to you

To Build Or Not To Build

In any discussion of "bomb shelters" it is necessary to place the fallout shelter in proper perspective. There's a difference. The explosive violence of current nuclear bombs is so great that absolute protection against blast and fire resulting from their explosion is virtually impossible. Large areas surrounding the center of such an explosion would be completely destroyed. Areas somewhat farther away could be protected to some extent by deep communal shelters. What we are primarily concerned about is the threat of deadly radioactive fallout covering vast suburban and rural areas far from the center of the blast. In such areas the threat of fallout could be reduced and the destruction of practically all people prevented by fallout shelters stocked with enough food, water and medicine for two to three weeks of underground living. Ideally, we should have an organized program of shelter construction, starting with large, heavily protected shelters at the fringe area of cities, with backyard or basement shelters farther away. Such a program would call for centralized planning and adequate supervision. Those who are best qualified to speak have pointed out that the haphazard construction of shelters by individuals is basically unsound. The Dept. of Defense has made available several booklets concerning fallout and fallout shelters. In addition, various associations have developed plans for family shelters. A list of these associations will be sent to readers upon request.

Q. The skin under both my eyes is quite dark. Is there any way to bleach the skin in this area?

A. The skilful use of a cosmetic preparation would probably be best. Commercial products for just such purposes are available.

Q. Does a virus cause intestinal flu?

A. Probably, but intestinal flu is not a form of virus influenza. The term is usually used to describe a disorder consisting of stomach and intestinal upset with influenza-like symptoms of fever, headache, and muscle aches and pains. Recent investigations point to adenoviruses as possible causative agents in "intestinal flu."

Q. Is garlic helpful in clearing up bronchitis?

A. The shortest answer to this question is, "No."

Questions submitted by readers are appreciated and answers to those of general interest will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

EAST SIXTH STREET

Cold, Moisture Damage Streets

By GLENN WAIGHT

The culprits are cold and moisture.

They combine to split and loosen blacktop and concrete, causing thousands of dollars in street damage annually in East Liverpool, speeding depreciation of cars and trucks and straining the patience of driver and street worker alike.

Third In A Series

Surface water or condensed moisture seeps into pores or tiny cracks in the road surface or between blacktop or cement and the hard ground or brick beneath. As the mercury dips, freezing expands the moisture and the material buckles and crumbles.

OR WATER softens the soil under streets without a drainage base, heavy traffic presses the blacktop down or pressures heave the surface up, and the damage is done.

Either way, the result is a hump or a tire-twisting, axle - bashing "chuck hole," another demand for street labor, another cause of complaint.

The long endured plague of holes and heaved bricks on St. Clair Ave. is to be eased with the planned improvement north of Princeton Ave., slated to begin early this fall. Installation of a drainage system and resurfacing should be a significant improvement in the city's street system.

The average motorist considers the chuck hole an affront to his wheeled civilization and inevitably berates the city administration, street supervisor and each street worker for not having repaired the hole in the street on which he travels.

Of the city's 181 employes, 25 are in the street department, headed by W. M. (Wib) Laughlin, 63, a slender, ruddy-faced veteran of 28 years in street and road work.

THE STREET department's problems are seasonal, ranging from the ever-needed repairs and maintenance to cleaning and snow and ice removal.

Laughlin, superintendent for five years, says blacktop causes the most trouble in repair work, having more chuck holes than cement or brick. The superintendent began to work for the city in 1934, was employed for two years with the county highway staff, then returned to the street department in 1940.

Center of operations is the deteriorating former West Side fire station on Lisbon St. hill at W. 9th St., built in 1907. Repairs of trucks and other equipment are conducted on the main floor where various tools and items are also stored.

Ashes are stored in a section of the old bus barn in the East End, where a truck is also kept, along with other equipment. Blacktop material and the city oil distributor are stored at the pumping station in the East End.

The department's heavier equipment includes a patch roller, two graders, a mechanical sweeper—bought new in 1954 and showing its age — a tractor loader (or "high - lift"), four pickup trucks —two used exclusively by the supervisor and his aide — and five dump trucks.

ONE OF THE dump trucks is converted in winter to a hopper ash spreader truck, and is not used again as a regular truck until spring, because conversion requires two days' work, Laughlin said.

The street crew shares an air compressor with the water department.

Two new trucks are to be ordered for the department, replacing two older trucks. But the department head says a third truck is really needed.

Laughlin is also interested in obtaining two new ash spreaders and says the city needs a snow plow — the present plow, obtained a number of years ago, has not been used becuase it is too heavy for use with the present trucks—a five-ton truck would be needed for it. A new street sweeper is also on the "wanted" list.

THE PRESENT sweeper is in operation six days a week, dependent on weather conditions, and a schedule is followed. The machine operates in the business section two nights a week, Laughlin said, and elsewhere in the city during the other days.

The staff of regular street employes is supplemented with relief workers, averaging eight a day, working out their relief checks with street jobs.

In past years, the street department has ranged from 18 to 40 men, depending upon the funds available and the political attitudes at City Hall.

Present wage scales are $1.68 hourly for laborers, $1.74 for truck drivers, $1.87 for maintenance men, $1.89 for assistant supervisor Ed Bowersock and $440 a month for Laughlin.

Over 80 per cent of the calls to City Hall from residents are concerned with streets, Laughlin says. Some of them are petty, he said, such as a report of a blocked sewer drain to which two men and a truck were dispatched only to find a little dirt which they kicked away to restore flow. Other complaints help the department locate real trouble sites.

Being summoned to work in cold rain in winter is the most distasteful part of the worker's job. But some of the staff are required to ash and salt streets in the wee hours of the icy season.

POLICE KEEP tabs on street conditions and alert Laughlin or his staff when surfaces get slick. Conditions vary in different parts of the city — two men were called out between 7 and 10 one night earlier this year when the upper third of Lisbon St. and St. Clair Ave. began to get slippery from snow and rain while lower portions were only wet.

Working daily under the eyes of a tax - conscious public brings occasional criticism that the department's employes fail to earn a full day's wages.

The workers, of course, typify any labor force in private business or government — there are men who are conscientious and hard workers and there are those who are more casual.

But often those looking upon the efforts of the street crews do not grasp the full character of the job involved.

LAUGHLIN POINTS out in many cases the nature of a task may require all the crew to be at work at one time, while at other times there is a temporary "surplus."

In brick street repairs, for example, those taking up bricks may be told to stop that work at the tag end of the afternoon so that there won't be any exposed areas which may be washed out in an overnight rain.

The street chief says criticism is often received from onlookers watching work while they are neglecting their own jobs. He admits some relief workers are reluctant to press their work, and there are some regular staffers who don't exert themselves.

BUT LAUGHLIN declares many men who have worked in area industry, such as Crucible Steel, and who have served on the street crews tell him quite sincerely they would rather have mill jobs which entail less labor.

What's on the summer work agenda? Besides the regular street maintenance and repair work, Laughlin hopes to use brick stored from 3rd St. for repairs at some intersections damaged by washouts.

Maintenance of dirt streets will take a large proportion of the summer program. "More work is done on dirt roads and streets than paved," Laughlin has said.

Residents of earth streets make more requests for repairs, and some political candidates promise more care for these trouble spots. The result is special hot weather attention to dust, ruts, washouts and mudholes — all of which could be eliminated by a paving program backed by property owners.

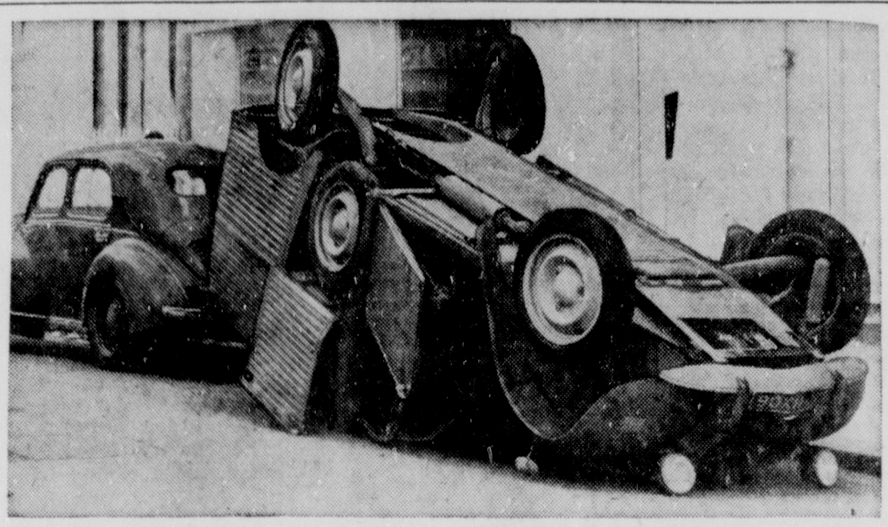
LARGE SCALE future projects Laughlin would like to tackle some day include covering the East End run which has been a problem with flooding, collecting debris and causing odors and health hazards. Laughlin says the run should be sewered with large pipe like Carpenters Run has been under the freeway project. But he declares the cost would be considerable.

Resurfacing of a number of streets with heavy blacktop asphalt is another project the street superintendent would like to see undertaken. Also, smoothing and resurfacing of 2nd St., Avondale, Minerva and some other brick streets.

Motorists, other city officials, businessmen and most residents with an interest in community development join with Laughlin in looking ahead to better streets.

But they know as well as he that the problem can be expressed very simply—in dollar signs.



HE REALLY FLIPPED. It may look like a crazy way to park, and it is. The driver was in a big hurry and didn't have time to parallel park. The freak accident happened in Nice, France. Neither the driver nor the passenger was injured.

Speaker To Address Mental Health Dinner

Dr. George T. Harding Jr., psychiatrist at the Harding Sanatarium at Worthington, will speak on "Action for Mental Health through Community Services" at the sixth annual dinner meeting of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association May 10 at the Methodist Church in Columbiana.

Mrs. J. Donald Thompson of East Liverpool is president.

Miss Alice Herriott of East Palestine is program chairman.

Those attending from this area will include Mrs. Lilyan Alpern, Mrs. Robert H. Hays and Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool, and William J. Shoub of Wellsville.

4 Hancock Students Will Tour Charleston

Four eighth graders in the Hancock County school system will visit Charleston for a tour of the capital and points of interest May 11 as winners of the annual Golden Horseshoe contest.

Ivan Howell of Newell, Paul Pattison of Chester elementary, Larry Phillips of Cove Junior High School and Ronald Musser of Weirton Broadview compiled the highest scores in a test on West Virginia history.

Twenty - four eighth graders participated, Charles McKinney, assistant county superintendent, reported.

The quartet will visit the House of Delegates, the governor's mansion, Kanawha County Airport, and be declared "Knights of the Golden Horseshoe" in receiving symbolic awards.

Fallout—What it means to you

To Build Or Not To Build

In any discussion of "bomb shelters" it is necessary to place the fallout shelter in proper perspective. There's a difference. The explosive violence of current nuclear bombs is so great that absolute protection against blast and fire resulting from their explosion is virtually impossible. Large areas surrounding the center of such an explosion would be completely destroyed. Areas somewhat farther away could be protected to some extent by deep communal shelters. What we are primarily concerned about is the threat of deadly radioactive fallout covering vast suburban and rural areas far from the center of the blast. In such areas the threat of fallout could be reduced and the destruction of practically all people prevented by fallout shelters stocked with enough food, water and medicine for two to three weeks of underground living. Ideally, we should have an organized program of shelter construction, starting with large, heavily protected shelters at the fringe area of cities, with backyard or basement shelters farther away. Such a program would call for centralized planning and adequate supervision. Those who are best qualified to speak have pointed out that the haphazard construction of shelters by individuals is basically unsound. The Dept. of Defense has made available several booklets concerning fallout and fallout shelters. In addition, various associations have developed plans for family shelters. A list of these associations will be sent to readers upon request.

DIVIDENDS FROM SPACE

The threat of war is spurring the race for space—but the greatest long-range benefits may be in your health, happiness, and home comfort

By JAMES E. WEBB Administrator, National Aeronautics and Space Administration with Theodore Irwin

James E. Webb

Editors' Note: Americans should be more aware of the importance of space exploration to their everyday lives, Mr. Webb believes. With this in mind, he will appear as main speaker at the Second National Conference on the Peaceful Uses of Space, which NASA is sponsoring May 8-10 at the Seattle World's Fair. And, to reach an even wider audience, he has written this interesting and informative article for the readers of Family Weekly.

WHEN ASTRONAUT John H. Glenn, Jr., rocketed into space and orbited the earth, his performance and reactions were monitored by miniature instruments attached to his body.

As these sensors measured his heart action, brain waves, blood pressure, and breathing rates, the information was telemetered back to earth.

At Roosevelt Hospital in New York City, doctors recently used similar sensors in a medical experiment. They attached the instruments to the bodies of critical-list patients and set up a system to monitor the devices. Shortly after the equipment was put into use, it saved the life of an accident victim who suddenly went into shock when no one was around. The monitor signaled a nurse who, in turn, summoned a heart specialist in time to revive the patient.

Soon to come are other electronic systems which will permit one nurse to keep a constant check on as many as 24 patients via remote control. A public-health official estimates that in a postoperative ward such a system could free at least four nurses on each shift for other duties and save $100,000 a year in salaries alone.

It is evident that what we are learning in space exploration will affect the lives of every one of us. Saving the accident victim at Roosevelt Hospital is but one example of many applications of space information to down-to-earth problems.

New, almost painless dental drills already have been made possible through the use of pinpoint-size bearings devised originally for satellite equipment. Miniscule batteries developed to power space devices are now being employed in electronic watches and hearing aids.

MORE DIRECTLY, through satellites themselves, we can expect far better weather prediction in the future.

Before we began to use our experimental meteorological satellites—Tiros I, II, and III—there were wide gaps in our weather knowledge. Within 60 days after Tiros III was launched, pictures transmitted from it were used to track and analyze Storm Eliza in the Pacific and Hurricane Anna in the Atlantic.

Later, in Hawaii, Tiros pictures helped trace a violent tropical storm. And in Japan, the weather-bureau chief acclaimed Tiros as opening a new era in forecasting typhoons.

Eventually, satellites will enable scientists to forecast the weather with great accuracy weeks, perhaps even months, in advance. You will know better what kind of a winter to anticipate, and whether there will be a rainy or dry spell ahead. You will be able to time your vacations for the utmost in sun or ski conditions. And promoters of fairs and outdoor sports events will be able to schedule these affairs with much less risk.

Another type of space craft—communications satellites—may permit you to watch the 1964 Olympics as they are being held in Japan or give you a box seat at the opera in Milan—without your moving from the tv set in your home.

One such satellite, Echo I, has already transmitted two-way telephone calls from New Jersey to France, reflected facsimile photos back and forth across our continent, bounced a recording over the Atlantic, and beamed letters from one state to another. Intercontinental television is likely to be next.

Today, the two transatlantic telephone cables can carry only 168 conversations at one time. New cables can be laid, of course, but one satellite could accommodate as much traffic as a half-billion-dollar cable system. Such satellites should be able to increase global message-handling capacity several thousandfold.

This year, four communications satellites are being placed in orbit for NASA's Project Relay, paving the way for a practical world-wide system of sending tv pictures and telephone messages.

RESEARCH on food for astronauts should eventually improve nutrition for all of us. Efforts to control temperatures in space vehicles should lead to cheaper ways to heat and cool your home. Research on radio transmission from satellites should produce truer hi-fi. Development of space-era materials should provide you with toasters, refrigerators, and other household equipment that are far more durable than anything on the market today.

Already, Pyroceram, a material devised to shield radar equipment in the nose cones of space vehicles, is being used to make pots and pans which can be taken safely out of a freezer and immediately placed over a hot flame.

These are only a few examples of present and near-future dividends from space. As manned-space exploration extends to the moon and unmanned devices are sent to investigate the nearer planets, we can expect countless other practical benefits from the technology developed for such deep-space expeditions.

I was just thinking...®

IT SEEMS to be the thing these days for many of us all-too-solid citizens to make a little money imparting the secret of how our flesh can melt.

So here is my diet:

I eat no bread except when my mother bakes some, which is twice a week. Each loaf lasts until baking day.

Take one large soup bowl per serving. Fill with maple-nut ice cream. Cover with milk, chocolate sauce, and chopped nuts. Stir to thick paste until mixture is consistency of malted milk. Eat steadily for 30 minutes.

Some of my friends engage in "fad" diets, such as cutting down on the intake. They swear by such foolishness as salads, cottage cheese, fruit, and lean meat. Obviously, this can lead only to malnutrition.

For breakfast, my diet includes fruit, toast, milk, bacon and eggs with coffee cake as a chaser, followed by coffee with cream.

Lunch? Spaghetti with hot muffins and a tossed salad with Roquefort dressing. Cake or pie, of course, if the restaurant chef had time to bake either.

In late afternoon I have coffee and homemade cookies. This tides me over until dinner when I feel it's time for the major meal of the day.

My doctor told me that, because of my bone structure, which is adequate for an ant but scarcely for a full-grown female, I'd probably never tip the scales much over 115 pounds. The last time I tipped the scales, the needle pointed out a figure that looked a whole lot like 124.

That same day, the head of the household peered at me and reported, "They certainly aren't making girdles like they used to."

I refused to answer on the grounds it might incriminate me. My mouth was full.

Triple Tag

By Bill Barton

One player is It. He calls out the name of a player and chases him. A third player tries to run between It and the player chased. If he does, It has to chase him and tag the player chased. If he does, It has to chase him and tag him. Still another player runs between them, and he is the one chased.

This keeps on until one is tagged and becomes It. Then a new game starts. Fun!

Princess Grace

Is She Really Happy?

By ELSA MAXWELL

Four-year-old Prince Albert poses with Mommy.

THE NEWS that Her Serene Highness, Princess Grace of Monaco, will return to Hollywood to make a movie—with Prince Rainier's complete approval—came as a great surprise, especially to their friends.

When Grace sent me word of her plans in advance of the newspaper headlines, I was frankly incredulous. For a long time, I sat staring at her cable, reading over and over the words: "Looking forward very much to doing this picture with Alfred Hitchcock."

Unquestionably, the fact that a Hitchcock production will mark her return to the screen was an influence on her decision to make another film. She always has enjoyed working with this imaginative and stimulating Englishman, who is well liked by Rainier, too. Several of her outstanding successes were made with Hitchcock: "Rear Window," "Dial M for Murder," and "To Catch a Thief."

The Princess obviously was also intrigued by the script of her new Hitchcock movie, "Marnie." It is a psychological suspense story in which she will play a working girl who is a compulsive thief until she marries a wealthy businessman and is reformed.

Obviously, it is an emotional need that brings Grace back to Hollywood—not a matter of finances, as some insisted. I have been told that Prince Rainier is on Monaco's official civil-service payroll for several million dollars a year. In addition, he has whatever wealth the Grimaldis have built up over 900 years as rulers. And, what's more, Grace has the fortune inherited from her father. In tax-free Monaco, all this should go a long way.

I suspect it was to silence all these money rumors that Grace announced she was donating the fabulous sum she will receive for "Marnie" to a charity for needy children.

There has been another rumor, too—that Prince Rainier might be considering abdication. Like any other head of state, the Prince has his political problems, but I would be amazed if he ever abdicated. He has a very strong feeling for the ancient dynasty of the Grimaldis.

No, it would seem that the reason Princess Grace is returning to Hollywood is that she and the Prince have at last so firmly established themselves as husband and wife and as rulers of Monaco that they can afford a little more freedom in their lives.

To understand this, let's go back to the grave crisis faced by Princess Grace when she, a Hollywood movie star, married Prince Rainier, playboy of the European world.

Author Elsa Maxwell chats with Princess Grace.

Palace protocol required that these gaudy images be replaced by dignified ones of a dedicated sovereign and his devoted consort. For years, it was vital that Prince Rainier and Princess Grace use the greatest discretion as to where they went, what they did, what they said, and whom they saw.

During this time, they appeared at innumerable functions, he resplendent in uniform with sash and medals, she beautiful in a Dior or Balenciaga gown. The sensitive understanding they both brought to this important job and the finesse with which they executed it should endear them forever to their ministers, their people, and their many admirers around the world.

WITHOUT DOUBT, the Prince was relieved to stay at home and settle into his job. And as Princess Grace redecorated their private apartments, supervised menus, and made frequent trips to the kitchen and the housekeeping departments, the ancient Palace of Monaco began to change from a gloomy pile of stone to a warm, bright, lived-in home.

Their greatest salvation has been their love for each other. Many times I've caught them holding hands beneath the table. This remarkable attraction brought excitement to whatever they did. Working together brought them a closeness they might never have achieved in any other way.

Wherever they went, whatever they did, Grace was every inch the princess—far more a princess, I must say, than many who are born to this high estate. And Rainier, slimmer as a result of menus carefully planned with his girth in mind,

Our neighbors are not, I can report,
The keeping-up-with-the-Joneses sort.
If we invest in a portable grill,
A new power mower, or what you will,
Do they start gnashing their teeth and dash
To buy one like it for good hard cash?
The answer, as I have said, is no—
They borrow ours and save the dough!

A woman stepped aboard a bus and immediately started pestering the driver about a certain street. "Now are you sure this bus stops at Tulip Terrace?" she demanded.

"Yes, ma'am," the driver replied.

But in a few moments, the woman repeated the question—and again and again. Finally, she asked: "But how will I know when we get to Tulip Terrace?"

"Just watch my face," the driver said. "You'll be able to tell by my smile." —Emil Berger

"You'd better go out and wake up your father—that's the second bus he missed this morning."

With a sigh of exasperation, the mother looked at the kitchen door. It was a mass of finger smudges—tiny finger smudges. She called together her three little ones and demanded to know whose dirty hands had marred the door.

"Was it you, Teddy?" she demanded. "You've been in and out all day and just look at your hands."

"Oh, those can't be my finger marks," Teddy replied. "I always kick the door open!" —A. T. Quigg

The office worker had been despondent all day, and his coworker asked what the trouble was. "It's my wife," he replied. "She has to appear in traffic court today."

"Not again!" the coworker said. "I thought when she was there the last time the judge warned her that she'd broken every rule in the book and advised her to sell the car. Why didn't she?"

"Oh, she sold the car," the husband sighed, "but now she's in for jaywalking." —F. G. Kernan

Grace in Hitchcock's "To Catch a Thief."

became more and more the handsome prince.

Much of what they worked for in those first years is now a reality: the railroad tunnel through the hills, the priceless addition of 22 acres of land built with fill from the tunnel, new public utilities and communications, and the motor races and regatta which cater to the tourism upon which Monaco depends.

In January, 1957, when Princess Caroline Louise Marguerite was born, the joy of the citizens of Monaco was great. She was their assurance that the House of Grimaldi would continue to rule, that they would not be absorbed by France and become subject to French income tax and military service.

Then in March, 1958, there was more joyful news. A 101-gun salute proclaimed the birth of a new heir, Prince Albert Alexandre Louis Pierre. Yes, the image of Rainier and Grace as wise rulers and a happy, home-loving couple had been successfully created.

I thought of all these things one night last summer when Their Serene Highnesses were my guests at the fancy-dress dinner party I gave to celebrate the opening of the indoor pool at the Hôtel de Paris. Prince Rainier arrived looking unlike any prince I'd ever seen. His heavy hair was covered by an artificial bald pate, and he wore a fierce black mustache. Princess Grace came in a rubber mask with big fat cheeks and thick braids under a floppy straw hat. She wore skin-diving flippers, and both dived and swam like joyful porpoises.

Certainly no hostess could ask for two gayer or more appreciative guests than the couple from the palace. I'm convinced that only those who are happy within themselves and with each other ever offer such warm response. It was obvious then that they were confident in their roles and able to unbend for the first time since their marriage.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE of their new zest for life occurred one night in Palma when we improvised a band. Maria Callas shook the maracas. Prince Rainier beat the drums. I played the piano. Aristotle Onassis sang French and Italian love songs. And Princess Grace led all of us with the greatest enthusiasm.

The next day at the Plaza de Toros, Rainier entered the bull ring, and the Princess applauded with the rest of us. But her hands flew to her face when her husband actually approached the bull. "Oh my!" she whispered. "Oh, no! Oh, don't go near him! Oh!"

The story of Prince Rainier and Princess Grace could well be the theme of a psychological novel. He was a lonely child. Princess Charlotte of Monaco and Pierre de Polignac, his parents, separated when he was a little boy. He was brought became more and more the handsome prince.

Much of what they worked for in those first years is now a reality: the railroad tunnel through the hills, the priceless addition of 22 acres of land built with fill from the tunnel, new public utilities and communications, and the motor races and regatta which cater to the tourism upon which Monaco depends.

In January, 1957, when Princess Caroline Louise Marguerite was born, the joy of the citizens of Monaco was great. She was their assurance that the House of Grimaldi would continue to rule, that they would not be absorbed by France and become subject to French income tax and military service.

Then in March, 1958, there was more joyful news. A 101-gun salute proclaimed the birth of a new heir, Prince Albert Alexandre Louis Pierre. Yes, the image of Rainier and Grace as wise rulers and a happy, home-loving couple had been successfully created.

I thought of all these things one night last summer when Their Serene Highnesses were my guests at the fancy-dress dinner party I gave to celebrate the opening of the indoor pool at the Hôtel de Paris. Prince Rainier arrived looking unlike any prince I'd ever seen. His heavy hair was covered by an artificial bald pate, and he wore a fierce black mustache. Princess Grace came in a rubber mask with big fat cheeks and thick braids under a floppy straw hat. She wore skin-diving flippers, and both dived and swam like joyful porpoises.

Certainly no hostess could ask for two gayer or more appreciative guests than the couple from the palace. I'm convinced that only those who are happy within themselves and with each other ever offer such warm response. It was obvious then that they were confident in their roles and able to unbend for the first time since their marriage.

STROKES

A lean, good-natured Californian, Dr. Kuhn for almost a decade has practiced and taught in the New York metropolitan area from a Morristown, N. J., base. By flying his own airplane, he also spreads the gospel of accurate diagnosis and surgical repair in stroke and other brain-damage situations to such places as Omaha, El Paso, Miami, San Francisco, and Mexico City.

FOR ANGIOGRAPHY, Dr. Kuhn prefers his own variation of a method which British physicians have used without ill effect on 1,800 outpatients with stroke symptoms.

The doctor injects a dye solution into the patient's blood stream. Since the solution resists penetration from X rays, it defines the brain's blood-supply routes sharply on X-ray film. During the six seconds the dye is coursing through the brain, the X-ray machine shoots a rapid-fire series of pictures to get as complete a view of its blood vessels as possible. That way, even the smallest trouble-making abnormality inside them shows up, too.

The dye itself is completely harmless. It causes only a mild feeling of warmth that comes and goes in seconds.

Many doctors still inject the dye directly into the neck arteries, under local anesthetics. Dr. Kuhn has perfected a more comprehensive method that is less awkward for doctor and patient alike. He makes a tiny incision inside the upper part of the arm, slips a small dye gun he invented into the artery of the arm, and injects the fluid. He thus gets a complete picture of the brain's blood supply from just above the heart on up.

In his recent book, "New Hope for Stroke Victims" (Appleton-Century-Crofts, 1960), Dr. Kuhn says: "I am convinced that regional stroke centers should be set up during the next few years with the sole purpose of devoting their facilities to the urgent problems of diseases that affect the blood vessels of the brain. The dimensions of the task are staggering, but it must be tackled."

He himself, cheerfully unstaggered, has just launched a research foundation to get the ball rolling.

up by nurses until he could be shipped off to schools in England, France, and Switzerland. No child with this background could escape the psychic scars which come from feeling unloved and unwanted.

Grace had the same childhood problem, although in completely different circumstances. She grew up surrounded by a healthy, athletic family. But she was neither healthy nor athletic. Nor was she as attractive as the rest of her family. So she retreated into herself while the other Kellys made their boisterous way around her.

Her drive to get ahead as a model and actress was her compensation, just as the Prince's love affairs, deep-sea diving, and gambling were his. Yet they remained two lonely human beings until they met and fell in love.

THERE IS no lack of affection between this couple and their children. How Princess Grace adores them! One day, watching Prince Albert and Princess Caroline dog paddling in the palace pool, she turned to me and said, "I'm so blessed, Elsa. I have a healthy, happy husband and children. That's the most precious thing any woman can have."

When Grace arrives in the United States this July, both Prince Rainier and the children will be with her. They plan to lease a house, either in Beverly Hills or Bel Air.

It will be a delicate undertaking for Grace to make this movie and return to Monaco without harming the princess image she so skillfully created.

But I have no doubt she has already figured exactly how she is going to handle the radical step she has chosen. And I know no one with a greater sense of public relations or a finer knowledge of what will and will not please her husband's subjects—and her own fans.

name is cerebrovascular angiography—a medical jawbreaker for "brain blood-vessel pictures."

Following the accurate diagnoses which angiography makes possible, today's brain specialists bring people back from the brink of death, or worse, the living death of uselessness—by judiciously combining (1) improved anticoagulants to keep blood from clotting, (2) amazing new chemicals that actually dissolve blood clots when they have formed and caused a stroke, and (3) something heretofore unheard of in stroke cases: routine surgery.

ONE OF THE most valuable discoveries to emerge from this all-out assault on our biggest killer of people in the prime of life is that, in at least 10 percent of stroke victims, the blockage of blood supply to the brain occurs not in the brain itself but in the neck!

A fatty growth called an atheromatous plaque—cause unknown—narrows one or more of the four neck arteries through which the brain receives its enormous requirements of blood (20 percent of the body's total supply, or a complete change of freshly oxygenated blood from the lungs and heart every six seconds). You can feel this surge of blood in the two arteries which rise on either side of the neck below and forward of the ear. The other pair, called vertebrals, hug the spinal column.

Since all four are easier to get at than the brain itself, skilled surgeons can now safely remove fatty plugs from these arteries to restore mind and body function in people whose condition was formerly thought to be hopeless.

There is growing support for the view that many cases of "second childhood" in oldsters stem from fat-plugged neck arteries. When Grandpa starts acting foolish, it simply may be a sign that his brain is not getting enough blood. In such cases his family may find that by persuading him to let a doctor investigate for blockages in his neck arteries—the site where they occur most commonly—they have given him a chance to enjoy his sunset years in full possession of his faculties.

How does a doctor "investigate neck arteries"? Laymen seldom see surgery, but for more than a year I have regularly had the privilege of watching Dr. Kuhn, a pioneer in this field, perform his miracles on the ailing human brain with a dye gun and a scalpel.

DOCTOR-RECOMMENDED BULK STIMULANT CORRECTS "AFTER 45" IRREGULARITY!

Let's face it. After middle age, many of us depend more and more on outside aid to keep ourselves "on schedule." Strong drug laxatives may bring only temporary relief at best, and continued use can be dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for "over 45's." SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk so essential to normal bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus important Vitamin B_1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

Biggest Killer at Bay

Strokes still take a huge death toll—but the invisible fingers of X rays and the skilled hands of surgeons are switching the odds in the patients' favor

By JAMES C. G. CONNIFF

RECENTLY I stood at the bedside of a New Jersey mother of seven small children, watched her smile, heard her speak, and saw her raise her hand in greeting.

Not long before, she had been in a coma for almost two weeks, the victim of a stroke that had cut down the flow of blood to her brain.

I had held my breath at the climax of the operation when Dr. Robert A. Kuhn, a brain surgeon, had lifted a yellow plug of fat from the woman's neck and handed it to me on gauze.

It was as hard to the touch as a nut kernel, which it resembled. The blood flow which pulsed through the now-sutured artery to awaken her brain had not been able to get past it. Left there, it would have killed her.

The joy on her face made me realize the importance of the fight being waged against strokes by men like Dr. Kuhn.

Less than a decade ago, this mother and scores of persons like her would have died. But now medical genius has learned to probe with scalpels and with fingers of invisible light into the dark and delicate kingdom of the brain. As a result, damage to this complex organ is no longer a disaster which we can do little or nothing about—but an often repairable, sometimes even preventable, illness.

As commonly used, "stroke" is a catchall term. Under it are lumped a large number of brain-damage problems resulting from the interruption of the supply of blood to that organ.

These illnesses strike persons of all ages. But the statistics are most spectacular for men and women between 25 and 44. In this age group, strokes are the nation's No. 1 killer, the U. S. Public Health Service reports.

At least 200,000 Americans die of strokes each year. Those are the diagnosed cases. But medical men themselves think that undiagnosed stroke deaths may easily be three to four times that number.

Then there are also those who are dragging out their lives on their backs or in wheel chairs, often unable to speak or see or move a limb to help themselves. They are the more than 2,000,000 stroke victims who—depending on how you look at it—were lucky and survived.

Today, this picture is rapidly changing. Stroke survivors and potential stroke victims alike can take heart from good news which has crystallized only in the past five to eight years. The hopeful message: neither the slow build-up of stroke symptoms nor the sudden disabling interruption of blood supply to some part of the brain necessarily means the onset of doom. Odds against having to spend the rest of one's life after a stroke as a vegetating cripple are definitely on the upturn.

THE REASON is that no stroke need any longer go undiagnosed—and hence untreated. Doctors have learned that when a stroke occurs these days, they do not have to "wait and see" while their patients' brain damage becomes irreversible. For the first time, they can call in specialists to find out (1) exactly what went wrong and (2) precisely where in the brain's blood-supply system it happened. Guided by this sure knowledge, medical science can take specific remedial action.

The diagnostic tool which eliminates guesswork in stroke cases is a simple new application of the familiar X ray. Its

Let's face it. After middle age, many of us depend more and more on outside aid to keep ourselves "on schedule." Strong drug laxatives may bring only temporary relief at best, and continued use can be dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for "over 45's." SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk so essential to normal bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus important Vitamin B_1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

Biggest Killer at Bay

Strokes still take a huge death toll—but the invisible fingers of X rays and the skilled hands of surgeons are switching the odds in the patients' favor

By JAMES C. G. CONNIFF

RECENTLY I stood at the bedside of a New Jersey mother of seven small children, watched her smile, heard her speak, and saw her raise her hand in greeting.

Not long before, she had been in a coma for almost two weeks, the victim of a stroke that had cut down the flow of blood to her brain.

I had held my breath at the climax of the operation when Dr. Robert A. Kuhn, a brain surgeon, had lifted a yellow plug of fat from the woman's neck and handed it to me on gauze.

It was as hard to the touch as a nut kernel, which it resembled. The blood flow which pulsed through the now-sutured artery to awaken her brain had not been able to get past it. Left there, it would have killed her.

The joy on her face made me realize the importance of the fight being waged against strokes by men like Dr. Kuhn.

Less than a decade ago, this mother and scores of persons like her would have died. But now medical genius has learned to probe with scalpels and with fingers of invisible light into the dark and delicate kingdom of the brain. As a result, damage to this complex organ is no longer a disaster which we can do little or nothing about—but an often repairable, sometimes even preventable, illness.

As commonly used, "stroke" is a catchall term. Under it are lumped a large number of brain-damage problems resulting from the interruption of the supply of blood to that organ.

Shimmering Strawberry Salad

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN.
TO CHILL: 4-6 HRS.

- 1 6-oz. pkg. strawberry-flavored gelatin
- 1½ cups very hot water
- 2 7-oz. bottles lemon-lime carbonated beverage
- 1 pt. fresh strawberries
- ⅓ cup sugar

1. Lightly oil a 2-qt. fancy tubed mold with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil); set aside to drain.

2. Pour the hot water over gelatin in a bowl and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved.

3. Stir in the carbonated beverage. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than consistency of thick, unbeaten egg white. If chilled over ice and water, stir frequently; if chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally.

4. Meanwhile, rinse and hull strawberries (cut lengthwise in half, if large); sprinkle with sugar and set strawberries aside.

5. When gelatin is of desired consistency, fold in the berries; spoon into mold and chill until salad is firm, about 4 to 6 hrs.

6. To serve, unmold onto a chilled serving plate and garnish with curly endive and additional strawberries.

About 10 servings

Note: If desired, nut-coated cream cheese balls may be added to the salad. Soften 1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese; shape into ½-in. balls and roll in finely chopped walnuts (about ¾ cup). Arrange 5 to 6 balls in bottom of mold; spoon enough of the slightly thickened gelatin mixture into mold to cover cheese balls. Continue layering with remaining balls and gelatin mixture. Chill until firm.

Green Bean-Mushroom Medley

- 2 9-oz. pkgs. frozen cut green beans
- 1 8-oz. can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Few grains freshly ground black pepper
- 1 teaspoon crushed savory leaves

1. Heat butter in a saucepan; add mushrooms and onion and cook until mushrooms are lightly browned, stirring occasionally.

2. Add remaining ingredients. Cook over high heat 1 min. (break frozen blocks apart with a fork as they thaw); reduce heat to low, cover, and cook 12 to 15 min., or until beans are just tender. About 8 servings

Roast Leg of Lamb

Accentuate spring with the greens of asparagus, dill sauce, and green beans —overlap thin slices of lamb down the center of each plate, top with sauce, and arrange the green vegetables on each side. Garnish with a mashed potato rosette.

TO PREPARE: 5 MIN.

- Melted butter

1. Do not remove fell (thin papery covering). Rub lamb with a mixture of the salt, Accent, and black pepper.

2. Place lamb, skin side down, on rack in a shallow roasting pan and brush surface with melted butter.

3. Insert roast meat thermometer in center of thickest part of meat, being sure that bulb does not rest on bone or in fat.

4. Roast lamb, uncovered, at 300°F 2½ to 3½ hrs., allowing 30 to 35 min. per pound. Brush surface with melted butter frequently during roasting. Meat is medium done when thermometer registers 175°F and well done at 180°F.

Cold, Moisture Damage Streets

By GLENN WAIGHT

The culprits are cold and moisture.

Third In A Series

damage annually in East Liverpool, speeding depreciation of cars and trucks and straining the patience of driver and street worker alike.

Surface water or condensed moisture seeps into pores or tiny cracks in the road surface or between blacktop or cement and the hard ground or brick beneath. As the mercury dips, freezing expands the moisture and the material buckles and crumbles.

OR WATER softens the soil under streets without a drainage base, heavy traffic presses the blacktop down or pressures heave the surface up, and the damage is done.

Either way, the result is a hump or a tire-twisting, axle - bashing "chuck hole," another demand for street labor, another cause of complaint.

The long endured plague of holes and heaved bricks on St. Clair Ave. is to be eased with the planned improvement north of Princeton Ave., slated to begin early this fall. Installation of a drainage system and resurfacing should be a significant improvement in the city's street system.

The average motorist considers the chuck hole an affront to his wheeled civilization and inevitably berates the city administration, street supervisor and each street worker for not having repaired the hole in the street on which he travels.

Of the city's 181 employes, 25 are in the street department, headed by W. M. (Wib) Laughlin, 63, a slender, ruddy-faced veteran of 28 years in street and road work.

THE STREET department's problems are seasonal, ranging from the ever-needed repairs and maintenance to cleaning and snow and ice removal.

Laughlin, superintendent for five years, says blacktop causes the most trouble in repair work, having more chuck holes than cement or brick. The superintendent began to work for the city in 1934, was employed for two years with the county highway staff, then returned to the street department in 1940.

Center of operations is the deteriorating former West Side fire station on Lisbon St. hill at W. 9th St., built in 1907. Repairs of trucks and other equipment are conducted on the main floor where various tools and items are also stored.

Ashes are stored in a section of the old bus barn in the East End, where a truck is also kept, along with other equipment. Blacktop material and the city oil distributor are stored at the pumping station in the East End.

The department's heavier equipment includes a patch roller, two graders, a mechanical sweeper—bought new in 1954 and showing its age — a tractor loader (or "high - lift"), four pickup trucks —two used exclusively by the supervisor and his aide — and five dump trucks.

ONE OF THE dump trucks is converted in winter to a hopper ash spreader truck, and is not used again as a regular truck until spring, because conversion requires two days' work, Laughlin said.

The street crew shares an air compressor with the water department.

Two new trucks are to be ordered for the department, replacing two older trucks. But the department head says a third truck is really needed.

Laughlin is also interested in obtaining two new ash spreaders and says the city needs a snow plow — the present plow, obtained a number of years ago, has not been used becuase it is too heavy for use with the present trucks—a five-ton truck would be needed for it. A new street sweeper is also on the "wanted" list.

THE PRESENT sweeper is in operation six days a week, dependent on weather conditions, and a schedule is followed. The machine operates in the business section two nights a week, Laughlin said, and elsewhere in the city during the other days.

In past years, the street department has ranged from 18 to 40 men, depending upon the funds available and the political attitudes at City Hall.

Present wage scales are $1.68 hourly for laborers, $1.74 for truck drivers, $1.87 for maintenance men, $1.89 for assistant supervisor Ed Bowersock and $440 a month for Laughlin.

Over 80 per cent of the calls to City Hall from residents are concerned with streets, Laughlin says. Some of them are petty, he said, such as a report of a blocked sewer drain to which two men and a truck were dispatched only to find a little dirt which they kicked away to restore flow. Other complaints help the department locate real trouble sites.

Being summoned to work in cold rain in winter is the most distasteful part of the worker's job. But some of the staff are required to ash and salt streets in the wee hours of the icy season.

POLICE KEEP tabs on street conditions and alert Laughlin or his staff when surfaces get slick. Conditions vary in different parts of the city — two men were called out between 7 and 10 one night earlier this year when the upper third of Lisbon St. and St. Clair Ave. began to get slippery from snow and rain while lower portions were only wet.

Working daily under the eyes of a tax - conscious public brings occasional criticism that the department's employes fail to earn a full day's wages.

The workers, of course, typify any labor force in private business or government — there are men who are conscientious and hard workers and there are those who are more casual.

But often those looking upon the efforts of the street crews do not grasp the full character of the job involved.

LAUGHLIN POINTS out in many cases the nature of a task may require all the crew to be at work at one time, while at other times there is a temporary "surplus."

In brick street repairs, for example, those taking up bricks may be told to stop that work at the tag end of the afternoon so that there won't be any exposed areas which may be washed out in an overnight rain.

The street chief says criticism is often received from onlookers watching work while they are neglecting their own jobs. He admits some relief workers are reluctant to press their work, and there are some regular staffers who don't exert themselves.

BUT LAUGHLIN declares many men who have worked in area industry, such as Crucible Steel, and who have served on the street crews tell him quite sincerely they would rather have mill jobs which entail less labor.

What's on the summer work agenda? Besides the regular street maintenance and repair work, Laughlin hopes to use brick stored from 3rd St. for repairs at some intersections damaged by washouts.

Maintenance of dirt streets will take a large proportion of the summer program. "More work is done on dirt roads and streets than paved," Laughlin has said.

Residents of earth streets make more requests for repairs, and some political candidates promise more care for these trouble spots. The result is special hot weather attention to dust, ruts, washouts and mudholes — all of which could be eliminated by a paving program backed by property owners.

LARGE SCALE future projects Laughlin would like to tackle some day include covering the East End run which has been a problem with flooding, collecting debris and causing odors and health hazards. Laughlin says the run should be sewered with large pipe like Carpenters Run has been under the freeway project. But he declares the cost would be considerable.

Resurfacing of a number of streets with heavy blacktop asphalt is another project the street superintendent would like to see undertaken. Also, smoothing and resurfacing of 2nd St., Avondale, Minerva and some other brick streets.

Motorists, other city officials, businessmen and most residents with an interest in community development join with Laughlin in looking ahead to better streets.

But they know as well as he that the problem can be expressed very simply—in dollar signs.

Fallout—What it means to you

To Build Or Not To Build

In any discussion of "bomb shelters" it is necessary to place the fallout shelter in proper perspective. There's a difference. The explosive violence of current nuclear bombs is so great that absolute protection against blast and fire resulting from their explosion is virtually impossible. Large areas surrounding the center of such an explosion would be completely destroyed. Areas somewhat farther away could be protected to some extent by deep communal shelters. What we are primarily concerned about is the threat of deadly radioactive fallout covering vast suburban and rural areas far from the center of the blast. In such areas the threat of fallout could be reduced and the destruction of practically all people prevented by fallout shelters stocked with enough food, water and medicine for two to three weeks of underground living. Ideally, we should have an organized program of shelter construction, starting with large, heavily protected shelters at the fringe area of cities, with backyard or basement shelters farther away. Such a program would call for centralized planning and adequate supervision. Those who are best qualified to speak have pointed out that the haphazard construction of shelters by individuals is basically unsound. The Dept. of Defense has made available several booklets concerning fallout and fallout shelters. In addition, various associations have developed plans for family shelters. A list of these associations will be sent to readers upon request.

Q. The skin under both my eyes is quite dark. Is there any way to bleach the skin in this area?

A. The skilful use of a cosmetic preparation would probably be best. Commercial products for just such purposes are available.

Q. Does a virus cause intestinal flu?

A. Probably, but intestinal flu is not a form of virus influenza. The term is usually used to describe a disorder consisting of stomach and intestinal upset with influenza-like symptoms of fever, headache, and muscle aches and pains. Recent investigations point to adenoviruses as possible causative agents in "intestinal flu."

Q. Is garlic helpful in clearing up bronchitis?

A. The shortest answer to this question is, "No."

By GLENN WAIGHT

The culprits are cold and moisture.

Third In A Series

damage annually in East Liverpool, speeding depreciation of cars and trucks and straining the patience of driver and street worker alike.

Surface water or condensed moisture seeps into pores or tiny cracks in the road surface or between blacktop or cement and the hard ground or brick beneath. As the mercury dips, freezing expands the moisture and the material buckles and crumbles.

OR WATER softens the soil under streets without a drainage base, heavy traffic presses the blacktop down or pressures heave the surface up, and the damage is done.

Either way, the result is a hump or a tire-twisting, axle - bashing "chuck hole," another demand for street labor, another cause of complaint.

The long endured plague of holes and heaved bricks on St. Clair Ave. is to be eased with the planned improvement north of Princeton Ave., slated to begin early this fall. Installation of a drainage system and resurfacing should be a significant improvement in the city's street system.

The average motorist considers the chuck hole an affront to his wheeled civilization and inevitably berates the city administration, street supervisor and each street worker for not having repaired the hole in the street on which he travels.

Of the city's 181 employes, 25 are in the street department, headed by W. M. (Wib) Laughlin, 63, a slender, ruddy-faced veteran of 28 years in street and road work.

THE STREET department's problems are seasonal, ranging from the ever-needed repairs and maintenance to cleaning and snow and ice removal.

Laughlin, superintendent for five years, says blacktop causes the most trouble in repair work, having more chuck holes than cement or brick. The superintendent began to work for the city in 1934, was employed for two years with the county highway staff, then returned to the street department in 1940.

Center of operations is the deteriorating former West Side fire station on Lisbon St. hill at W. 9th St., built in 1907. Repairs of trucks and other equipment are conducted on the main floor where various tools and items are also stored.

Ashes are stored in a section of the old bus barn in the East End, where a truck is also kept, along with other equipment. Blacktop material and the city oil distributor are stored at the pumping station in the East End.

The department's heavier equipment includes a patch roller, two graders, a mechanical sweeper—bought new in 1954 and showing its age — a tractor loader (or "high - lift"), four pickup trucks —two used exclusively by the supervisor and his aide — and five dump trucks.

ONE OF THE dump trucks is converted in winter to a hopper ash spreader truck, and is not used again as a regular truck until spring, because conversion requires two days' work, Laughlin said.

The street crew shares an air compressor with the water department.

Two new trucks are to be ordered for the department, replacing two older trucks. But the department head says a third truck is really needed.

Laughlin is also interested in obtaining two new ash spreaders and says the city needs a snow plow — the present plow, obtained a number of years ago, has not been used becuase it is too heavy for use with the present trucks—a five-ton truck would be needed for it. A new street sweeper is also on the "wanted" list.

THE PRESENT sweeper is in operation six days a week, dependent on weather conditions, and a schedule is followed. The machine operates in the business section two nights a week, Laughlin said, and elsewhere in the city during the other days.

In past years, the street department has ranged from 18 to 40 men, depending upon the funds available and the political attitudes at City Hall.

Present wage scales are $1.68 hourly for laborers, $1.74 for truck drivers, $1.87 for maintenance men, $1.89 for assistant supervisor Ed Bowersock and $440 a month for Laughlin.

Over 80 per cent of the calls to City Hall from residents are concerned with streets, Laughlin says. Some of them are petty, he said, such as a report of a blocked sewer drain to which two men and a truck were dispatched only to find a little dirt which they kicked away to restore flow. Other complaints help the department locate real trouble sites.

Being summoned to work in cold rain in winter is the most distasteful part of the worker's job. But some of the staff are required to ash and salt streets in the wee hours of the icy season.

POLICE KEEP tabs on street conditions and alert Laughlin or his staff when surfaces get slick. Conditions vary in different parts of the city — two men were called out between 7 and 10 one night earlier this year when the upper third of Lisbon St. and St. Clair Ave. began to get slippery from snow and rain while lower portions were only wet.

Working daily under the eyes of a tax - conscious public brings occasional criticism that the department's employes fail to earn a full day's wages.

The workers, of course, typify any labor force in private business or government — there are men who are conscientious and hard workers and there are those who are more casual.

But often those looking upon the efforts of the street crews do not grasp the full character of the job involved.

LAUGHLIN POINTS out in many cases the nature of a task may require all the crew to be at work at one time, while at other times there is a temporary "surplus."

In brick street repairs, for example, those taking up bricks may be told to stop that work at the tag end of the afternoon so that there won't be any exposed areas which may be washed out in an overnight rain.

The street chief says criticism is often received from onlookers watching work while they are neglecting their own jobs. He admits some relief workers are reluctant to press their work, and there are some regular staffers who don't exert themselves.

BUT LAUGHLIN declares many men who have worked in area industry, such as Crucible Steel, and who have served on the street crews tell him quite sincerely they would rather have mill jobs which entail less labor.

What's on the summer work agenda? Besides the regular street maintenance and repair work, Laughlin hopes to use brick stored from 3rd St. for repairs at some intersections damaged by washouts.

Maintenance of dirt streets will take a large proportion of the summer program. "More work is done on dirt roads and streets than paved," Laughlin has said.

Residents of earth streets make more requests for repairs, and some political candidates promise more care for these trouble spots. The result is special hot weather attention to dust, ruts, washouts and mudholes — all of which could be eliminated by a paving program backed by property owners.

LARGE SCALE future projects Laughlin would like to tackle some day include covering the East End run which has been a problem with flooding, collecting debris and causing odors and health hazards. Laughlin says the run should be sewered with large pipe like Carpenters Run has been under the freeway project. But he declares the cost would be considerable.

Mincher, Allen Drive Home 7 Runs In Twins 8-4 Win

Buzhardt Sets Yanks Down On Neat 5-Hitter, 1-0

Bernie Allen of East Liverpool clouted his second major league home run Thursday and it proved to be his most important hit of his young career as it triggered the Minnesota Twins to an 8-4 decision over the Baltimore Orioles.

Teammate Don Mincher, the rookie first baseman, blasted his second grand slam home run of the season in the first inning to give the Twins a 4-0 lead at Minneapolis, but the Orioles bounced back with three runs in the second inning to make it tight.

Allen's blast came in the third inning with two teammates on base. Pitcher Jack Kralick also homered in the same inning to give the Twins an 8-3 coasting edge.

Kralick, now 1-2 for the season, was the winner with some help from Ray Moore in the ninth inning. Milt Pappas (2-1) was the loser.

The home run was Allen's only hit in four trips. He also was charged with an error in yesterday's contest, his first in 17 major league games.

John Buzhardt, streak-snapper, also is quite a show-stopper.

The Chicago White Sox righthander stopped the show Thursday night, baffling the New York Yankees for a 1-0, five-hit victory and adding to his reputation as a streak-breaker by cutting off the American League leaders' victory string at seven games.

Buzhardt, 25, whose major achievement in four previous seasons had been the triumph that snapped Philadelphia's 23-game losing skein during the 1961 campaign, brought his record to 4-1 with his fourth consecutive win for the White Sox.

While Buzhardt was blanking the Yanks and lowering his earned run average for the last four games to a remarkable 1.32, the White Sox managed only six hits off Whitey Ford and Marshall Bridges. But Jim Landis accounted for the game-winner with his sixth homer, in the fourth inning.

Elsewhere in the AL, Norm Siebern's foul fly drove in the winning run as Kansas City knocked off Detroit, 6-4, and Boston ended a five-game losing string by beating Washington 7-4. Cleveland and Los Angeles were not scheduled.

Buzhardt struck out three, walked only one and had little trouble with the Yankees powerful line-up except for rookie shortstop Tom Tresh, who stroked a single and double. Buzhardt also snapped another streak by ending Bobby Richardson's 17-game hitting string. Ford (2-1) allowed four hits in seven innings and Bridges permitted two.

Siebern, who got the A's rolling with a two-run homer in the first, knocked in another run in the fifth with a single before delivering a long foul in the seventh that snapped a 4-4 tie when Bobby Del-Greco scampered home from third after the catch. The win went to Diego Segui (2-0). Rookie Doug Gallagher (0-2) lost it despite home runs by Norm Cash and Billy Bruton.

Home runs by Ed Bressoud and Jim Pagliaroni plus three runs batted in by Pete Runnels with three singles paced the Red Sox against the Senators, who lost their 14th in 15 games. Bill Monbouquette (2-2) needed Dick Radatz' ninth relief held to nail the victory. The loser was rookie Jim Hannon (0-2).

73,811 Seats, But No Fans . . .

This writer hadn't been to Cleveland for several years until last Saturday. The biggest shock we received was to see only about 7,000 fans in the spacious Municipal Stadium. The big horseshoe affair can seat 73,811.

The paid attendance Saturday was 2,747. It was Ladies Day and there also were several thousand youngsters on hand as guests.

During four days at Cleveland, only some 28,000 fans have turned out for games with the Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles. Paid attendance for the Angels game Tuesday night was 3,594.

We have fond memories of the Boudreau-Gordon-Keltner era and the great pitching staff, which included Feller, Lemon, Wynn, etc.

We never had been to Cleveland before when the stands weren't at least half filled. Saturday you could have shot off a cannon in the ballpark and not hit anyone.

Going into last weekend, the Indians were in first place. And fans can't ask for anything better than that. We hope the backing picks up. Several years ago rumors were strong that professional baseball might leave Cleveland. We don't want to see it come to that.

Attendance Sunday was 10,631, while last Friday night's game with the Twins drew 12,050.

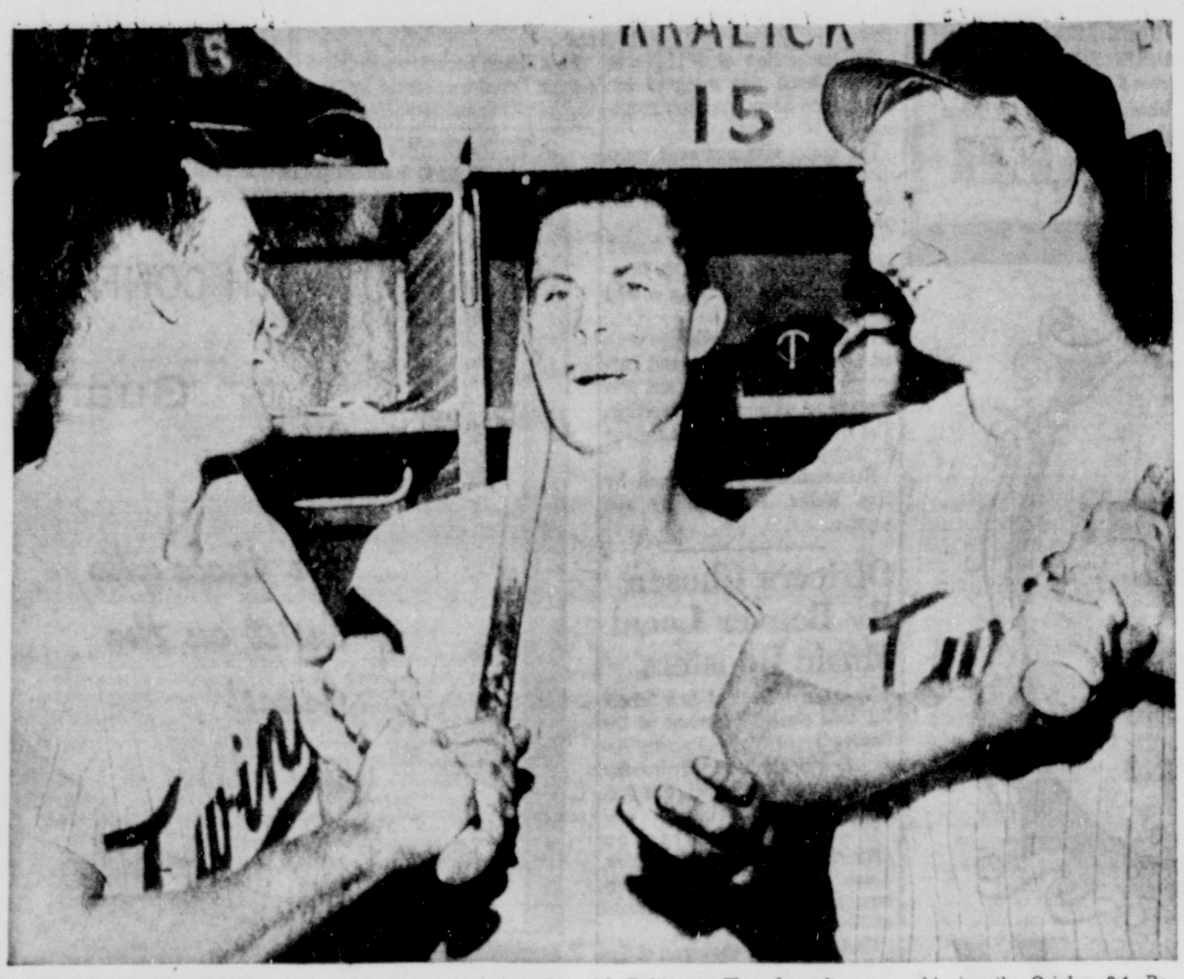
Allen, Teammates Whoop It Up



THE MINNESOTA TWINS took the rubber game of their series with Baltimore Thursday afternoon, whipping the Orioles, 8-4. Responsible for the victory were, left-to-right: second baseman Bernie Allen, who hit a three-run homer in the third inning for his second of the year, extending his hitting streak to eight games; Jack Kralick, who not only pitched his way to his first victory of the season but homered after Allen, and Don Mincher who clouted his second grand slammer of the season. Simmons Notches 4th Over Colts

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Granted the St. Louis Cardinals were given a chance in the National League race this year, But who ever thought a longshot like Curt Simmons would be a big factor in keeping them in the picture?

Simmons, 32, Thursday night pitched the Cards to a 4-0 victory over Houston's Colts. He spaced seven hits for his fourth win in four starts—all complete games. St. Louis managed just four hits against rookie Dave Giusti (0-3) and Dick Farrell, but they included Bill White's two-run homer, Curt Flood's solo homer and a run-scoring double by Ken Boyer.

In the NL's only other game, Philadelphia nipped Milwaukee 9-8 on Clay Dalrymple's ninth inning single.

Simmons, a star member of St. Louis' front-line pitching corps, has compiled impressive figures this year—25 hits and five walks in 36 innings, and an earned run average of 1.25.

Thursday night against Houston, Simmons didn't allow more than one hit an inning. White gave him some breathing room with the homer in the first. Flood connected in the third, and the Colts were dealt another tough setback.

Jumping on losing reliever Harvey Haddix (1-1) in the eighth, the Giants broke a 4-4 tie on an error and singles by Jim Davenport and Chuck Hiller. Willie Mays delivered two more when he doubled for his third hit of the day, and Orlando Cepeda brought in Mays with a single.

Pittsburgh counted two-run homers by Dick Schofield and Larry Elliot among the five hits they got off Jack Sanford (3-1). The Giants peppered four Buc pitchers for 16.

Dalrymple ended the wild one between the Phils and Braves with a single to center in the last of the ninth, sending John Callison home from second. Hank Aaron hit two homers, a triple and a double. His second homer came in the ninth with one on, heisting the Braves into a 8-8 tie.

But the Phils lost little time against Milwaukee's fifth pitcher, Hank Fischer (0-1), in their half of the ninth. Callison led off with a walk, Jacke Davis moved him along with a sacrifice try that went for a single past third, and Dalrymple followed with his game-winner on a 3-2 pitch.

In 87-31 Decision

EL Runners Outdistance United For 3rd Victory

Coach Bob Hedmond's Potter thinclads had little trouble picking up their third victory in five starts this season with an overwhelming 87-31 decision over United Thursday afternoon at Patterson Field.

East Liverpool wound up with 11 first place spots on the 14-event card.

Leading the way for the Blue and White were Dave Harriel, who captured two firsts, while Clyde Griffith, who is improving every day in the quarter mile, came very clsoe to a school record in that event.

Harriel was clocked in 10:7.5 for his 100-yard dash and came back to capture the 220 in 23.7.

GRIFFITH was close to the ELHS mark in the 440-yard dash. He was timed in 53:6.5, just missing Bill Blanigan's record of 53.6 set in 1961.

East Liverpool's hurdlers, Bob Parsons and Jim Richardson, each took turns winning the hurdle events. Parsons captured the 120-yard highs in 16.8 with Richardson finishing second. Richardson came back to win the 180-yard lows in 22.8 with Parsons in the runnerup spot.

Bruce McCoy, East Liverpool's distance standout, registered a 4:50 clocking in the mile run. The Potters' two relay teams won with the half mile unit of Parsons, Bill Durbin, Ed Pruden and Harriel running it in 1:37.1.

THE MILE relay team of Earl Olmstead, Bob Bowyer, a new addition to that outfit in Bob Forzano and Griffith turned in a 3:45.2 clocking.

In the field events, Len Oliver fired the shot 42 feet, 10½ inches while Scotty Musuraca finished second in that event.

Ed Pruden was way out in front in the broad jump when he leaped 19 feet, 7 inches.

The Potters didn't win the half-mile run where a brilliant young freshman, Gene Metzger, scooted home in 2:11. The youngster, who isn't very tall as half milers go, has been clocked in 2:06 for that event and looms a heavy favorite to win the half-mile event in the County meet next Friday night at East Palestine.

United's other firsts came in the high jump where two brothers, H. Sturgeon and J. Sturgeon, and J. Sturgeon, tied for first at 5 feet, 8 inches.

Willis also won the discus event with a heave of 116 feet, 1 inch. East Liverpool's Oliver was third and Bill Hall took third in the discus.

NBA Directors Stumped On Shift By Warriors

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association board of directors, stumped for 13 hours Thursday on a request to move the Philadelphia Warriors to San Francisco, will try to resolve their difficulties again today.

What to do with Philadelphia?

Directors representing New York, Boston and Syracuse are known to be opposed to any plan which would leave Philadelphia without an NBA team. They hold enough votes to block the proposed sale and transfer of the Warriors to San Francisco.

Philadelphia owner Eddie Gottlieb asked the directors to approve the sale—including superstar Wilt Chamberlain—to a San Francisco group headed by Bernard Solomon. The sale price is reported to be $850,000.

Halts Potters At 8 Straight

Ursuline Tops EL Golfers

Youngstown Ursuline, which had been the only team to defeat East Liverpool High's crack golf team, made it two straight over the Potters Thursday at Youngstown's Stambaugh course.

Ursuline blanked the Potters 8-0 as No. 1 golfer Dick Santagata fired a one over par 37. Other scores for Ursuline included a 38, 40 and 43.

The defeat cut East Liverpool's winning streak at eight and the Potters now show an 11-2 record.

Bob Putt, the Potters No. 1 man, fired a 41 and was followed by Bruce Burbick's 44, Bob Gilmore's 46 and a 48 by Dave Thorne.

Wellsville Finishes 2nd In Toronto Invitational

Coach Ken Woods' Tigers scored 42½ points and were second to Steubenville Big Red which chalked up 71½ points. Steubenville Central was third in the nine-team field with 31½.

Wellsville relied on its overall balance to move into the runnerup spot since John Euill was the only Tiger to score a first. That came in the low hurdles.

Leo Pearson gained second in the discus with a throw of 123 feet and Larry Giles took a second in the 440-yard dash and was fourth in the high jump.

Mark Leyda leaped 20 feet, 6 inches, good for a second place in the broad jump. Frank Luckino scored in the high hurdles, finishing third, and Andy Dash grabbed a third place in the 220-yard dash.

Wellsville's 880-yard relay team and the shuttle hurdle relay were third and Eric Wilson finished fourth in both the half-mile and mile events.

Jim Reed, star sprinter for the Tigers, was disqualified in both the 100-yard dash and 220 after two false starts.

Ribbons were awarded to the first five places in each event.

$1 Million Guarantee Offered In Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Promoters of the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight have been guaranteed $1 million if they decide to hold the bout in Chicago.

Manny Skar, a Chicago hotel man, said Thursday night he and a group of Chicago businessmen have made the offer to "some people close to Patterson."

The promoters, Championship Sports Inc., said Chicago remains the leading contender among 10 interested cities. The spokesman said a decision on the site could be made within 48 hours.

The Chicago White Sox righthander stopped the show Thursday night, baffling the New York Yankees for a 1-0, five-hit victory and adding to his reputation as a streak-breaker by cutting off the American League leaders' victory string at seven games.

Buzhardt, 25, whose major achievement in four previous seasons had been the triumph that snapped Philadelphia's 23-game losing skein during the 1961 campaign, brought his record to 4-1 with his fourth consecutive win for the White Sox.

While Buzhardt was blanking the Yanks and lowering his earned run average for the last four games to a remarkable 1.32, the White Sox managed only six hits off Whitey Ford and Marshall Bridges. But Jim Landis accounted for the game-winner with his sixth homer, in the fourth inning.

Elsewhere in the AL, Norm Siebern's foul fly drove in the winning run as Kansas City knocked off Detroit, 6-4, and Boston ended a five-game losing string by beating Washington 7-4. Cleveland and Los Angeles were not scheduled.

Buzhardt struck out three, walked only one and had little trouble with the Yankees powerful line-up except for rookie shortstop Tom Tresh, who stroked a single and double. Buzhardt also snapped another streak by ending Bobby Richardson's 17-game hitting string. Ford (2-1) allowed four hits in seven innings and Bridges permitted two.

Siebern, who got the A's rolling with a two-run homer in the first, knocked in another run in the fifth with a single before delivering a long foul in the seventh that snapped a 4-4 tie when Bobby Del-Greco scampered home from third after the catch. The win went to Diego Segui (2-0). Rookie Doug Gallagher (0-2) lost it despite home runs by Norm Cash and Billy Bruton.

Home runs by Ed Bressoud and Jim Pagliaroni plus three runs batted in by Pete Runnels with three singles paced the Red Sox against the Senators, who lost their 14th in 15 games. Bill Monbouquette (2-2) needed Dick Radatz' ninth relief held to nail the victory. The loser was rookie Jim Hannon (0-2).

Allen, Teammates Whoop It Up

THE MINNESOTA TWINS took the rubber game of their series with Baltimore Thursday afternoon, whipping the Orioles, 8-4. Responsible for the victory were, left-to-right: second baseman Bernie Allen, who hit a three-run homer in the third inning for his second of the year, extending his hitting streak to eight games; Jack Kralick, who not only pitched his way to his first victory of the season but homered after Allen, and Don Mincher who clouted his second grand slammer of the season. Simmons Notches 4th Over Colts

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Granted the St. Louis Cardinals were given a chance in the National League race this year. But who ever thought a longshot like Curt Simmons would be a big factor in keeping them in the picture?

Simmons, 32, Thursday night pitched the Cards to a 4-0 victory over Houston's Colts. He spaced seven hits for his fourth win in four starts—all complete games. St. Louis managed just four hits against rookie Dave Giusti (0-3) and Dick Farrell, but they included Bill White's two-run homer, Curt Flood's solo homer and a run-scoring double by Ken Boyer.

In the NL's only other game, Philadelphia nipped Milwaukee 9-8 on Clay Dalrymple's ninth inning single.

Simmons, a star member of St. Louis' front-line pitching corps, has compiled impressive figures this year—25 hits and five walks in 36 innings, and an earned run average of 1.25.

Thursday night against Houston, Simmons didn't allow more than one hit an inning. White gave him some breathing room with the homer in the first, Flood connected in the third, and the Colts were dealt another tough setback.

Jumping on losing reliever Harvey Haddix (1-1) in the eighth, the Giants broke a 4-4 tie on an error and singles by Jim Davenport and Chuck Hiller. Willie Mays delivered two more when he doubled for his third hit of the day, and Orlando Cepeda brought in Mays with a single.

Pittsburgh counted two-run homers by Dick Schofield and Larry Elliot among the five hits they got off Jack Sanford (3-1). The Giants peppered four Buc pitchers for 16.

Dalrymple ended the wild one between the Phils and Braves with a single to center in the last of the ninth, sending John Callison home from second. Hank Aaron hit two homers, a triple and a double. His second homer came in the ninth with one on, heisting the Braves into a 8-8 tie.

But the Phils lost little time against Milwaukee's fifth pitcher, Hank Fischer (0-1), in their half of the ninth. Callison led off with a walk, Jacke Davis moved him along with a sacrifice try that went for a single past third, and Dalrymple followed with his game-winner on a 3-2 pitch.

73,811 Seats, But No Fans . . .

This writer hadn't been to Cleveland for several years until last Saturday. The biggest shock we received was to see only about 7,000 fans in the spacious Municipal Stadium. The big horseshoe affair can seat 73,811.

The paid attendance Saturday was 2,747. It was Ladies Day and there also were several thousand youngsters on hand as guests.

During four days at Cleveland, only some 28,000 fans have turned out for games with the Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles. Paid attendance for the Angels game Tuesday night was 3,594.

We have fond memories of the Boudreau-Gordon-Keltner era and the great pitching staff, which included Feller, Lemon, Wynn, etc.

We never had been to Cleveland before when the stands weren't at least half filled. Saturday you could have shot off a cannon in the ballpark and not hit anyone.

Going into last weekend, the Indians were in first place. And fans can't ask for anything better than that. We hope the backing picks up. Several years ago rumors were strong that professional baseball might leave Cleveland. We don't want to see it come to that.

Attendance Sunday was 10,631, while last Friday night's game with the Twins drew 12,050.

From what we can gather in Cleveland, the fans only come out to see the Yankees, and sometimes Detroit.

In little more than a week's time the Wheeling entry, which will compete in the United Football League, has elected a board of directors and a slate of officers and signed John Walsh as general manager.

In 87-31 Decision

EL Runners Outdistance United For 3rd Victory

Coach Bob Hedmond's Potter thinclads had little trouble picking up their third victory in five starts this season with an overwhelming 87-31 decision over United Thursday afternoon at Patterson Field.

East Liverpool wound up with 11 first place spots on the 14-event card.

Leading the way for the Blue and White were Dave Harriel, who captured two firsts, while Clyde Griffith, who is improving every day in the quarter mile, came very clsoe to a school record in that event.

Harriel was clocked in 10:7.5 for his 100-yard dash and came back to capture the 220 in 23.7.

GRIFFITH was close to the ELHS mark in the 440-yard dash. He was timed in 53:6.5, just missing Bill Blanigan's record of 53.6 set in 1961.

East Liverpool's hurdlers, Bob Parsons and Jim Richardson, each took turns winning the hurdle events. Parsons captured the 120-yard highs in 16.8 with Richardson finishing second. Richardson came back to win the 180-yard lows in 22.8 with Parsons in the runnerup spot.

Bruce McCoy, East Liverpool's distance standout, registered a 4:50 clocking in the mile run. The Potters' two relay teams won with the half mile unit of Parsons, Bill Durbin, Ed Pruden and Harriel running it in 1:37.1.

THE MILE relay team of Earl Olmstead, Bob Bowyer, a new addition to that outfit in Bob Forzano and Griffith turned in a 3:45.2 clocking.

In the field events, Len Oliver fired the shot 42 feet, 10½ inches while Scotty Musuraca finished second in that event.

Ed Pruden was way out in front in the broad jump when he leaped 19 feet, 7 inches.

The Potters didn't win the half-mile run where a brilliant young freshman, Gene Metzger, scooted home in 2:11. The youngster, who isn't very tall as half milers go, has been clocked in 2:06 for that event and looms a heavy favorite to win the half-mile event in the County meet next Friday night at East Palestine.

United's other firsts came in the high jump where two brothers, H. Sturgeon and J. Sturgeon, and J. Sturgeon, tied for first at 5 feet, 8 inches.

Willis also won the discus event with a heave of 116 feet, 1 inch. East Liverpool's Oliver was third and Bill Hall took third in the discus.

NBA Directors Stumped On Shift By Warriors

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association board of directors, stumped for 13 hours Thursday on a request to move the Philadelphia Warriors to San Francisco, will try to resolve their difficulties again today.

What to do with Philadelphia?

Directors representing New York, Boston and Syracuse are known to be opposed to any plan which would leave Philadelphia without an NBA team. They hold enough votes to block the proposed sale and transfer of the Warriors to San Francisco.

Philadelphia owner Eddie Gottlieb asked the directors to approve the sale—including superstar Wilt Chamberlain—to a San Francisco group headed by Bernard Solomon. The sale price is reported to be $850,000.

Halts Potters At 8 Straight

Ursuline Tops EL Golfers

Youngstown Ursuline, which had been the only team to defeat East Liverpool High's crack golf team, made it two straight over the Potters Thursday at Youngstown's Stambaugh course.

Ursuline blanked the Potters 8-0 as No. 1 golfer Dick Santagata fired a one over par 37. Other scores for Ursuline included a 38, 40 and 43.

The defeat cut East Liverpool's winning streak at eight and the Potters now show an 11-2 record.

Bob Putt, the Potters No. 1 man, fired a 41 and was followed by Bruce Burbick's 44, Bob Gilmore's 46 and a 48 by Dave Thorne.

Wellsville Finishes 2nd In Toronto Invitational

Coach Ken Woods' Tigers scored 42½ points and were second to Steubenville Big Red which chalked up 71½ points. Steubenville Central was third in the nine-team field with 31½.

Wellsville relied on its overall balance to move into the runnerup spot since John Euill was the only Tiger to score a first. That came in the low hurdles.

Leo Pearson gained second in the discus with a throw of 123 feet and Larry Giles took a second in the 440-yard dash and was fourth in the high jump.

Mark Leyda leaped 20 feet, 6 inches, good for a second place in the broad jump. Frank Luckino scored in the high hurdles, finishing third, and Andy Dash grabbed a third place in the 220-yard dash.

Wellsville's 880-yard relay team and the shuttle hurdle relay were third and Eric Wilson finished fourth in both the half-mile and mile events.

Jim Reed, star sprinter for the Tigers, was disqualified in both the 100-yard dash and 220 after two false starts.

Ribbons were awarded to the first five places in each event.

$1 Million Guarantee Offered In Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Promoters of the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight have been guaranteed $1 million if they decide to hold the bout in Chicago.

Manny Skar, a Chicago hotel man, said Thursday night he and a group of Chicago businessmen have made the offer to "some people close to Patterson."

The promoters, Championship Sports Inc., said Chicago remains the leading contender among 10 interested cities. The spokesman said a decision on the site could be made within 48 hours.

Derby Favorite Sir Gaylord Is Scratched From Race

BULLETIN

LOUISVILLE,.Ky. (AP) — The 88th Kentucky Derby lost one of its choicest today and possibly could lose Sir Gaylord, the 8-5 choice.

Verne Winchell's Donut King, a California-owned horse, was withdrawn by trainer Ron McAnally. Donut King showed up with an infection in his left hind foot Thursday about the time the names of 18 horses were being dropped into the entry box.

"We could take a chance with the derby," said McAnally, "but he had that infection last winter at Santa Anita and when it reoccurred this time, we thought it better to hold him back for the Preakness at Pimlico on May 19."

There was much conjecture on the condition of C. T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord. The derby favorite, unbeaten in four starts this year, came out of a workout this morning slightly lame. The lameness did not appear to lessen as the horse was walked around the barn.

"I have nothing to say," said Hayes as he watched the horse's slow walk around the shed.

"I expect to have something to say when I talk to Mr. Chenery."

The lameness was in the right front leg, the same leg in which Sir Gaylord suffered a slight injury that put him on the shelf after the Everglades Stakes at Hialeah Park in February.

Meantime, Cicada, the stable's ace filly, was kept eligible for the 1¼ mile $125,000-added race. Cicada was entered Thursday along with 17 other horses as insurance in the event something should happen to Sir Gaylord.

It will be every horse for himself when the 16 or 17 finely-tuned 3-year-olds charge into the first turn, seeking a vantage point for the long run down the backstretch and then into the final quarter-mile leading to fame and fortune.

The draw for positions in the $125,000-added classic placed the two stickouts—C. T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord and Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan—on the far outside. And near the rail, side-by-side, will be Townsend B. Martin's Sunrise County and Fred Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, bitter bumping rivals of the recent Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

The starting positions of Sir Gaylord, 8-5 favorite, Ridan, 5-2 second choice, and the highly regarded Sunrise County and Admiral's Voyage were the topic of conversation today of many Derby fans.

Post time is 5:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time. Nationa-wide the race can be seen on CBS television from 5:15-5:45 p.m. and heard on radio during the same period.

The weatherman's promise is clear skies, temperatures up to 70 degrees and a fast track.

Even though much depends on the dash to the first turn, jockey Willie Shoemaker for one isn't worried. He'll be up on Sunrise County.

But trainer Leroy Jolley wasn't feeling so good over No. 14 position drawn by the fast breaking Ridan.

"I would have much rather have No. 4 or 5," he said. Manuel Ycaza pilots Ridan.

Although 18 were named for the race, there will be no more than 17 starters and perhaps only 16.

Cicada, classy 3-year-old filly stablemate of Sir Gaylord, was entered but merely as insurance in event something should happen to the stable's male star.

Verne Winchell's Donut King, one of the standout 2-year-olds of 1961 but who has failed to win in three outings this year, is suffering from an infection of the left hind foot. A decision whether to run the colt could wait until 45 minutes before post time, the deadline for scratching.

With 18 entries and 17 starters the value of the race will be $164,650 with the winner earning $122,150. Only one other Derby winner ever banked more. That was Needles, who picked up $123,450 after his 1956 victory.

Second is guaranteed $25,000, third $12,500 and fourth $5,000.

In the early line prepared by the program handicapper, Sunrise County was made the third choice at 6-1 followed by Fred Turner Jr.'s Sir Ribot (8-1) and Admiral's Voyage (15-1).

Indians Get Tasby, Trade Two Pitchers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Cleveland Indians — rich in outfielders and poor in pitchers—have obtained another outfielder in exchange for two pitchers.

The Indians got 29-year-old Willie Tasby, a fine defensive fielder but light hitter, from the Washington Senators Thursday night. In exchange, they sent the Senators southpaw hurlers Don Rudolph and Steve Hamilton.

Cleveland now has seven outfielders, which may give Manager Mel McGaha even more room to platoon.

The guess around Cleveland is that the Indians would like to make a trade of one of the "surplus seven" for a starting pitcher. The trading deadline is May 10.

Teach Swimming In High Schools, Chadwick Urges

NEW YORK (AP)—High schools that don't include swimming instruction in their curricula are doing their students a great disservice — and sometimes a fatal one, Florence Chadwick, many times a conqueror of the English Channel, said today.

"Swimming should be taught all over the United States in high schools," she said. "A lot of people will say I'm prejudiced because of my love for the sport, but what good will it do these schools if they turn out honor students that could drown the next day because of their inability to conquer the water.

"It always seems to be the case that when a school building budget is cut, the first thing to go is the swimming pool, if one happens to be included in the plans," she added.

Lisbon K. Of C. Plans Dinner For Athletes

LISBON — The fifth annual banquet of the Knights of Columbus, honoring Lisbon High School football and basketball players, coaches and cheerleaders, will be held at the St. George Parish Hall Wednesday at 5:30 p.m.

Each year the council honors the athletes with a buffet supper followed by a program. Films of the Cleveland Browns football highlights for 1961 will be screened.

Charles Faust, grand knight, said the council will meet Tuesday to complete plans. Charles Lederle and Mike Pastore head the kitchen committee.

Jofre 3-1 Favorite For Crown

The champion never has been defeated. His record is 41 victories, including 31 knockouts, in 44 fights. Three ended even. He won a clear title Jan. 18 in Sao Paulo by stopping Ireland's Johnny Caldwell.

Marquez never has been stopped in compling a 20-7-1 record. He won the California title June 12 by stopping Ronnie Perez, who has been one of Jofre's sparring partners.

Starting 11:30 p.m., EST, the fight will have neither radio nor television coverage.

4 Deadlocked At Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The old West Virginia slammer, Sam Snead, was evaluating prospects in the $58,000 Tournament of Champions and observed:

"Unless somebody goes crazy out there, there's goin' to be an awful mess of us around the top when this one finishes."

Sam's prophecy came quicker than he suspected. For today the top spot was crowded with four professional golfers, tied at 69, and Snead himself, the defending champion, was deadlocked with three others at 70.

Bracketed with Sam were Doug Ford, Joe Campbell and Gay Brewer.

Play is at the par 36-36-72 Desert Inn Country Club course, a test that is not too formidable unless the wind starts acting up.

It didn't, and the first round ended with 13 of the select field of 28 listed under par.

The leaders:

Arnold Palmer 34-35—69
Mike Souchak 35-34—69
Cary Middlecoff 36-33—69
Doug Sanders 36-33—69
Sam Snead—33-37—70
Doug Ford 37-33—70
Gay Brewer 36-34—70
Joe Campbell 36-34—70
Butch Baird 35-36—71
Jay Hebert 34-37—71
Jerry Barber 37-34—71
Jack Fleck 37-34—71
Phil Rodgers 35-36—71

Carlos Ortiz Named Boxer-Of-The-Month

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Newly-crowned world lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz of New York has been named boxer of the month by the National Boxing Association.

Ortiz was selected for dethroning six-year king Joe Brown of Houston, Tex., April 21, NBA ratings committee chairman Tony Petronella announced Thursday.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—John Buzhardt, White Sox, stopped New York Yankees 1-0 with five-hitter, ending Yanks seven-game winning streak and beating them for the second time while posting his fourth consecutive victory.

Batting — Hank Aaron, Braves clubbed four hits in 9-8 loss to Philadelphia, driving in three runs and scoring three on a pair of homers, a triple and a double.

Giants Win Game In Airplane Too

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The San Francisco Giants won a pair Thursday—one on the ground and one in the air.

Jack Sanford went all the way as the National League leading Giants beat Pittsburgh 8-4 at Candlestick Park.

C. C. (Jack) Bridgman of San Mateo, Calif., went all the way for the Giants Thursday night when their airplane lost an engine in the air over Utah, en route to Chicago.

Southpaw pitcher Mike McCormick was on hand for Bridgman, the United Air Lines captain who was flying the four-engine DC7.

There were 24 San Francisco players on board, manager Al Dark, three coaches, a club trainer, clubhouse manager, secretary and statistician; five newsmen and a plane crew of five.

United sent another DC7 from Denver to Salt Lake City and the passengers flew on to Chicago, arriving at 4:16 a.m. (CDT).

Midland Nine Keeps Title Hopes Alive In 11-9 Win

Coach Paul Farnan's Midland Leopard nine kept its Section 4 title hopes alive by outlasting the Monaca Indians, 11-9, Thursday afternoon at Midland.

The score was knotted at 8-8 when, with one out and runners on second and third, Reed delivered his timely base hit. He scored the last run later in the inning.

The win gives Midland a 5-2 section record and, along with league-leading New Brighton's win over the Rochester Rams, the Leopards now have an undisputed hold on second place, a half-game behind the league leaders.

The loss was the sixth in seven section games for Monaca, who occupies the cellar.

Chuck Krause was the starting pitcher for Midland and he had a fine game going through the first four innings. But in the fifth Monaca scored seven runs on eight hits and Krause was lifted in favor of the winning hurler, Dave Debronz.

Krause went 5 2-3 innings, giving up six runs, six hits, while walking four and striking out six. Debronz finished the game and gave up three runs, six hits, walked two and whiffed three batters.

Doug Hayes, Monaca relief pitcher, was charged with the loss. He relieved starter Art Shires in the first when Shires was only able to retire one batter. Sam Peshut came on to strike out the last two Midland batters in the seventh inning.

After scoring six runs in the first inning, Midland used two Monaca miscues and three base hits to push across two more tallies and take what seemed to be a comfortable 8-1 lead.

But Monaca exploded in the fifth inning and after all the smoke cleared the score was tied at 8-8. At one point in the inning Monaca connected for six consecutive base hits.

Reed and Dan Francis led the Leopard attack with two safeties apiece. Dave Troup had the only extra-base hit for Midland when he doubled home Reed with the first run of the game in the first inning.

Paul Baker, Jerry Fitzsimmons and Dick Dragonac collected two safeties apiece for Monaca. Dragonac collected both of his hits in the fifth inning. John Raymer's two-run double in the fifth was the only extra-base blow for Monaca.

Monday afternoon Midland will meet Rochester at Midland.

MIDLAND	600 020 3—11- 9-2

Beavers Win On 3-Hitter By Schukert

Junior southpaw Walter Schukert hurled a three-hitter to lead Beaver Local to a 3-1 victory over New Cumberland in a pitcher's battle Thursday at Williamsport.

Burskey was in command of a no-hitter until the fifth inning when the Beavers got two hits to score a run to tie the game at 1-1.

Cumberland had scored one run in the first frame on a hit by McGowan, a walk to Katzenmeyer and a series of grounders to the infield.

Gary Hickman led off Beaver Local's fifth inning with a single, went to second on Schukert's sacrifice and scored on John Broadbent's double to tie the score.

In the sixth, the Beavers plated two more runs as Gary Berhar led off with a double and romped home on a triple slugged by Dave Myers. Myers then scored on a long fly by Hickman.

Coach Flody Suarez's Beavers won their fifth game as against only two defeats. They swing against East Liverpool tonight with either Berhar or Dennis Horger on the mound.

Three were tied with 69s and Bob Shave Jr. of Willoughby, Ohio, was in a four-way deadlock at 70. Shave's score came on a pair of 35s.

In a six-way tie at 71 was Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, who had nine-hole scores of 36-35 in his opening round.

OU To Meet Bearcats In Basketball

ATHENS — Cincinnati's NCAA basketball champions have been added to Ohio University's 1962-63 basketball schedule, released today. The game will be played at Cincinnati on December 29, Ohio's athletic director Brandon T. Grover has announced.

It marks the first time since the 1952-53 season that the two schools have met in basketball. At that time Cincinnati was a member of the Mid-American Conference, of which Ohio is the only remaining charter member.

In the all-time series between the two schools, begun in 1907, Ohio holds a 37-32 won-lost edge.

Grover said that 23 games have already been scheduled with one more yet to be added, a home game early in December.

Other features of the schedule show home and home series with the University of Louisville and Loyola of Chicago, both met last season; a game with St. Bonaventure at Buffalo, N. Y., and with the University of Iowa at Iowa City. The latter two opponents have not been played before in basketball by Ohio University.

Also Ohio Wesleyan's Ohio Conference champions will visit the home of the Bobcats, the first meeting between the two since the 1956-57 season.

Ohio Expects OK On All-Star Tilt

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 17th North-South high school football game, scheduled Aug. 10 at Canton, appeared a certainty today after a series of on-again off-again moves.

The annual Rebel-Yankee classic was ruled out last year when the Ohio High School Athletic Association declined to approve it, as required under a National Collegiate Athletic Association edict.

The NCAA had ruled that boys appearing in games not sanctioned by state high school ruling bodies would lose a year of collegiate eligibility.

Then the NCAA decided to set up a committee to act on games over which state associations, as in Ohio's case, said they had no jurisdiction. The NCAA committee, organized a few weeks ago, turned down Ohio's bid for the annual game until certain conditions were met.

The big stumbling block was that $5,000 death, injury and travel insurance be set up for the 25-boy squads, and director Jim Robinson told the sponsoring Ohio High School Football Coaches Association Thursday night that the insurance plan had been approved.

Bron Bacevich, retiring president of the coaches from Cincinnati Roger Bacon, rushed the new request to the NCAA immediately after the meeting—and said full approval was practically a certainty.

Dave Martin of Cuyahoga Falls, who was supposed to take over the presidency of the coaches association today, resigned at Thursday night's session. He became ineligible for the post due to an upcoming transfer to Oak Harbor as the high school's executive head—where one of his first jobs will be signing a new football coach.

Martin's resignation moved Glenn (Tiger) Ellison of Middletown, the 1961 Class AA football coach of the year, from second vice president to the presidency. Chuck Hofelich of Cleveland Collinwood and Bill Wilkin of Shelby were to be voted on today to determine which becomes vice president and takes over the reins next year.

Another resignation marred the all-star game plans. Eddie Wentz, veteran mentor of Akron St. Vincent, turned down the job as head coach of the Northern All-Stars. Lateness of a formal O.K. for the game, and the fact he acts as a golf professional during the summer, were given by Wentz as reasons for refusing the post.

Bill Van Brocklin of Poland, who finished second in the December voting for the coaching berths, moved in as head of the Yankee forces. He'll pick three assistants, one of whom must be from a Class A school.

Hopewell Rally Edges South Side Nine, 8-6

Hopewell sent two runs across in the top half of the seventh inning to break a 6-6 tie and hand South Side an 8-6 setback Thursday on the South Side diamond.

The Rams, who now stand 2-4 in Section 4 play, shot out to a 5-0 lead, but were only to score one more run in the fifth inning as Hopewell kept nipping away with three runs in the third, two in the fourth, one in the fifth and the winning markers in the seventh.

The deciding runs came in the seventh when Andy Robertson led off with a single, advanced to third and came home on a double by Rich Reinbeau, a pitcher who also contributed a home run to the Hopewell attack. A double by Obermier then sent Reinbeau across the plate.

South Side scored four runs in the second inning on four walks and singles by Bernie Livada and Chuck Schmidt. The safety by Schmidt drove in two runs.

Leetonia's Streak Ends

LEETONIA — Leetonia's victory string in track was ended at five straight when Youngstown South scored an 80-38 victory here Thursday afternoon.

The firsts for Leetonia were turned in by Paul Conrad who ran the 180-yard low hurdles in 22.2; Joe Gallo with a shot put of 43 feet, 2 inches; Guy Falzetta 115 feet, 5 inches in the discus and Russ Lehman and Mike Burgess tied at 5 feet, 4 inches in the high jump.

Leetonia will take part in a triangular meet with Youngstown Woodrow Wilson and West Branch Monday at Leetonia.

Derby Favorite Sir Gaylord Is Scratched From Race

BULLETIN

LOUISVILLE,,Ky. (AP) — The 88th Kentucky Derby lost one of its choicest today and possibly could lose Sir Gaylord, the 8-5 choice.

Verne Winchell's Donut King, a California-owned horse, was withdrawn by trainer Ron McAnally. Donut King showed up with an infection in his left hind foot Thursday about the time the names of 18 horses were being dropped into the entry box.

"We could take a chance with the derby," said McAnally, "but he had that infection last winter at Santa Anita and when it reoccurred this time, we thought it better to hold him back for the Preakness at Pimlico on May 19."

There was much conjecture on the condition of C. T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord. The derby favorite, unbeaten in four starts this year, came out of a workout this morning slightly lame. The lameness did not appear to lessen as the horse was walked around the barn.

"I have nothing to say," said Hayes as he watched the horse's slow walk around the shed.

"I expect to have something to say when I talk to Mr. Chenery."

The lameness was in the right front leg, the same leg in which Sir Gaylord suffered a slight injury that put him on the shelf after the Everglades Stakes at Hialeah Park in February.

Meantime, Cicada, the stable's ace filly, was kept eligible for the 1¼ mile $125,000-added race. Cicada was entered Thursday along with 17 other horses as insurance in the event something should happen to Sir Gaylord.

It will be every horse for himself when the 16 or 17 finely-tuned 3-year-olds charge into the first turn, seeking a vantage point for the long run down the backstretch and then into the final quarter-mile leading to fame and fortune.

The draw for positions in the $125,000-added classic placed the two stickouts—C. T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord and Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan—on the far outside. And near the rail, side-by-side, will be Townsend B. Martin's Sunrise County and Fred Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, bitter bumping rivals of the recent Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

The starting positions of Sir Gaylord, 8-5 favorite, Ridan, 5-2 second choice, and the highly regarded Sunrise County and Admiral's Voyage were the topic of conversation today of many Derby fans.

Post time is 5:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time. Nationa-wide the race can be seen on CBS television from 5:15-5:45 p.m. and heard on radio during the same period.

The weatherman's promise is clear skies, temperatures up to 70 degrees and a fast track.

Even though much depends on the dash to the first turn, jockey Willie Shoemaker for one isn't worried. He'll be up on Sunrise County.

But trainer Leroy Jolley wasn't feeling so good over No. 14 position drawn by the fast breaking Ridan.

"I would have much rather have No. 4 or 5," he said. Manuel Ycaza pilots Ridan.

Although 18 were named for the race, there will be no more than 17 starters and perhaps only 16.

Cicada, classy 3-year-old filly stablemate of Sir Gaylord, was entered but merely as insurance in event something should happen to the stable's male star.

Verne Winchell's Donut King, one of the standout 2-year-olds of 1961 but who has failed to win in three outings this year, is suffering from an infection of the left hind foot. A decision whether to run the colt could wait until 45 minutes before post time, the deadline for scratching.

With 18 entries and 17 starters the value of the race will be $164,650 with the winner earning $122,150. Only one other Derby winner ever banked more. That was Needles, who picked up $123,450 after his 1956 victory.

Second is guaranteed $25,000, third $12,500 and fourth $5,000.

In the early line prepared by the program handicapper, Sunrise County was made the third choice at 6-1 followed by Fred Turner Jr.'s Sir Ribot (8-1) and Admiral's Voyage (15-1).

Indians Get Tasby, Trade Two Pitchers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Cleveland Indians — rich in outfielders and poor in pitchers—have obtained another outfielder in exchange for two pitchers.

The Indians got 29-year-old Willie Tasby, a fine defensive fielder but light hitter, from the Washington Senators Thursday night. In exchange, they sent the Senators southpaw hurlers Don Rudolph and Steve Hamilton.

Cleveland now has seven outfielders, which may give Manager Mel McGaha even more room to platoon.

The guess around Cleveland is that the Indians would like to make a trade of one of the "surplus seven" for a starting pitcher. The trading deadline is May 10.

Teach Swimming In High Schools, Chadwick Urges

NEW YORK (AP)—High schools that don't include swimming instruction in their curricula are doing their students a great disservice — and sometimes a fatal one, Florence Chadwick, many times a conqueror of the English Channel, said today.

"Swimming should be taught all over the United States in high schools," she said. "A lot of people will say I'm prejudiced because of my love for the sport, but what good will it do these schools if they turn out honor students that could drown the next day because of their inability to conquer the water.

"It always seems to be the case that when a school building budget is cut, the first thing to go is the swimming pool, if one happens to be included in the plans," she added.

Lisbon K. Of C. Plans Dinner For Athletes

LISBON — The fifth annual banquet of the Knights of Columbus, honoring Lisbon High School football and basketball players, coaches and cheerleaders, will be held at the St. George Parish Hall Wednesday at 5:30 p.m.

Each year the council honors the athletes with a buffet supper followed by a program. Films of the Cleveland Browns football highlights for 1961 will be screened.

Charles Faust, grand knight, said the council will meet Tuesday to complete plans. Charles Lederle and Mike Pastore head the kitchen committee.

THE REVIEW

Jofre 3-1 Favorite For Crown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—World bantamweight champion Eder Jofre, the knockout puncher from Sao Paulo, Brazil, defends his title tonight against underdog challenger Herman Marquez.

The champion never has been defeated. His record is 41 victories, including 31 knockouts, in 44 fights. Three ended even. He won a clear title Jan. 18 in Sao Paulo by stopping Ireland's Johnny Caldwell.

Marquez never has been stopped in compling a 20-7-1 record. He won the California title June 12 by stopping Ronnie Perez, who has been one of Jofre's sparring partners.

Starting 11:30 p.m., EST, the fight will have neither radio nor television coverage.

4 Deadlocked At Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The old West Virginia slammer, Sam Snead, was evaluating prospects in the $58,000 Tournament of Champions and observed:

"Unless somebody goes crazy out there, there's goin' to be an awful mess of us around the top when this one finishes."

Sam's prophecy came quicker than he suspected. For today the top spot was crowded with four professional golfers, tied at 69, and Snead himself, the defending champion, was deadlocked with three others at 70.

Play is at the par 36-36-72 Desert Inn Country Club course, a test that is not too formidable unless the wind starts acting up.

It didn't, and the first round ended with 13 of the select field of 28 listed under par.

The leaders:

Arnold Palmer 34-35—69
Mike Souchak 35-34—69
Cary Middlecoff 36-33—69
Doug Sanders 36-33—69
Sam Snead—33-37—70
Doug Ford 37-33—70
Gay Brewer 36-34—70
Joe Campbell 36-34—70
Butch Baird 35-36—71
Jay Hebert 34-37—71
Jerry Barber 37-34—71
Jack Fleck 37-34—71
Phil Rodgers 35-36—71

Carlos Ortiz Named Boxer-Of-The-Month

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Newly-crowned world lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz of New York has been named boxer of the month by the National Boxing Association.

Ortiz was selected for dethroning six-year king Joe Brown of Houston, Tex., April 21, NBA ratings committee chairman Tony Petronella announced Thursday.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching—John Buzhardt, White Sox, stopped New York Yankees 1-0 with five-hitter, ending Yanks seven-game winning streak and beating them for the second time while posting his fourth consecutive victory.

Batting — Hank Aaron, Braves clubbed four hits in 9-8 loss to Philadelphia, driving in three runs and scoring three on a pair of homers, a triple and a double.

Giants Win Game In Airplane Too

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The San Francisco Giants won a pair Thursday—one on the ground and one in the air.

Jack Sanford went all the way as the National League leading Giants beat Pittsburgh 8-4 at Candlestick Park.

C. C. (Jack) Bridgman of San Mateo, Calif., went all the way for the Giants Thursday night when their airplane lost an engine in the air over Utah, en route to Chicago.

Neither Sanford nor Bridgman needed any relief, either.

Southpaw pitcher Mike McCormick was on hand for Bridgman, the United Air Lines captain who was flying the four-engine DC7.

"I didn't have a worry," Mike said, "because Jack was up forward. He's one of my neighbors and his daughter is our most competent baby sitter."

Jack Bridgman is a competent pilot, too. He brought in the crippled plane to the Salt Lake Airport without any trouble.

There were 24 San Francisco players on board, manager Al Dark, three coaches, a club trainer, clubhouse manager, secretary and statistician; five newsmen and a plane crew of five.

United sent another DC7 from Denver to Salt Lake City and the passengers flew on to Chicago, arriving at 4:16 a.m. (CDT).

Midland Nine Keeps Title Hopes Alive In 11-9 Win

Coach Paul Farnan's Midland Leopard nine kept its Section 4 title hopes alive by outlasting the Monaca Indians, 11-9, Thursday afternoon at Midland.

The score was knotted at 8-8 when, with one out and runners on second and third, Reed delivered his timely base hit. He scored the last run later in the inning.

The win gives Midland a 5-2 section record and, along with league-leading New Brighton's win over the Rochester Rams, the Leopards now have an undisputed hold on second place, a half-game behind the league leaders.

The loss was the sixth in seven section games for Monaca, who occupies the cellar.

Chuck Krause was the starting pitcher for Midland and he had a fine game going through the first four innings. But in the fifth Monaca scored seven runs on eight hits and Krause was lifted in favor of the winning hurler, Dave Debronz.

Krause went 5 2-3 innings, giving up six runs, six hits, while walking four and striking out six. Debronz finished the game and gave up three runs, six hits, walked two and whiffed three batters.

Doug Hayes, Monaca relief pitcher, was charged with the loss. He relieved starter Art Shires in the first when Shires was only able to retire one batter. Sam Peshut came on to strike out the last two Midland batters in the seventh inning.

After scoring six runs in the first inning, Midland used two Monaca miscues and three base hits to push across two more tallies and take what seemed to be a comfortable 8-1 lead.

But Monaca exploded in the fifth inning and after all the smoke cleared the score was tied at 8-8. At one point in the inning Monaca connected for six consecutive base hits.

Reed and Dan Francis led the Leopard attack with two safeties apiece. Dave Troup had the only extra-base hit for Midland when he doubled home Reed with the first run of the game in the first inning.

Paul Baker, Jerry Fitzsimmons and Dick Dragonac collected two safeties apiece for Monaca. Dragonac collected both of his hits in the fifth inning. John Raymer's two-run double in the fifth was the only extra-base blow for Monaca.

Monday afternoon Midland will meet Rochester at Midland.

MIDLAND	600 020 3—11- 9-2
MONACA	100 070 1— 9-12-4

Beavers Win On 3-Hitter By Schukert

Junior southpaw Walter Schukert hurled a three-hitter to lead Beaver Local to a 3-1 victory over New Cumberland in a pitcher's battle Thursday at Williamsport.

Gaining his second mound victory of the year, Schukert fanned 10 and walked only one in beseting New Cumberland's Burskey.

Burskey was in command of a no-hitter until the fifth inning when the Beavers got two hits to score a run to tie the game at 1-1.

Cumberland had scored one run in the first frame on a hit by McGowan, a walk to Katzenmeyer and a series of grounders to the infield.

Gary Hickman led off Beaver Local's fifth inning with a single, went to second on Schukert's sacrifice and scored on John Broadbent's double to tie the score.

In the sixth, the Beavers plated two more runs as Gary Berhar led off with a double and romped home on a triple slugged by Dave Myers. Myers then scored on a long fly by Hickman.

Coach Flody Suarez's Beavers won their fifth game as against only two defeats. They swing against East Liverpool tonight with either Berhar or Dennis Horger on the mound.

OU To Meet Bearcats In Basketball

ATHENS — Cincinnati's NCAA basketball champions have been added to Ohio University's 1962-63 basketball schedule, released today. The game will be played at Cincinnati on December 29, Ohio's athletic director Brandon T. Grover has announced.

It marks the first time since the 1952-53 season that the two schools have met in basketball. At that time Cincinnati was a member of the Mid-American Conference, of which Ohio is the only remaining charter member.

In the all-time series between the two schools, begun in 1907, Ohio holds a 37-32 won-lost edge.

Grover said that 23 games have already been scheduled with one more yet to be added, a home game early in December.

Other features of the schedule show home and home series with the University of Louisville and Loyola of Chicago, both met last season; a game with St. Bonaventure at Buffalo, N. Y., and with the University of Iowa at Iowa City. The latter two opponents have not been played before in basketball by Ohio University.

Also Ohio Wesleyan's Ohio Conference champions will visit the home of the Bobcats, the first meeting between the two since the 1956-57 season.

Ohio Expects OK On All-Star Tilt

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 17th North-South high school football game, scheduled Aug. 10 at Canton, appeared a certainty today after a series of on-again off-again moves.

The annual Rebel-Yankee classic was ruled out last year when the Ohio High School Athletic Association declined to approve it, as required under a National Collegiate Athletic Association edict.

The NCAA had ruled that boys appearing in games not sanctioned by state high school ruling bodies would lose a year of collegiate eligibility.

Then the NCAA decided to set up a committee to act on games over which state associations, as in Ohio's case, said they had no jurisdiction. The NCAA committee, organized a few weeks ago, turned down Ohio's bid for the annual game until certain conditions were met.

The big stumbling block was that $5,000 death, injury and travel insurance be set up for the 25-boy squads, and director Jim Robinson told the sponsoring Ohio High School Football Coaches Association Thursday night that the insurance plan had been approved.

Bron Bacevich, retiring president of the coaches from Cincinnati Roger Bacon, rushed the new request to the NCAA immediately after the meeting—and said full approval was practically a certainty.

Dave Martin of Cuyahoga Falls, who was supposed to take over the presidency of the coaches association today, resigned at Thursday night's session. He became ineligible for the post due to an upcoming transfer to Oak Harbor as the high school's executive head—where one of his first jobs will be signing a new football coach.

Martin's resignation moved Glenn (Tiger) Ellison of Middletown, the 1961 Class AA football coach of the year, from second vice president to the presidency. Chuck Hofelich of Cleveland Collinwood and Bill Wilkin of Shelby were to be voted on today to determine which becomes vice president and takes over the reins next year.

Carl (Ducky) Schroeder of Massillon was elected secretary-treasurer for the 17th straight year.

Another resignation marred the all-star game plans. Eddie Wentz, veteran mentor of Akron St. Vincent, turned down the job as head coach of the Northern All-Stars. Lateness of a formal O.K. for the game, and the fact he acts as a golf professional during the summer, were given by Wentz as reasons for refusing the post.

Bill Van Brocklin of Poland, who finished second in the December voting for the coaching berths, moved in as head of the Yankee forces. He'll pick three assistants, one of whom must be from a Class A school.

Hopewell sent two runs across in the top half of the seventh inning to break a 6-6 tie and hand South Side an 8-6 setback Thursday on the South Side diamond.

The Rams, who now stand 2-4 in Section 4 play, shot out to a 5-0 lead, but were only to score one more run in the fifth inning as Hopewell kept nipping away with three runs in the third, two in the fourth, one in the fifth and the winning markers in the seventh.

The deciding runs came in the seventh when Andy Robertson led off with a single, advanced to third and came home on a double by Rich Reinbeau, a pitcher who also contributed a home run to the Hopewell attack. A double by Obermier then sent Reinbeau across the plate.

South Side scored four runs in the second inning on four walks and singles by Bernie Livada and Chuck Schmidt. The safety by Schmidt drove in two runs.

Leetonia's Streak Ends

LEETONIA — Leetonia's victory string in track was ended at five straight when Youngstown South scored an 80-38 victory here Thursday afternoon.

The Youngstown team won 10 of 14 first place spots.

The firsts for Leetonia were turned in by Paul Conrad who ran the 180-yard low hurdles in 22.2; Joe Gallo with a shot put of 43 feet, 2 inches; Guy Falzetta 115 feet, 5 inches in the discus and Russ Lehman and Mike Burgess tied at 5 feet, 4 inches in the high jump.

Leetonia will take part in a triangular meet with Youngstown Woodrow Wilson and West Branch Monday at Leetonia.

11 Hancock Aspirants File Expense Reports

Eleven candidates in Hancock County's primary Tuesday have filed financial campaign statements at the Courthouse in New Cumberland in compliance with state law.

The state code lists May 2 as the deadline for filing the statements of receipts and disbursements, but also says the candidate must file before he takes office. More statements are expected later.

Statements received thus far are of John B. Camilli, $181; D. G. Stewart, $22.25; John W. Boyd, none; Theodore J. Zagula, $130.90; James Arehart, $71.95; J. Fred Allison, $20.50; W. Legal Questions Bring Dismissal Of License Case

Charges of soliciting for a home improvement firm without a license against two Pennsylvania salesmen were dismissed by Chester Mayor Ray Collins Thursday night.

The dismissal focused new attention on soliciting regulations in Chester where the city solicitor is currently awaiting information from the state attorney general's office in order to prepare a new ordinance.

There are apparently two ordinances governing soliciting in the city — an older one requiring a license to conduct house-to-house soliciting, and a more recent one in which such soliciting is not listed.

The charges against Joe Cooper of Pittsburgh and John R. Pancurak of Aliquippa, salesmen for the Mabro Co. of Pittsburgh, were dismissed because of the later ordinance. The two men did not appear, but were represented by an attorney.

Two salesmen were convicted last month under the older regulation.

Legal Questions Bring Dismissal Of License Case

The charges against Joe Cooper of Pittsburgh and John R. Pancurak of Aliquippa, salesmen for the Mabro Co. of Pittsburgh, were dismissed because of the later ordinance. The two men did not appear, but were represented by an attorney.

Two salesmen were convicted last month under the older regulation.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV Seen Afraid Of Space Age

Now that we've definitely entered the space age, I asked Ray Bradbury why television seems generally to avoid doing anything about it. Ray is probably the most successful science-fiction writer of this era, having written his first space yarn 30 years ago when he was 12.

Hal Humphrey

"It's a lack of imagination," Ray replies. "But, more important, I believe it's because the men running TV don't want space shows because they don't understand the subject, and they lose interest if they can't tell the writer how to do it."

-:-

ON SEVERAL occasions Ray has been called into TV's inner sanctums to discuss doing a TV show. As Ray begins outlining an idea, he says a kind of suspicious glint seems to come into the eye of the TV executive. Great interest is feigned, but the days go by after the interview and nothing happens.

When the TV program vice president is talking to a writer of a situation comedy or a private eye series, he himself is just as much an expert as the writer, or he thinks he is. The world of science and space, on the other hand, baffles him—but he doesn't want to admit it, even to himself.

LATER, Ray found out quite accidentally that another writer was paid an additional $7,000 to "doctor" it up, and it still never was put on the air.

On Friday, May 18, one of Ray's stories is being done on "Twilight Zone" (Channel 9, 10 p.m.), a science-fiction type series, incidentally, which has not been renewed for next season. Ray's is about a robot grandma who has the mechanical ability to furnish automatic love when she babysits.

Ray believes in making people think, so most of his stories, although perhaps "away out" in terms of setting, are designed to show man's foibles and how he might go about correcting them.

"I'M NOT SURE how this "Twilight Zone' will turn out," says Ray. "It was shot six months ago. Then just recently it was necessary to reshoot some of it, and they called me only the day before to do the rewriting.

"I was exhausted from working on a new novel and told producer Buck Houghton he'd have to get somebody else to do it."

Ray refuses to work regularly in TV because of the medium's hurry-up pace. He prefers the magazine field, where his name pulls $3,000 per story and he can take his sweet time working on it.

Earlier this year Ray did do an original for "Premiere." It dealt with an age in which machines had taken over to a point where they were administering justice in court.

HE BELIEVES good writers do themselves irreparable harm by working too consistently for TV.

"A writer can get away with poorer quality on TV, but that very fact makes it impossible for him to grow, if he stays with TV. I don't think a writer should write for 'Dr. Kildare' unless he has something in him that fits the series," says Ray.

Talk like this sends other writers (shall we say the more commercial type?) into a sputtering rage of indignation, but Ray's answer is that by doing what he loves, he makes more money than those writing for money.

Reminder Given On Late Reports Under 1961 Tax

Many East Liverpool residents have failed to file the final returns that were due April 15 under the 1961 income tax law, Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson said today, but he added that the non-compliance apparently was a result of a misunderstanding of the law rather than a deliberate attempt at evasion.

In fact, many of the tax-payers have a refund due on amounts they paid last year — but it cannot be issued unless they file a final return, Wilkinson said.

Many individuals filed the initial income estimates in 1961 and followed through with three quarterly payments, as the law requires, Wilkinson said. But after the tax was defeated at the November election, many apparently did not realize they were required to file final returns, he explained.

If the final return shows the individual overpaid on his original estimate — justified with actual income — he is entitled to a refund, Wilkinson said. The requirement for filing individual returns applies only to those whose income was not subject to withholding at the source, he added.

May 15 is the deadline for filing estimates under the new tax law. Wilkinson said some tax-payers may have been confused by the two deadlines a month apart—one under the 1961 tax and one applying to the 1962 tax.

Fire Destroys Barn On Hospital Grounds

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A fire, still burning at midnight Thursday, destroyed a barn on the Dayton State hospital farm in nearby Kettering. No one was in the structure when the blaze started and no one was reported injured.

The fire, the second to hit the hospital grounds in three weeks, was reported shortly before 11 p. m. Six new-born calves were in the building but were routed out.

On April 17, the hospital laundry was destroyed in a fire which is still being investigated.

DiSalle Road Plan Considered By U.S.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A proposal by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle that the federal government set up a rotary fund to be used to speed up interstate highway construction is being given some consideration by the Kennedy administration.

DiSalle proposed creating a rotary fund, possibly $100 million, for advances to Ohio and other states for purchasing right - of way. The plan, sent to the President March 26, provides for repayment to the fund at the time of construction from federal advances.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Can't Be Forced To Concentrate

Ever so many letters come to me about the child whose teacher reports him as being inattentive at school. It seems that the teacher usually implies that the parent should exhort or punish this child to make him more attentive at school. Sometimes, indeed, the teacher definitely advises such parental action. In the first place, the teacher should know how futile, even harmful, such advice may be. Unfortunately the average parent, even without prompting from the teacher, is inclined to order the child at home to be attentive at school and to scold or punish this child at home for any reported lack of concentration at school.

NO ONE, NOT even the teacher, can cause a child to pay strict attention and concentrate by telling him to do so. One might require him to be still and quiet, be in a certain place and in a physical position to attend.

Writes an Ohio mother:

"My daughter, 11, in the sixth grade, has just left for school, leaving a rather bad taste in both her father's and my mouth from a session last night over her refusal to pay strict attention in school, during study and recitation periods.

"Her teacher informs us that on calling her down for talking and mind-wandering, she frowns at her, and the next time she is called it happens all over again. She does the same at home."

THOUSANDS OF parents are unwisely doing what these conscientious parents are doing. They and the teachers may overrate this child's native learning ability.

Right they are, of course, in believing the child could earn better grades with better habits of attentiveness and concentration. But both are wrong in assuming that they can order this child to attend.

Of course the teacher might easily curb this child's talking at wrong times and require her to assume a physical position of attention.

But the main problem is to help her gain more success at learning what she is supposed to learn. While succeeding she grows more interested, she attends better, she concentrates more, she tries harder.

PARENTS CAN help this child grow more attentive at school by helping her at home to read, spell or cipher better.

As I wrote this mother:

"See that when you explain or tell her something you first have her attention and that when she is doing homework and jobs around the home, she works at them faithfully.

"Just tell this child you expect her to obey her teacher, and leave the rest to her and to the school.

Portsmouth's Police Chief Is Suspended

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — City Manager George Meholick has announced the suspension of Police Chief Robert M. Edwards.

The ruling came Thursday night after an eight-week investigation by Meholick of various accusations against the chief. The city manager would not disclose the length of the suspension or the actual charges until later today.

Edwards, chief of the 57-member force since 1957, has until May 9 to file a statement with the Civil Service Commission as to why he should or should not be suspended.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV Seen Afraid Of Space Age

Now that we've definitely entered the space age, I asked Ray Bradbury why television seems generally to avoid doing anything about it. Ray is probably the most successful science-fiction writer of this era, having written his first space yarn 30 years ago when he was 12.

Hal Humphrey

"It's a lack of imagination," Ray replies. "But, more important, I believe it's because the men running TV don't want space shows because they don't understand the subject, and they lose interest if they can't tell the writer how to do it."

-:-

ON SEVERAL occasions Ray has been called into TV's inner sanctums to discuss doing a TV show. As Ray begins outlining an idea, he says a kind of suspicious glint seems to come into the eye of the TV executive. Great interest is feigned, but the days go by after the interview and nothing happens.

When the TV program vice president is talking to a writer of a situation comedy or a private eye series, he himself is just as much an expert as the writer, or he thinks he is. The world of science and space, on the other hand, baffles him—but he doesn't want to admit it, even to himself.

Ray once was paid $10,000 for a script to be produced on the old Shirley Temple TV series. Apparently something in it scared the producer.

LATER, Ray found out quite accidentally that another writer was paid an additional $7,000 to "doctor" it up, and it still never was put on the air.

On Friday, May 18, one of Ray's stories is being done on "Twilight Zone" (Channel 9, 10 p.m.), a science-fiction type series, incidentally, which has not been renewed for next season. Ray's is about a robot grandma who has the mechanical ability to furnish automatic love when she babysits.

Ray believes in making people think, so most of his stories, although perhaps "away out" in terms of setting, are designed to show man's foibles and how he might go about correcting them.

Since TV never has been famous for stimulating thought, it is natural that Ray's stuff causes mystification and suspicion by TV's brass.

"I'M NOT SURE how this "Twilight Zone' will turn out," says Ray. "It was shot six months ago. Then just recently it was necessary to reshoot some of it, and they called me only the day before to do the rewriting.

"I was exhausted from working on a new novel and told producer Buck Houghton he'd have to get somebody else to do it."

Ray refuses to work regularly in TV because of the medium's hurry-up pace. He prefers the magazine field, where his name pulls $3,000 per story and he can take his sweet time working on it.

Earlier this year Ray did do an original for "Premiere." It dealt with an age in which machines had taken over to a point where they were administering justice in court.

HE BELIEVES good writers do themselves irreparable harm by working too consistently for TV.

"A writer can get away with poorer quality on TV, but that very fact makes it impossible for him to grow, if he stays with TV. I don't think a writer should write for 'Dr. Kildare' unless he has something in him that fits the series," says Ray.

Talk like this sends other writers (shall we say the more commercial type?) into a sputtering rage of indignation, but Ray's answer is that by doing what he loves, he makes more money than those writing for money.

Reminder Given On Late Reports Under 1961 Tax

Many East Liverpool residents have failed to file the final returns that were due April 15 under the 1961 income tax law, Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson said today, but he added that the non-compliance apparently was a result of a misunderstanding of the law rather than a deliberate attempt at evasion.

In fact, many of the tax-payers have a refund due on amounts they paid last year — but it cannot be issued unless they file a final return, Wilkinson said.

Many individuals filed the initial income estimates in 1961 and followed through with three quarterly payments, as the law requires, Wilkinson said. But after the tax was defeated at the November election, many apparently did not realize they were required to file final returns, he explained.

If the final return shows the individual overpaid on his original estimate — justified with actual income — he is entitled to a refund, Wilkinson said. The requirement for filing individual returns applies only to those whose income was not subject to withholding at the source, he added.

May 15 is the deadline for filing estimates under the new tax law. Wilkinson said some tax-payers may have been confused by the two deadlines a month apart—one under the 1961 tax and one applying to the 1962 tax.

Fire Destroys Barn On Hospital Grounds

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A fire, still burning at midnight Thursday, destroyed a barn on the Dayton State hospital farm in nearby Kettering. No one was in the structure when the blaze started and no one was reported injured.

The fire, the second to hit the hospital grounds in three weeks, was reported shortly before 11 p. m. Six new-born calves were in the building but were routed out.

On April 17, the hospital laundry was destroyed in a fire which is still being investigated.

DiSalle Road Plan Considered By U.S.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A proposal by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle that the federal government set up a rotary fund to be used to speed up interstate highway construction is being given some consideration by the Kennedy administration.

DiSalle proposed creating a rotary fund, possibly $100 million, for advances to Ohio and other states for purchasing right - of way. The plan, sent to the President March 26, provides for repayment to the fund at the time of construction from federal advances.

Dayton Student Seems Well Suited For Job

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Child Can't Be Forced To Concentrate

Ever so many letters come to me about the child whose teacher reports him as being inattentive at school. It seems that the teacher usually implies that the parent should exhort or punish this child to make him more attentive at school. Sometimes, indeed, the teacher definitely advises such parental action. In the first place, the teacher should know how futile, even harmful, such advice may be. Unfortunately the average parent, even without prompting from the teacher, is inclined to order the child at home to be attentive at school and to scold or punish this child at home for any reported lack of concentration at school.

NO ONE, NOT even the teacher, can cause a child to pay strict attention and concentrate by telling him to do so. One might require him to be still and quiet, be in a certain place and in a physical position to attend.

But even when a child seems to be attending raptly, his mind can be miles away. Paying attention is responding from within.

Writes an Ohio mother:

"My daughter, 11, in the sixth grade, has just left for school, leaving a rather bad taste in both her father's and my mouth from a session last night over her refusal to pay strict attention in school, during study and recitation periods.

"Her teacher informs us that on calling her down for talking and mind-wandering, she frowns at her, and the next time she is called it happens all over again. She does the same at home."

THOUSANDS OF parents are unwisely doing what these conscientious parents are doing. They and the teachers may overrate this child's native learning ability.

Right they are, of course, in believing the child could earn better grades with better habits of attentiveness and concentration. But both are wrong in assuming that they can order this child to attend.

Of course the teacher might easily curb this child's talking at wrong times and require her to assume a physical position of attention.

But the main problem is to help her gain more success at learning what she is supposed to learn. While succeeding she grows more interested, she attends better, she concentrates more, she tries harder.

PARENTS CAN help this child grow more attentive at school by helping her at home to read, spell or cipher better.

As I wrote this mother:

"See that when you explain or tell her something you first have her attention and that when she is doing homework and jobs around the home, she works at them faithfully.

"Just tell this child you expect her to obey her teacher, and leave the rest to her and to the school.

My bulletins, "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School" and "Home Helps — Reading, Spelling, Arithmetic and Handwriting," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Portsmouth's Police Chief Is Suspended

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — City Manager George Meholick has announced the suspension of Police Chief Robert M. Edwards.

The ruling came Thursday night after an eight-week investigation by Meholick of various accusations against the chief. The city manager would not disclose the length of the suspension or the actual charges until later today.

Edwards, chief of the 57-member force since 1957, has until May 9 to file a statement with the Civil Service Commission as to why he should or should not be suspended.

QUESTION: Where did circuses originate?

ANSWER: Circuses started in ancient Rome. The famous Circus Maximus, built in the 3rd century B.C., was the first real circus. There were daily shows of gladiators and chariot races, and performances were usually extremely bloody affairs. After Rome fell, wandering minstrels and jugglers kept the circus arts alive. They traveled across the Continent, stopping in little towns and at fairs, setting up a platform and performing for coins tossed by their enthusiastic audiences. The first modern circus was organized near London. Philip Astley, a successful adventurer, brought some of the former wandering performers together in 1768. His circus featured acrobats, clowns, trick horseback riders, ropewalkers, and actors. From that time on, circuses were pretty well established. The most famous man, perhaps in circus history was P. T. Barnum, one-half of the great Barnum and Bailey circus. Circus performers today usually have a long and great family tradition behind them. Certain famous families, such as the Wallendas, and the Alzanas, have been masters of their art for generations and probably will continue passing down the art for generations to come.

FOR YOU TO DO: Did you ever organize a neighborhood circus? Almost anyone has one act he can do well. Perhaps someone can do acrobatics, and another person can walk across a low clothesline. Paint your props brightly. One or two people can be clowns.

His circus featured acrobats, clowns, trick horseback riders, ropewalkers, and actors. From that time on, circuses were pretty well established. The most famous man, perhaps in circus history was P. T. Barnum, one-half of the great Barnum and Bailey circus. Circus performers today usually have a long and great family tradition behind them. Certain famous families, such as the Wallendas, and the Alzanas, have been masters of their art for generations and probably will continue passing down the art for generations to come.

FOR YOU TO DO: Did you ever organize a neighborhood circus? Almost anyone has one act he can do well. Perhaps someone can do acrobatics, and another person can walk across a low clothesline. Paint your props brightly. One or two people can be clowns.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Is there any hope or must I go on beating my brains out, talking to the wall and getting absolutely nowhere?

My husband is at least 40 pounds overweight. Herman has a heart condition, smokes two packs of cigarettes every day and gets in the car and drives a block to mail a letter. The doctor has warned him that he must take off some weight and cut way down on his smoking.

Herman says life isn't worth living if he can't enjoy himself. He keeps telling me he'd rather check out at 55 than celebrate 100 years of boredom.

Herman insists on two baked potatoes with his dinner. He puts three pads of butter on each potato, then slops sour cream over that. If I don't make a rich dessert every night he hollers his head off.

Two years ago his doctor gave him a special diet for him. I followed it to the letter. After three days he told me if I didn't lay off the rabbit food and start to cook decent meals he'd eat downtown.

Is there anything I can do about a man like this? — THE NAGGER.

Dear Nagger: There is nothing you can do for a man like that. But you can do something for yourself. Make sure Herman's insurance is paid up.

'Ann's' Problem

Dear Ann: My friends have nicknamed me Ann Landers because I seem to be able to solve their problems. Now I have one of my own that's a beaut.

Our 18-year-old son is carrying on with the maid in our home. Hilda is 28 and somewhat attractive in an overblown, country girl way. She is foreign born, which probably fascinates Ned. I became suspicious when Ned seemed unduly interested in whether or not Dad and I were going out for the evening, and what time we'd be back.

When I heard Ned pass up a hockey game to stay at home and do nothing, I concluded that the big attraction at home was Hilda.

My husband and I returned from the movie early and I caught a glimpse of Hilda running up the stairs. They had been together in the living room which was dimly lit.

We said nothing because frankly we didn't know WHAT to say — or if we should say anything. Please help.—UNHINGED.

Dear Unhinged: You can't remain silent in the light of what you know is going on.

The boy's father should have a man-to-man talk with Ned and explain the hazards of the game he's playing. There should be no preaching or threats — just a review of what can happen to a young guy who gets mixed up with an older woman of this type.

Root Of Divorce

Dear Ann: I was struck by the letter from the woman who complained because her friend seemed eager to "pull the rug out from under her" when she and her husband were having domestic troubles. I have a simple solution: Keep your trap shut.

I was married to a woman who had the same kind of loose lip. Whenever we had a trivial argument she'd report it to her mother, her sister, her best friend and sometimes she'd phone my brother and cut him in on it, too.

She constantly was collecting opinions, advice and, most of all, sympathy. She'd ask people to call me up and take her part over nothing at all. Some of them were stupid enough to do it. Finally the situation became intolerable. Everyone knew our family business inside and out.

It was my doctor who advised me to unwind from this woman —and I did.

Our marriage could have worked if my wife hadn't peddled information all over town. And I'll bet there are thousands of women like her — blaming the divorce on their friends.—OVERSET.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.
